SENATE, 52-26, O. K.'S HUGHES AS CHIEF JUSTICE

Radicals Lose 7 Hr. Fight on Him.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 13.—[Special.]—Charles Evans Hughes tonight was confirmed by the senate by a vote of 52 to 26 for chief justice of the supreme court of the United States. It is expected that Mr. Hughes will take his seat as chief justice on Feb. 24, when the Supreme court reconvenes.

Previously a motion to send the nomination back to the judiciary committee lost by a vote of 31 to 49.

Voting for confirmation were 38 Republicans and 14 Democrats, while in the negative were 11 Republicans and 15 Democrats.

Vote Against Confirmation.

The 11 Republicans voting against Mr. Hughes were Senators John J. Blaine and Robert M. La Follette [Wis.], William E. Borah [Idaho], S. W. Brookhart [Ia.], James Couzens [Mich.], L. J. Frazier and G. P. Nye [N. D.], Peter Norbeck and W. H. McMaster [S. D.], George W. Norris [Neb.], and Hiram Johnson [Cal.].

Senators Charles S. Deneen and Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.], James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], A. H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.], and Daniel Steck [Dem., Ia.] voted for confirmation of Mr. Hughes. Senator Arthur Robinson [Rep., Ind.] was paired for him.

The action was taken following more than seven hours of continuous debate during which all speakers with a single exception assailed President Hoover's selection as William Howard Taft's successor as chief justice. The one exception was Senator Joseph E. Ransdell [Dem., La.], who defended Mr. Hughes' decision while a justice of the Supreme court in the famous Shreveport case. The burden of Senator Ransdell's contention was that the city of Shreveport would have been wiped off the commercial map if it had not been for the Hughes decision, which sustained the power of the interstate commerce commission over intrastate railroad rates.

Draws Radicals' Fire.

Senator Glenn's address of yesterday remained the only extended defense of Mr. Hughes. It drew the fire today of the radicals, including Senator George W. Norris [Rep., Neb.], who asserted that the Illinois senator had been hired to defend trusts and monopolies in excusing Mr. Hughes' attitude as a lawyer in private practice and as a justice of the Supreme court.

Throughout the debate the radicals harped on the idea that Mr. Hughes, as a result of his connections with big business, and his known views on legal questions, would side with the present majority of the Supreme court, which it was asserted "places property rights above human rights."

The threat that senators voting for Mr. Hughes would be attacked in future campaigns was made by several of the radicals.

Calls Vote Cruel Majority.

"You have the votes here to blot me out, but the record we are making here will be read by liberty loving people after we have all passed away," said Senator Norris. "You can't, by your cruel majority, blot out the record. We will set a light burning that will be a beacon light for future generations and will make their path a little easier because we have made the fight."

Senator Norris said that the issues involved in the controversy over confirmation of Mr. Hughes "have more to do with the happiness and contentment of our people than any question we have had for many years." He "confessed himself "frightened" by the activities of the big corporations encroaching upon the rights of the people. He dwelt upon the decision in the recent Baltimore street railway case, in which, according to his interpretation, the Supreme court held that a corporation had a right to earn 8 per cent despite a state law in Maryland which brands as usury interest rates in excess of 6 per cent.

"It is no wonder the people will rise in anger," said Senator Norris, "when they realize that President Hoover wants to perpetuate that kind of a rule in the highest court of the land."

Others Who Assail Hughes.

MAYOR NAMES COMMITTEE TO MEET STRAWN

18,000 to Get Two Weeks' Wages.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Two developments yesterday brought a measure of hope to more than 43,000 public employés who have gone without their pay for several weeks. The first was an announcement by City Treasurer Peterson that by the use of cash collected by the city since Jan. 1 approximately 18,000 city corporate employés are to be paid their salaries for the first two weeks of January immediately, beginning today.

Within an hour after Mr. Peterson had spoken Mayor Thompson announced that he would coöperate with the plan of School Trustee Lewis E. Myers, which proposes negotiation with the Strawn citizens' committee. The mayor appointed three spokesmen. They are to meet a subcommittee of the Strawn committee.

Mayor Acts After Nine Days

The mayor's action came nine days after he was unanimously directed by the city council to coöperate with the citizens' committee and after the aldermen had threatened to discipline the city administration for its failure to open negotiations. The Strawn committee has insisted that if it finds money to meet the overdue public pay rolls the local governments must curb waste and agree to legislation that will prevent reckless spending the future. This coöperation already had been promised by the county and the Sanitary district.

Mayor Thompson selected Corporation Counsel Samuel Ettelson, City Controller George K. Schmidt, and Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the council finance committee, to represent the city hall in the Strawn conferences. They will confer with Silas H. Strawn, Robert F. Carr, and Ernest R. Graham of the citizens' committee, who have invited Mr. Myers to sit in. The group from the citizens' committee has considerable faith in Mr. Myers and he will probably be elected chairman.

Hope for Meeting Today.

Some of the citizens' committee have been waiting two days for action by the mayor and have made engagements for today which they are having trouble in deferring. If the joint meeting cannot be held today, it will take place tomorrow noon.

Regarding his purpose, Mr. Myers said last night:

"My chief concern is getting money for pay rolls. The public employés are entitled to their compensation. It is my view that that subject should be the first considered. If results in that line are accomplished, the other questions of large importance can follow quickly and easily. I hope that the first meeting does not start with conflict, and perhaps with resultant confusion."

Reservations Are Detected.

This is the first time that Mayor Thompson has consented, even by proxy, to confer with outsiders, and his action is looked upon with considerable hope by persons intimately acquainted with the complicated situation. In fairness to the mayor, it should be related that he consented with mental and official reservations.

Technically, he did not appoint a committee to confer with the citizens' group, nor in compliance with the suggestion of Mr. Myers. His letter of appointment says that he acted pursuant to the resolution adopted by the city council on Feb. 4, which was offered by Ald. Clark. This provided for a committee "to find buyers for tax anticipation warrants." But the mayor knows that his committee will first try out the Myers plan.

Treasurer Peterson's plan to give the city employés half a month's compensation was worked out within four hours after he returned yesterday from Mexico City, where he was the city's representative at the inauguration of President Rubio. The wages to be paid will total about $1,850,000. The remaining $4,075,000 owing these same employés will not be paid, because of the lack of money.

There is now in the corporate treasury from license fees $990,448. This will be used for pay rolls. In vehicle taxes from automobile owners there has been collected $2,621,614, from which will be borrowed enough to obtain the aggregate pay roll payment of $1,850,000.

Whatever advantage officials may have gained in deferring a real effort to get money for employés' salaries was eliminated by Treasurer Peterson's action, according to one capable politician. He predicted that the Pe-

Bank Shortage Is $173,000; Push Girl Hunt

The search for Miss Laverne D. Lindgren, 25 years old, pretty brunette cashier of the People's State bank of Maywood, received new impetus last night when a preliminary audit showed a shortage in the bank's funds of at least $173,000.

Miss Lindgren was reported to have fled the state and to be in a sanitarium in another city. At the same time, Elmer P. Langguth, 35 years old, president of the bank, who is charged with embezzling the funds together with Miss Lindgren, announced that he would shoulder all the blame for the shortage.

Her Rapid Rise Traced.

The young woman cashier was the bank president's protégé. A tosser of flapjacks in a restaurant window, later an office clerk and switchboard operator, the black haired, gray eyed girl was introduced to Langguth at a party three years ago. He obtained her a position as switchboard operator in the bank and she rose swiftly to the trusted position of cashier.

"Langguth and Miss Lindgren had apparently been associated in a friendly way in the bank for at least two years," said Assistant State's Attorney Edwin Markham last night.

Despite Langguth's announced desire to shield the girl cashier from prosecution, a second warrant against Miss Lindgren was obtained last night. This warrant, like the first, one charging embezzlement, was signed by O. O. Lane, a bank director, and accused Miss Lindgren of accepting money for deposit when she knew the bank was insolvent. Bonds on both charges were set at $10,000.

Deposit of $40,000 Missing.

The books of the bank were irregular, Prosecutor Markham said. The city of Bellwood deposited $40,000, according to evidence. There was no record of the deposit, the auditors found, and the entire $40,000 is apparently missing.

Maywood buzzed yesterday with rumors about Miss Lindgren's $40,000 home in Riverside, her expensive car, her furs and diamonds. She and Langguth were often seen together outside of banking hours, according to Prosecutor Markham.

Langguth is married and has two children. His wife has indicated her faith in him. Langguth was reported to be near a nervous breakdown.

Miss Lindgren's three story residence at 414 Nuttall road, Riverside, was deserted yesterday. This property is held in trust for her mother by a loop bank, inquiry revealed. Miss Lindgren's brother, Louis L. Lindgren, left for Texas several months ago and some of the investigators thought she may have joined him.

Walter P. Murphy, Chicago lawyer who is a director in the bank, appealed to the state's attorney and Pat Roche, chief investigator, was assigned to the case.

Vanishes as Bank Is Closed.

Miss Lindgren disappeared the day before State Auditor Nelson ordered the bank closed. The directors revealed that she had been confronted with discovery of the shortage. The young woman has not been seen since. Langguth admitted his guilt, was arraigned and released on $100,000 bonds provided by his father, W. F. Langguth, who is a bank director, and nine other relatives.

With the new revelation of the extent of the shortage directors who previously had asserted that all depositors would be paid in full, retraced their statements and withheld comment. At least a week will be required for a full audit, it was said.

At a conference in Police Chief John Wilhite's office this morning Frank Tyrrell, attorney for Miss Lindgren, blamed the state's attorney's office, the state auditors, and the directors of the bank for the situation. Langguth, he said, could not have approved faulty loans without the directors' sanction. The state auditors were negligent, Tyrrell said, in approving audits in past years during which he declared some of the defalcations were made. Prosecutor Markham denied the auditors had been negligent.

$50 Guarded by Unseen Ray; Try and Get It!

New York, Feb. 13.—(AP)—A fifty dollar bill guarded by an invisible ray was offered tonight to any person who can pick up the money without making the ray sound an alarm.

The ray was set up at a meeting of the New York Illuminating Engineering society in the Westinghouse Lighting institute by James L. McCoy, research engineer of the Westinghouse Lamp company.

The bill was put in a five foot safe with the door closed, but unlocked. Somewhere athwart the safe, probably across the door, an ultra violet ray was placed. It is harmless, it cannot be felt by human touch. It is invisible either in darkness or light. It "shines," so to speak, upon a photo-electric eye some distance away. Any one attempting to pick up the bill interrupts the ray, thereby casting an unseen "shadow" upon the mechanical eye. Thereupon the eye loudly rings a burglar alarm.

"With these rays," says McCoy, "it will be possible for jewelers, bankers and other custodians to add greatly to the security of their valuables. It can be made impossible for an intruder to move about without detection, as the rays can be placed at various angles in a room. They may operate a tear gas barrage, or set off a silent alarm. They can be projected far enough to protect the entire mouth of a harbor in wartime with a warning signal belt."

TRUST FUND FOR LINCOLN'S KIN IS NOW $2,468,103

New York, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Trust funds for the granddaughters of Abraham Lincoln established by his son, the late Robert Todd Lincoln, in 1917 and 1920 with an original value of about $400,000 are worth well over $2,000,000 now. This was disclosed today when the City Farmers Trust company filed an application in Supreme court as trustee for judicial sanction of its accounts in the two funds.

Robert Todd Lincoln created the funds in 1917 for Mary Lincoln Isham and Jessie Lincoln Randolph, his daughters, with an initial investment in securities of about $300,000. He added to this $125,000 more in stock in 1920.

Due to large dividends and accrued income the combined valuation of the two trusts is $2,468,103, of which Mrs. Isham has $1,079,997 and Mrs. Randolph $1,388,103.

Citizens Trap Burglars After Wrench Battle

Chicago citizens joined the city's unpaid police last night in dealing three stiff blows to banditry.

A tradesman shot one robber to death and wounded another. Police killed a Negro who sought to cover his flight from a taxicab stickup with gunfire. A posse of police, firemen and citizens rounded up a pair of burglars who broke into a dwelling. Both burglars were taken to the Bridewell hospital for treatment of injuries inflicted by their captors.

Climax Day of Drive.

The shootings came as the climax of the fifth day of the police drive to rid the city of gun toters and hoodlums. During the five days more than 3,000 suspects have been arrested, 572 being taken into custody during the twenty-four hours ending at midnight last night.

Of the 572 arrested yesterday seven were found to be carrying guns and are subject to indictment by the grand jury. Twenty-one gun carriers are already under indictment. As evidence of the thoroughness of the police drive, only twelve robberies were reported yesterday.

Store Owner Kills Bandit.

Charles E. Sutton, proprietor of a motorcycle sales agency at 711 West Jackson boulevard, shot one stickup man to death and wounded another last night when they attempted to rob his store. The dead bandit is believed from papers in his pocket to have been Manford Allen Blunt, a world war veteran of El Paso, Tex. The second bandit, although wounded, escaped down an alley.

The shooting occurred when Sutton and his clerk, Herman Riedel, were about to close the shop for the day. Earlier in the evening Sutton had sold a motorcycle for $250 cash while several men loitered in the store. He believes the bandits might have witnessed the transaction.

At 9:30 p. m. Sutton was sitting at his desk in the rear of the store, from where he could see the front door and the street, counting the day's receipts. Riedel, the clerk, was at the front.

Two Youths Enter Store.

Two young men entered. They aroused Sutton's suspicion and he slid his hand down onto the revolver in his side coat pocket. One of the men addressed Riedel.

"Have you got a good Henderson?" he inquired, meaning a Henderson motorcycle.

"We have," Riedel answered and led the way to one side and toward the rear of the store. He started showing them three machines. Suddenly both men drew revolvers. Sutton heard their "Stick 'em up." Then he jerked out the revolver upon which his hand was resting.

The robbers saw Sutton's gun come up. Apparently unwilling to shoot it out, both bolted for the door. Sutton fired and one of the bandits staggered. Sutton fired again and the second bandit fell to the floor, dead. The bandit hit by the first shot ran east on Jackson boulevard and disappeared down an alley.

Posse Traps Burglars.

A telephone call notifying her that her father had been injured in an explosion at the plant of the American Can company alarmed Miss Bertha Blazis, 22 years old, and sent her from her home at 5615 West 64th street to the residence of a neighbor before midnight. Her sister, Nellie, 22 years old, arrived home a few minutes later and together they set out

EX-DRY LEADER DENOUNCES DRY LAW AS FAILURE

Tells Congressmen He's Disillusioned.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 13.—[Special.]—A sober faced, clear spoken young ex-clergyman who, as an Anti-Saloon league official helped make America dry, today stood before the house judiciary committee and denounced prohibition as a blunder and his former associates as hypocrites.

The witness was the Rev. Norris G. Wood of Boston, now connected with the Congressional Districts Modification league. Although not so profound nor so fiery as that of some of the seven other witnesses, including three women, an ex-senator and a prison official, Wood's testimony stood out as the striking feature of the second day's hearing held by the committee on pending prohibition repeal and modification resolutions.

Thoroughly Disillusioned.

"Once I sincerely believed the 18th amendment ranked with the ten commandments," he stated simply. "I have been disillusioned. It has worse than failed. Prohibition is worse than the saloon."

Preceding Mr. Wood in the parade of wet spokesmen at today's session were ex-Senator William Cabell Bruce of Maryland, John W. Miner, Michigan state prison commissioner; T. W. Theraildsen, secretary of the Moderation League, Inc.; Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, former Republican national committeewoman from New York; Mrs. David Holmes Martin, Brooklyn, and Miss M. Louise Gross, New York.

The last three are leaders of women's wet organizations. All condemned prohibition in principle and pleaded for various forms of relief.

At the end of the session today the committee adjourned until next Wednesday, when the hearings will be resumed. During an executive session Chairman George S. Graham [Rep., Pa.] announced the committee decided to allow the interval for the mobilization of witnesses.

Drys in Favor of Limitation.

It had been thought that the hearings would run ahead without a break for several days this week, but it was learned that the drys who form a majority insisted upon a limitation. The postponement was agreed upon as a compromise. The tentative plan now is to give the proponents of the resolutions, the wets, next Wednesday and Thursday, then to hear the drys.

By unanimous consent of the house the hearing today was allowed to continue all day, and it did so at the expense of interest in proceedings on the floor. With only a handful of persons at the house session, fully a fourth of the members listened to the committee hearing. It was another red letter day for the wets. The big house caucus room was filled with an audience that laughed, applauded and enjoyed the spectacle.

Sabath Introduces Minister.

After four hours of testimony, mostly speechmaking, the crowd leaned forward expectantly as Mr. Wood took the floor late in the afternoon.

He was introduced by Representative Adolph J. Sabath [Dem. Ill.] as "a minister who changed his views on prohibition."

In modulated, well chosen words, Wood addressed the committee, explaining that he formerly was an exofficio director of the Rhode Island Anti-Saloon league, but that he now represents a modification organization which has gathered 60,000 members since last March. As a bone dry, he said, he had found himself "disillusioned when the 18th amendment not only failed to achieve what was expected of it, but caused intolerably worse conditions." Almost immediately the committee drys forced a cross-examination.

"Why," queried Representative E. C. Michener, [Rep. Mich.], "did you give up preaching and go into the Anti-Saloon league?"

"For the same reason a lot of other preachers have," was the reply. "They get more money in the league than in the churches."

"You left the league, too, because you could get more money, didn't you?"

"Not at all," Wood came back. "I left the Anti-Saloon league because it has abandoned its principles. Originally it was against the sale of liquor and for temperance. I still am. But the league went into the business of building a political machine. I became tired of its hypocrisy."

Representative William C. Hammer [Dem., N. C.] took up the questioning, asking the witness if, "as a former minister," he thought it should be made easier or more difficult to get liquor. The reply to this was: "I think it should be easier to get liquor and harder to get poison."

Sees No Economic Gain.

One after another, the dry committeemen tilted with the witness but failed to embarrass him. To the amusement of the crowd and the discomfiture of the interrogators, he appeared to have ready answers for all.

The discussion swung to the effects of prohibition upon the working masses, Mr. Wood offering the observation that in the mills of New England it has brought disaffection and bad conditions among the workers.

"Don't you see any benefits from prohibition economically?" asked Representative G. R. Stobbs [Rep., Mass.]. The witness replied that he could not.

"But how about the efficiency of the workers? Hasn't it improved?"

"In reply to that question I must say that without question a sober workman is more efficient than a drunk one. There's the trouble. There are more drunk ones now than before prohibition. Everybody in Massachusetts is drinking poison hooch."

The witness said he did not believe the dry members of congress really represent their so called dry constituents, most of them voting to the dictates of the dry organizations rather than the people. He cited as an example, West Virginia, with several dry representatives. His investigations have convinced him that the people of that state are demanding modification, he said.

Bruce Presents Alternatives.

Former Senator Bruce, for more than an hour, argued the social and legal aspects of prohibition, maintaining that congress has a choice of but two moves to make—screw up enforcement tighter and tighter or submit to some form of modification. Personally, he said he opposed the total repeal of the 18th amendment, advocating instead the plan in Representative Sabath's resolution to establish a federal dispensary system.

During the morning session the women held the floor, being introduced by Representative Mary T. Norton [Dem., N. J.], sponsor of an 18th amendment referendum resolution, which is among the measures under consideration of the committee. In a brief statement, Mrs. Norton explained her proposal contending that prohibition will continue to be a harassing political question until answered at the polls.

Mrs. Sabin, explaining that she represented the Woman's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, with a membership of 50,000 and "growing at the rate of 3,000 a week," reasoned with the committee from the feminine point of view.

Homes and Children Suffer.

Mrs. Martin and Miss Gross spoke in the same vein, the latter drawing applause when she said, "The average American woman can't understand why she should be labeled a criminal for putting a little brandy into a pudding or a teaspoonful of liquor into lemonade for a sick person."

Mr. Theralsen presented at length statistics showing that as indicated by state referenda wet sentiment is increasing. He also read figures showing mounting arrests for drunkenness and increase in deaths from alcoholism.

The testimony of Mr. Miner, Michigan prison commissioner, concerned the rapid growth of the prison population in his state since 1918.

Mr. Miner, at the beginning of his statement, undertook to deny the charges made by Walter W. Liggett, a witness yesterday, that the governor of Michigan and several Detroit officials attended a drinking party where nude girls entertained but he was stopped by Chairman Graham, who explained that the committee could not hear disputes regarding private characters and that those damaged had a remedy at law.

Joy to Appear Next Week.

Henry B. Joy, Detroit millionaire and one of the founders of the Packard Motor company, has been scheduled as a wireness at today's hearing. Upon being informed of the committee's decision to adjourn until next week, however, he postponed his trip. He wired that he will be present when the committee reconvenes.

As yet, the strongest anti-prohibition organization, the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, has had none of its witnesses heard. These, who include such men as Pierre du Pont, W. W. Atterbury and other well known business and professional men, are expected to be the principal spokesmen at the next hearing.

Although a number of representatives of dry organizations have been present, none of them have offered to testify. The Methodist board of temperance, prohibition, and public morals has announced it can see no reason for appearing. The Anti-Saloon league has not been heard from.

NURSE IS WOUNDED BY DRY AGENT WHEN BULLET IS DEFLECTED

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 13.—(AP)—Two raids on liquor manufacturing plants serving patrons in neighboring states and revelation of the accidental shooting of a nurse from the Veterans' hospital at Knoxville by two federal agents today turned the spotlight of news in Iowa on prohibition activity.

Glenn Brunson, administrator for Iowa, verified a report from Knoxville that Charles Hindley and Roy Moon, prohibition agents, fired the shot which wounded Miss Nellie Church, 25, a nurse, Saturday night.

Hindley and Moon's suspicions had been aroused, Brunson said, when the car in which Miss Church was riding bumped fenders with the agents' car, forcing it into the ditch. A shot fired into the ground by the agents was deflected into the rear window of the other car, wounding the nurse, he said. She was not badly hurt.

Miss Church said the dry agents paid her hospital bills and she is undecided whether to sue for damages. She at first told physicians she had been injured in an automobile accident.

The raids on liquor plants occurred at Council Bluffs and East Dubuque, Ill.

MRS. VIRKKULA TELLS HOW MATE DIED OF U. S. SHOT

Deaf, He Couldn't Hear Order to Stop Car.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Duluth, Minn., Feb. 13.—[Special.]—All the facts which the state of Minnesota considers essential were presented today to the jury which is trying Emmett J. White, U. S. customs patrol officer, for the murder of Gust Henry Virkkula, near International Falls on the night of June 8 last.

At the conclusion of the state's case Assistant U. S. Attorney George Heisey, who is defending White, moved for dismissal, making the plea that the evidence presented did not show any intent to kill on the part of White, and that this was all there was to the case. He argued that customs officers have the right to stop and search automobiles and to use whatever force is necessary to have their orders obeyed.

Judge William Cant denied this motion and will hear counsel later on this question of how far the rights of officers extend.

Secretary Mellon, in a letter to County Attorney David Hurlburt, who is prosecuting White, defined the right of the federal officers to use guns as operative only in self-defense, or in order to stop a felony about to be committed.

Prosecutor Ex-Congressman.

Oscar J. Larson, assistant prosecutor, took the lead in examining witnesses today. He is a former Republ-known as a strong dry. He is pros-known as a strong dry. He is pros-ecuting in this case because he thinks White used his gun with reckless disregard for life and because, as he told the jury, Virkkula "affronted the official dignity of the young customs officer."

The defense admitted at the outset that Virkkula had been killed by three bullets, fired by White, the bullets lodging in his neck and back, severing his spine and causing instant death.

At this point in the proceedings Mrs. Virkkula, the widow, who sat in the front row with her two little girls, groaned and gasped hysterically and was led from the room. She was called to the witness stand a few minutes later and was fairly composed. What hurts her now the deepest is that it was only her insistence that led her husband to start back home that night. He wanted to stay at International Falls.

Mrs. Virkkula, a thin, pale little woman in black, is 42 years old. Her husband was 38. They were married in 1912. He was born in Minnesota, she said, on the family homestead. On June 5 they left their home in Big Falls to go to a nearby lake for a vacation, spent two days in Duluth, and then decided to go home first and go to the lake the following Monday. They had their camping things in the car.

It was late in the evening, a dark, rainy evening, when they started home over a strange road. Her husband, she said, was hard of hearing, color blind, and usually wore glasses, but not on this night. The car was an old Packard which was hard to drive and made a lot of noise. Near Little Fork, where Virkkula stopped to light a cigaret and spoke his last word to her, she saw a man in the road with a sign which said "Stop."

"What's that?" she asked her husband, but he did not answer her. When they came up to the sign, she said, he did some shifting. They had been going slowly and she assumed he was going to stop.

Takes Husband in Her Arms.

"He couldn't do anything, so he got shot there," she testified.

"The shooting began as we passed the sign. Then we ran into the ditch and he fell behind me. I was leaning forward. I took him in my arms and felt blood."

As she held her husband two men came up and the man she identified as White said to her: "Don't cry, lady; I didn't mean to do that; I have a wife and children of my own."

She said there was no liquor in the car, only two pint bottles of milk for the children. "I thought he was going to stop, but he didn't," she said. "They didn't give us a chance."

Hugh Reidy, sheriff of Koochiching county, testified to going to the scene an hour or so after the shooting. The lowest bullet mark, he said, was 18 inches above the gas tank in the rear.

The Remington pump gun of the riot type, 12 gauge, carrying 5 shells, which had been used, was shown to the jury. The jurors were taken to see the car which had been bombarded by this riot gun. It had been placed in a garage here. The defense will open in the morning and the case is expected to go to the jury Saturday.

HUNT LIQUOR SELLER IN A TEST CASE TO HOLD BUYER GUILTY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 13.—(AP)—The wariness of the seller today blocked efforts of the government to test whether the buyer of liquor is guilty of violating the prohibition laws.

With a man in court whom they described as having been arrested after coming from a speakeasy with a half pint of gin in his pocket, detectives cast about in vain for a person who would admit selling it to him. Deciding that it required at least two persons to make a liquor transaction, they changed the charge of buying that had been placed against Joseph Patrick Carley to one of possessing liquor.

The case against Carley had been regarded by federal authorities as one which would determine whether they would be able to proceed under the present prohibition laws against buyers of liquor. Hitherto there has been no test which they look upon as furnishing a basis for future activities.

A bill has been introduced by Senator Morris Sheppard [Dem., Tex.] designed to make the buyer equally guilty with the seller, and Lowman had expressed belief that if the charges against Carley had been sustained the Sheppard measure would have been unnecessary.

FRENCH DEMAND MUTUAL NAVAL SECURITY TREATY

Maneuver Places Paris in Key Position.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 13.—France tonight finally exposed its demands at the five power naval conference.

Premier Tardieu announced that he was willing to abandon his government's naval requirements, which were laid down in the 1923 program, on one condition only. This condition was a mutual guarantee from the other powers.

The Paris delegation, holding the key position in the negotiations, has maneuvered itself into a dominating position.

724,479 Tons by 1936.

By 1936, the French memorandum says the French navy will comprise a total tonnage of 724,479 tons. This approximates the sea strength of Italy, who proposes 757,070 tons as her proportion, and swamps Italy, which suggests a figure in the neighborhood of 400,000 tons as her needs. The French strength would approximate the British and American strength in a ratio of 3-2, according to the latter's latest figures, which are estimated as under 1,200,000 tons. The French statement tonight says:

"We are ready to consider favorably any form of agreement for a mutual guarantee of security, the effect of which would be to transform the abolition of requirements of each power into effective requirements."

Afterwards Premier Tardieu explained more fully:

"We do not intend to pay for the Anglo-American arrangement with the price of our security. We are asking the United States and Great Britain to look at our figures with the same sympathy as we look at theirs."

The premier explained that the covenant of nations covenant paralyzes their own intentions.

"Neither do the Locarno nor Kellogg pacts afford naval protection," M. Briand said.

Five Salient Features.

The French pronouncement embodies five other salient features, besides enumerating figures and comparing the size of the navy, now and in the future, with pre-war statistics.

First, France demands that the idea of an unthinkable war between the United States and Great Britain should be enlarged to include France.

"France would be happy to declare the profound conviction that, between the people and those in the United States and Great Britain, any armed conflict is equally unthinkable," the statement reads.

In the second point the Paris government stresses the fact that France will not construct any naval material during the war, while the other powers augmented their fleets as fast as the shipyards could turn out new craft.

The third point in the pronouncement emphasizes the fact that the French navy is the only one that is inferior in size and budgetary cost now, compared with pre-war times.

In the fourth point, the French statement reiterates the French government view that naval disarmament must be taken into consideration coincidently with land and air reduction, which has been undertaken by the league of nations.

In the fifth point, this memorandum comes out boldly in regard to the German Ersatz Preussen pocket battleship, and calls the attention of the conference to consideration of that remarkable 10,000 ton ship, which carries 11 inch guns, and develops tremendous speed despite heavy armor.

Made No Replacements.

In pointing out that France has not replaced any of her obsolete battleships, the statement says:

"Concerning battleships, France has not availed herself of the right to build 70,000 tons in replacements. But now, in view of this new type of battleship, she is obliged to make use of part of that tonnage before 1936, and in case of a naval holiday she is willing to agree up to a total of 105,000 tons."

This means that the ministry of marine is preparing to construct a flotilla of six small battleships to offset the half dozen pocket battleships that Germany is entitled to maintain under the Versailles treaty.

ITALIANS FAVOR SLASHING NAVIES TO 100,000 TONS

LONDON, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Hope that Italy might make a statement of definite naval tonnage figure desires at the London conference faded today when it was said at the headquarters of the Italian delegation that Italy's position was so well known that such a statement at this time would be superfluous.

That position, in a few words, is that Italy is willing to reduce her tonnage even to 100,000 tons if the other continental naval powers bind themselves to that low figure.

U. S. AND FRANCE GIVE BRITISH FIRST FIGURES ON RELATIVE FLEETS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The naval conference today got down at last to the hard work of fitting figures into the blank table prepared by the committee of experts, and it is expected that in a few days the cards will be laid on the table. Thus, after nearly four weeks of preliminary discussion, the conference is just getting into full swing. The first steps in this direction were taken today when Secretary Stimson and French Premier Tardieu met Prime Minister MacDonald in the house of commons. It is reported that both brought along figures giving their ideas of the relative sizes of national fleets.

A number of questions concerning the conferences were asked of Mr. MacDonald tonight in the commons. One was whether he intended, at any stage of the conference, to invite Germany to participate, to which he replied that there was no present intention of extending the scope or size of the conference.

Stanley Baldwin, former prime minister, asked Mr. MacDonald whether he would state what the naval standards were on cruisers, and why the admiralty varied its demands from those which the former government maintained.

DREADNAUGHTS TOO BIG, CUT SIZE! JAPAN DEMANDS

Urges Building Truce on Capital Ships.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 13.—Japan's turn to draw cards in the international game of navy poker came today, and the Nipponese surprised nobody by standing pat. Their statement was chiefly a reiteration of Tokio's points on its program all along, with very little additional illumination regarding the extent to which Japan may be willing to make concessions.

The French idea of transfers between categories meets with the general approval of the Japanese delegation, although no information was vouchsafed as to whether the Japanese approve the application of transfer to all categories, what percentage they would set as the maximum tonnage permitted to be transferred from one category to another, or whether they are opposed to upward transfer, such as from six-inch to eight-inch gun cruisers.

Would Strike a Medium.

Their statement says only:

"A too strict application of either of the principles, global tonnage or division into categories, would be unsuitable for reaching an agreement among the powers concerned. The Japanese delegation is in favor of a formula which would harmonize the two extremes, allowing transfers in certain categories."

Japan's figures on its naval requirements until 1936, not included in the Tokio delegation's memorandum today and understood to have been at the behest of Prime Minister MacDonald, have been obtained by THE TRIBUNE.

Tonnage by Categories.

According to categories they are as follows:

Capital ships, 292,400 tons.

Aircraft carriers, 70,670 tons, following provisions of the Washington treaty.

Maximum in eight inch gun cruisers, 13 or 14 units, totalling 126,000 tons. Some of Japan's eight inch gun cruisers are only 7,100 tons.

Small cruisers and destroyers, 190,000 tons.

Submarines, 78,000 tons.

Total, 757,070 tons.

Would Equal U. S. Quota.

It is revealed that Japan's big cruiser demands approximate Great Britain's total, agreed on at the Washington conference at 15, and will equal the United States' quota if the American delegation adopts Mr. Stimson's tentative offer to reduce to 15 in order to secure parity with England, regardless of Great Britain's vast fleet of smaller cruisers.

THE TRIBUNE also understands that Japan will oppose transfers into the eight inch gun class of cruisers, but will have no objection to the downward transfer from the eight inch class.

Japan proposes a truce in capital ship building until 1936, her attitude all along. The Japanese add in this connection that they believe that the size of capital ships ought to be reduced from the 35,000 tons stipulated in the Washington treaty to 25,000 tons.

Stimson Agrees to Increase Japan's Ratio in Big Ships

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 13.—What concessions America and Great Britain may be willing to make Japan in limiting armament for the next five years was brought pointedly to the fore tonight by publication of the Japanese delegation's proposal. It is apparent that Japan will not sign a treaty unless some concession is made. Secretary Stimson already has indicated that he is ready to grant Nippon, in some categories of ships, more than the 60 per cent of American tonnage by the Washington conference in capital ship classes.

Mr. Stimson has not disclosed what these categories are, but presumably they are either cruisers or submarines, or both.

Asks for 2 More Cruisers.

Japan is particularly intent on getting the right to 70 per cent of America's big cruiser tonnage. If America is to have 180,000 tons of 10,000 ton eight inch gun caliber cruisers, as provided in the Anglo-American agreement, Japan wants 126,000 tons of these ships. It now has 78,000 tons of eight inch gun cruisers and is building four 10,000 tonners with eight inch guns.

It is inconceivable that the American delegation will agree to Japan having two more cruisers, but it is regarded as entirely possible that one will be conceded.

U. S. Senate May Decide.

This and other concessions to the Japanese probably will be determined largely by the attitude of the senate, which will be considerably influenced by the attitude of the Pacific coast senators. Opposition by the Pacific coast senators would increase tremendously the difficulties of getting the treaty ratified. Senators David A. Reed and Joseph T. Robinson are keeping in touch with senate sentiment for the purpose of advising the delegation the extent of the concessions it is safe to make.

It is expected the British will evince as much, if not more, opposition than the Americans to an increase in Japanese big cruiser strength. The British dominions in the Pacific are known to view with alarm Japan's plans for maintaining a big cruiser fleet.

Demands Submarine Parity.

The Japanese now have 78,000 tons of submarines, America 85,000, Great Britain 63,000, France 93,000, and Italy 37,000.

Of the American tonnage, however, 17,000 tons is obsolete and about to be scrapped, so the American total is in reality 68,000 tons, or 10,000 lower than Japan's. What Japan is demanding is essentially a parity with America in submarines. The American delegation would put a limit of 60,000 tons each on submarines for America and Great Britain and 40,000 tons for Japan.

FREED ON BAD CHECK CHARGE.

Paul McKinnon, 28 years old, 426 Surf street, who was arrested last week on charges of passing bad checks at several loop stores, was freed yesterday by Judge Herbert G. Immenhausen in the South State street court when it was shown that McKinnon had made restitution.

EVEN PACIFISTS ARE OPPOSED TO STIMSON'S PLAN

Protests Made Direct to President Hoover.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 13.—[Special.]—The first open pacifist attack on the Hoover naval reduction proposals, as made public in London by Chairman Henry L. Stimson of the American naval delegation, came today when the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom sent a letter of protest direct to the President.

This communication, forwarded to the President at his fishing camp at Long Key, Fla., bluntly informed Mr. Hoover that dispatches from London indicated his naval reduction policy had been grossly distorted. The President was urged to order the American delegation at the conference to adhere to the "announced Hoover reduction program."

Three Groups at Work.

As a result of the pacifist stand, the capital now is witnessing the strange spectacle of pacifist, little navy, and big navy advocates fighting side by side against the Hoover naval agreement proposals.

The Women's league called attention to the American proposals which call for 327,000 tons of cruisers as against 305,000 tons now built, building or authorized, and the construction of one big super-battleship of the Rodney type to give this country parity with Great Britain in capital ships.

It then pointed out that the President had stated in a recent address that "we shall reduce our naval strength in proportion to any other. Having said that it only remains for the others to say how low they will go."

Policy "Distorted."

"The contemplated construction of a super-battleship and the additional burden of new cruiser building would indicate that your reduction policy has been grossly distorted at London," the pacifist group wrote. "May we respectfully beg that you will enjoin your representatives at the conference to adhere to the announced Hoover reduction program."

HOOVER WILL HURRY HOME SATURDAY AND WATCH NAVAL PARLEY

Long Key, Fla., Feb. 13.—(AP)—President Hoover decided tonight to leave for Washington on Saturday night instead of remaining here until Monday night as he had planned.

It was thought here that the change in plans was made because the London naval conference has reached a point where he wishes to be in closer touch with developments than is possible here.

The announcement of the French demands today and indications of Italy's intentions, in the opinion of those close to the President, has brought the conference to a point where actual negotiations can begin.

The President's special car will be attached to a through train leaving here Saturday night and will arrive in Washington Monday morning in time for Mr. Hoover to reach his office at his usual early hour.

ATTORNEY JAILED; TRAEGER FACES THE SAME FATE

Contempt Battle Rages in Four Courts.

After jousting with varying success before four judges for his release on a writ of habeas corpus Attorney Samuel J. Andalman was finally locked in the county jail yesterday to begin serving 120 hours for contempt of court. He was sentenced on Tuesday by Superior Judge McKinley.

But so nimble and complicated were the maneuvers in his behalf that it appears that Mr. Andalman may have company in his confinement in the person of Sheriff John E. Traeger. This prospect comes through no fault of Sheriff Traeger, but through his misfortune in being placed between the crossfire of contradictory orders of Judge McKinley and Judge John J. Sullivan of the Criminal court.

The case involving Andalman began last Jan. 3 when Judge McKinley released Michael J. Healy, a disabled fireman, now living in Detroit, Mich., from the county jail, where he was being held for failure to meet alimony arrears of $1,710 to his former wife, Mrs. Violet Healy of Chicago. The release was secured on a writ of habeas corpus by Attorney Robert E. Cantwell Jr. In an effort to have Healy reconfined Attorney Andalman sought leave to file an intervening petition in behalf of Mrs. Healy.

Files Petition Despite Ruling.

Judge McKinley denied the leave to file the petition, holding that such a petition cannot be brought in a habeas corpus action after the release of the prisoner. Despite this dictum of the court Andalman filed his petition in the Superior court. When this move was made known to the judge, he cited Andalman for contempt of court Feb. 1. During the hearing the judge criticized the attorney for what he termed a humorous attitude to the contempt action.

The judge took the case under advisement and imposed sentence Tuesday. With a fine legal nicety, the judge ordered Andalman to serve 120 hours, since the Supreme court has held that any portion of a day constitutes a full day in a jail sentence and the attorney might have had to serve only four and a fraction days. But before Andalman could be placed in jail, Circuit Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski issued a writ of habeas corpus, releasing him on bond of $500.

Judge Changes His Mind.

Yesterday morning Judge Klarkowski decided that he had no jurisdiction to issue the writ and expunged it from his records, putting Andalman again in custody of the sheriff. Judge McKinley appointed Attorney Cantwell as a friend of the court in the action. Andalman replied by securing Ossian Cameron as his attorney.

Attorney Cameron petitioned Judge Harry Fisher in the Criminal court for a second writ. This was denied and Attorney Cameron later entered appearance for Andalman. The petition for the writ was taken before Acting Chief Justice John J. McGoorty, who reassigned it to Judge Sullivan. Judge Sullivan issued the writ, returnable Feb. 21 and released Andalman on bond of $500.

This order placed Sheriff Traeger in the middle. On one hand he had the order to commit the attorney and on the other the writ of habeas corpus, demanding immediate release. The sheriff marked time by holding Andalman in technical custody.

Judge McKinley took the next move by appointing two more friends of the court, Attorneys John J. Healy and Harold Sullivan. The lists were still further crowded when Attorney Joseph Graber for the sheriff, announced his entrance in the case and sought an interview with Judge McKinley.

After a short conference Graber advised the sheriff to obey the first order. The sheriff sought to have Judge Sullivan reconsider, but hung up the phone hurriedly, with the statement, "the die is cast. I better get some clean linen and have two mattresses ordered. I should find some one who will be ready to schedule bonds."

Attorney Graber explained that the weight of the law is with Judge Mo- and the sheriff ordered his assistant, Edward Nelson, to direct Andalman's confinement under the first order. It was pointed out that Sheriff Traeger owes his berth to Judge Sullivan, who is said to have persuaded him to run for office. One of the former's staff put the situation, "It's a war that may result in the discharge of a number of sponsored employés."

Sheriff's Case Up Today.

Judge McKinley refused to comment on the sheriff's action and directed all inquiries to "my attorney, Mr. Healy." Attorney Cameron declared that he will appear before Judge Sullivan this morning to demand contempt of court citations against the sheriff, Warden David Moneypenny, and Nelson.

RUSSIA PLANS TO CANCEL BRITISH GOLD MINE LEASE

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The fate of Lena Goldfields, Ltd., a large British enterprise in Russia, created in 1908, was hanging in the balance tonight, according to telegrams received here from Moscow, which said the soviet government had given notice of its intention to annul the company's concession the first week in April. Officials of the company here, however, denied having received an intimation of the move.

The relations between the company and the soviets became strained last year when the secret police raided the company's offices and carried off a number of documents. This was followed last month by what Herbert Guedella, chairman of the company's note holders here, characterized as "distinct indications of a disturbance of our labor, which would appear to be a part of a settled policy to make it impossible to carry on business."

At the same time Mr. Guedalla announced the sending of a telegram to Moscow asking whether the soviets wished the old relations to continue and whether it would order a cessation of the hostile tactics. No reply was received, but on Jan. 30 it was reported from Riga that a soviet court had sentenced Mr. Sampson, the representative of Lena Goldfields, to eight months at hard labor and imposed a fine of $62,500 on the company for alleged tardy payment of wages.

Attacker of Geneva Girl Gets Ten Years.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Arthur Smith, larceny, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell by Judge John P. McGoorty.

Raymond Wooten, assault to rape, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell; Thomas Gavin, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge John J. Sullivan.

William Black, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Walter Steffen.

Rudell Brown, concealing stolen property, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Pontiac reformatory; Joseph Novak, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Emil Fiore, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge William N. Gemmill.

Miss Blanche Hardiman, 40 years old, 6225 Kenwood avenue, a library employé at the University of Chicago, was criminally assaulted last night by a gunman who attacked her as she was crossing the Midway at Kenwood avenue on her way home.

Miss Hardiman, who is employed in the card department of the Harper Memorial library at the university, was confronted by her assailant at the foot of a flight of steps leading down to a board walk at 59th street and Kenwood avenue. The man stepped out of a shadow there and, thrusting a gun against her body, commanded her in a low voice to walk toward a group of shelter houses on the Midway skating rink, near by. The rink was deserted at the time, the warm weather having made the ice too soft for skating.

Threatens to Kill Her.

Threatening to kill her if she made any outcry, the man forced Miss Hardiman into one of the houses, where she pleaded with him not to kill her. She said she offered him $10 and her wrist watch to release her, but he refused to accept them.

After the attack the rapist walked south on Kenwood avenue and Miss Hardiman fled to a drug store owned by W. Raymond Adams at 1344 East 61st street, where she fainted. After she had been revived she told her story to the Woodlawn police and then was sent to the Hyde Park police station, the attack having occurred in the Hyde Park district. She described her assailant as a man about 25 years old, 5 feet 9 inches tall, and weighing about 145 pounds.

Miss Hardiman was hysterical after the attack and entered the Billings Memorial hospital for examination. She said she had been married once, but had been divorced about 14 years ago.

Rapist Gets 10 Years.

Earl Runnels, 25 years old, of Hinsdale, was found guilty of raping Miss Ethel Lindo, 20 year old Geneva High school graduate, by a jury in the Du Page county Circuit court at Wheaton last night and was sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment. The girl accused Runnels of attacking her in an automobile on a lonely road between Naperville and Geneva on Dec. 6.

The jury deliberated two hours, returning its guilty verdict despite the testimony of Dr. F. D. Fellows that an attack such as Miss Lindo described was impossible. Runnels contended that the girl accepted his attentions.

GIVEN LIFE

FOREST E. WEAVER.

Muskegon, Mich., Feb. 13.—(AP)—Forest E. Weaver, 28, who shot his sweetheart, Mrs. Gladys Echardt, 20, last Friday, chopped up her body and buried it in a shallow grave in the woods near here, was sentenced to life imprisonment today by Circuit Judge John Vanderwerp. Weaver pleaded guilty to murder Monday.

RACKETS IN GAIN WHILE YEAR OLD THREATS GO COLD

Hostetter Says Only Action Can Stop Them.

Racketeering in the labor and business field is off to a flying start this year and unless drastic action is taken by the law-enforcing authorities it will outshine the banner year of 1928, when some 84 active racket outfits were listed by the Employers' association of Chicago. A warning to this effect was contained in a report sent out yesterday to the members of the association by Gordon L. Hostetter, executive director.

Bigger and better bombs during the first 45 days of 1930 indicate a revival of the racket activities, Hostetter warns the members of his association in pointing out that in 1929 many of the rackets subsided at least temporarily. Since the first of the year 15 bombs, doing a damage in excess of $200,000 have been recorded in the city.

Give 2 Reasons for Decline.

Two reasons are ascribed by the association for the fact that 24 of the rackets reported as active in 1928 were not reported to the association in 1929. They are listed as follows:

1. The psychological effect of the election to office of a state's attorney on a platform committing him to a vigorous fight on racketeering.

2. The publicity given to individual rackets and rackets in general by the Employers association.

But the association indicates in the succeeding paragraph of the report that the "psychological effect" has worn off and that the racketeers are preparing for a return to the "old days" during the coming year. The report says:

"We are of the opinion that 1930 will see a revival of the racket activities. This opinion is based upon the events of the first forty-five days of the new year, during which there have been 14 bombs doing a total damage in excess of $200,000."

The year 1929 had 115 bombs, as against 116 in the previous year, says the report, and of this number 48.6 per cent of the explosives were directed against places of legitimate business for the purpose of extorting money or enforcing trade rules or for other reasons of a racket nature.

Cite Federal Prosecutions.

During 1929 the new state's attorney had six indictments returned, resulting in two convictions and one case now in progress toward the grand jury.

The prosecutions in the federal court of the kitchen cabinet racket, resulting in fines for four union officials as well as prosecution of 22 officials in the candy racket, helped to break up these combinations, it is reported. Six of the candy racketeers were given prison sentences.

The cleaning and dyeing field has been cleansed by adverse publicity and corrective outside influences, but the operating structure of the old racket gang exists, and the association hopes, the report says, that there will not be a reassertion of the power "when the public interest is directed away from its activities."

THREE OFFICERS SHOT AND BANDIT KILLED IN DETROIT GUN BATTLE

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 13.—[Special.]—Four machine gun bandits, apparently the same gang that looted the main office of the Western Union Telegraph company last week, engaged in a gun battle tonight with four watchmen of the American Still Alarm company and a policeman, and escaped in a stolen automobile with $300, leaving one of their number fatally wounded in the street and three officers shot. The bandit died a few minutes later in Receiving hospital and two officers succumbed to wounds soon after midnight.

Those dead are: The unknown bandit, about 28, and Jesse Catlin, 38, years old, who was wounded in the abdomen and back, and John Scott, 46, who was wounded in the chest and abdomen.

Patrolman Joseph H. Raals, 26, of the First precinct, was shot twice in the left groin.

'29 GAS TAX NOW AVAILABLE FOR ROAD BUILDING

The 1929 gasoline tax collections of $9,929,471 are now available for expenditure. This announcement was made yesterday by M. S. Winning, first assistant to Attorney Genreal Carlstrom. The last of the court suits against the 1929 gas tax law has been withdrawn, and Mr. Winning, who represented the state in the litigation, has formally notified Director of Finance Kinney that the fund is now free of any entanglements.

Two-thirds of the money goes to the state highway department and one-third to the counties. Mr. Kinney is now apportioning the counties' share in proportion to their 1929 automobile registration.

Cook county, according to reports from the capital, registered 40.8 per cent of the state's automobiles last year. This will entitle Cook county to $1,350,408 from the 1929 tax.

The state will begin letting contracts early next month. Gov. Emmerson has promised the Chicago metropolitan area $19,000,000 in highway improvements in 1930 and 1931.

An advisory committee of the Cook county board this noon is expected to approve a $21,000,000 three year road building program, including approximately $9,000,000 for improvement of through routes within Chicago and $2,000,000 for grade separations.

Policeman's Slayer Wins Stay on Eve of Execution

Aaron Woodward, colored slayer of Policeman Jeremiah O'Connell, was granted a stay of execution until March 7 yesterday by Judge Walter P. Steffen, when an insanity petition was filed in his behalf. The petition alleges that Woodward, who was to be electrocuted this morning, has become insane since he was sentenced more than one year ago. The insanity trial, compulsory under the law, will start on Feb. 26.

7 ORPHANS DIE IN SPANISH ASYLUM; SERUM BLAMED

GRANADA, Spain, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Seven children were dead tonight and twelve lay dangerously ill in the orphan asylum from the administering of the wrong serum or an overdose of the proper medicine by the authorities in an attempt to end an epidemic of scalp ringworm.

An investigation into the treatment used has been ordered. The director of the asylum said he had issued the serum in order to stamp out the epidemic.

Crowd Gathers to Watch Robbery; Routed by Shots

Spectators who gathered while three Negroes were robbing Max Patt in the drug store of his brother, Bernard, at 2858 Roosevelt road, last night, were scattered when the robbers fired several shots at the crowd. The crowd had collected as the bandits were taking $35 from the cash register, but fled as the Negroes emerged from the store shooting.

VILLAGE CLERK FEARED VICTIM IN 'TORCH' DEATH

Remains Found in Ruins of Burned House.

A vacant farmhouse near Broadview, a western suburb, burned to the ground late yesterday under strange circumstances and in the smoldering ruin was discovered a man's torso believed to be that of James Grant, 55 years old, a power in suburban politics and for the last twelve years Broadview village clerk.

The police at the beginning of the investigation were mystified concerning the origin of the fire. As they proceeded they found themselves confronted with more mystery at every turn.

The remains were believed those of Grant because Grant's automobile, with his overcoat in it, was found in a little shed near by. But before the police had long pushed their inquiry theories were advanced that the torso was not that of Grant but of some other man.

Suspect Suicide or Murder.

Some of the officials professed to believe that Grant—if he was the victim—committed suicide. Others appeared to think Grant had been murdered. Mrs. Grant, wife of the missing village clerk, grimly refused to believe the remains were his. She said she believed Grant had arranged matters so the body would be believed to be his and that he had fled to get away from his home.

Those who believed Grant killed himself thought that he had shot himself to death after setting fire to the old frame building and had then been burned beyond recognition. Chief Andrew Borg of the Broadview police force said he had talked with two boys who told him they heard several shots just before the fire was noticed.

But the trouble with this theory was that the police could not find any gun and they could find no motive for suicide.

Find No Political Clews.

Nor could any even remotely plausible motive for murder be discovered. Delving into Grant's political connections police learned only that he was of the same faction as William Evans, president of the village, who was bombed on the evening of Jan. 13, the same night that the home of Guy Guerine, village attorney of Melrose Park, was bombed. If Grant was murdered, Evans said, he didn't believe politics had anything to do with it.

The hint of a love affair was injected into the case when detectives learned that a divorcée had lived in the farmhouse until three months ago and that Grant was supposed to have visited her frequently. Mrs. Grant said she knew of this woman.

"Village gossip had linked my husband's name with this woman's," Mrs. Grant said. "I am not so sure but what the people were talking about was true. We had our quarrels and he threatened to go away. I told him he could go to that woman if he wanted to go."

Farmer Sights Fire.

Mrs. Grant said her husband left home at about 7:30 a. m., yesterday, and that he seemed in his usual spirits. Fred Westerveld, a farmer working in a field near the vacant farmhouse, said he saw a man come out of the door and walk away rapidly about 10 a. m. Not long after that, he said, he saw smoke and flames shooting from a window. He turned in an alarm.

Fire companies from Broadview, Maywood, and Melrose Park responded. They found they could get no water near the burning building and were powerless to stop the flames.

When the roof had caved in and the fire burned itself to a smoldering heap, firemen started to investigate. They found the torso, the head, arms and legs gone. It was noticed particularly that the remains lay on the side of the house that was last to be attacked by the flames. The police said that, contrary to some reports, no remnants of a still were found.

Letter received by V. S. Cooper, 42 South Clark street, Chicago:

Brisbane is one of the leading seaports of Australia and is the capital of Queensland. It is located 25 miles up the Brisbane river. Ocean going steamers land at its wharves. The city has fine public buildings, a technical college, school of art, botanical garden and flourishing factories. It is connected with the general Australian railway system and does a large export business in hides, wool, and cotton. It has a population of 125,000.

SENATE, 52 TO 26, O. K.'S HUGHES AS CHIEF JUSTICE

Radicals Lose a 7 Hour Battle Against Him.

came late in the day from Senator Walsh, who on Monday voted as a member of the judiciary committee in favor of Mr. Hughes' confirmation. Senator Walsh said that he had become convinced that he had not given proper consideration to many questions which have been emphasized during the debate. He criticized Mr. Hughes' conduct of the aircraft investigation during the world war and was especially severe for his silence of the scandals of the Harding administration while sitting as a member of the cabinet.

Hughes Voices Appreciation.

New York, Feb. 13.—[Special.]—On being informed of the confirmation of his nomination as chief justice, Mr. Hughes said this evening.

"My appreciation of the honor of the appointment is outweighed by a deep sense of responsibility. The ideals and principles relating to public service with which I entered public life twenty-five years ago, and which I have tried to exemplify in public office, I hold unaltered. In facing this new and important task I am heartened by the generous expressions I have received from all our parts of our land. I wish to express my most grateful acknowledgment.

"I expect to qualify and take my seat at the opening of the next session of the court."

LOBBY QUIZ AND HUGHES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 13.—[Special.]—In the midst of the senate coalition battle that preceded the confirmation of Charles Evans Hughes as chief justice of the United States today evidence bearing on the Hughes controversy was unearthed and made public by the lobby investigating committee.

A penciled memorandum discovered in the files of W. G. Waldo, secretary of the Tennessee River Improvement association, an avowed lobby in behalf of the bid of the American Cyanamid company, for a lease on the Muscle Shoals Power project, disclosed that Mr. Hughes is the author of the contract embodied in pending legislation which would accept the Cyanamid company's bid.

Penciled Memorandum.

The memorandum, which Waldo readily admitted was in his handwriting, noted a telephone conversation between C. A. Dyer, a legislative representative of the National Grange and other farm organizations, and J. O. Hammond of New York, a vice president of the Cyanamid company. "J. O. H. says," the memorandum read, "'have contract drawn by one of very best constitutional lawyers in the country—Charles Evans Hughes. Believe it to be thoroughly sound constitutionally and not subject to cancellation on grounds of confiscation. If the farm organizations wish us to adopt any change regarding priority in delivery of fertilizers to fertilizer manufacturers or others, we would be glad to adopt it.'"

The Cyanamid company's bid has been assailed because of the fear that a clause empowering farmers' boards to control the disposition of fertilizer might be construed as confiscatory and Dyer's interest, Waldo insisted, was to secure an amendment to protect the contract by entitling fertilizer manufacturers to priority.

Didn't Get Any Money.

"Dyer seems to have been interested in protecting the Cyanamid company from confiscation rather than the farmers," declared Senator Hugo Black [Dem., Ala.], adding, "Was he getting any money from them?"

"Certainly not," answered Waldo, "I don't think he even knew them."

Waldo declared he did not know and never had heard that Mr. Hughes received a $65,000 fee for his services in drafting the contract which was included in the Muscle Shoals bill already sponsored by the late Representative Martin B. Madden, and since the latter's death by Representative W. C. Wright [Dem., Ga.].

GERMANY CUTS NEW "MIRACLE SHIP" FROM BUDGET TO ECONOMIZE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 13.—The German government, which intended to prepare the way in 1930 for a new "miracle ship" similar to its pocket battleship, Ersatz Preussen, cut out the first down payment on the new vessel, which figured in the budget submitted to the cabinet this noon.

Finance Minister Paul Moldenhauer, struggling to find a means to balance the budget which is continuously being thrown out of balance by huge payments for jobless, found it necessary to cut out the funds reserved for the ship.

Military circles are indignant over the measure because they hold that the German navy should be given at least the number of ships its former enemies allowed it in the Versailles treaty.

STANTON ASSAILS SAVAGE AS TOOL OF UTILITY MEN

Dr. Johhn E. Stanton, Republican candidate for the nomination for county treasurer, last night hurled a series of questions at Howard P. Savage, former American Legion commander, over the radio. Mr. Savage is seeking the treasurership as a service men's candidate.

In a facsimile letter sent through the mails to announce his own candidacy Stanton charged in effect that Savage, an employé of an Insull company, is the candidate of the utility interests, the purpose of placing the former Legion commander in office being, according to his critic, to use the power and influence of the treasurer "to coerce executive and legislative agencies into giving and granting concessions and privileges to those interests."

The copy of Stanton's questions sent to the press included the following:

"Were you instrumental in having your own campaign manager [Philip Collins] appointed by the Illinois commerce commission, the body which controls the rates and charges which your employers may charge the public?

"Did you go to Springfield for this purpose, and, if so, were your expenses paid by yourself or by your employers?"

Stanton is a physician with offices at 17 South Crawford avenue. His residence is at 109 North Lamon avenue.

GUERNSEY TELLS PLAN TO SOLVE BRIDGE NUISANCE

Would Restrict Opening of Spans for Tugs.

Ald. Guy Guernsey [6th], chairman of the council committee on harbors, wharves and bridges which is now formulating plans designed to reduce the open bridge nuisance, yesterday announced the three plank platform which he will ask the committee to approve at its next meeting.

In the interests of both consequential shipping and street traffic, Chairman Guernsey believes that the aldermen should adopt the following stand:

1. That important interstate shipping—steamers carrying cargoes of grain, coal, and important products—should not be interfered with and should be permitted prompt passage through the bridges at the proper times. [Ald Guernsey would define "important shipping" as steam or oil burning vessels larger than tugs and carrying legitimate cargoes.]

Would Restrict Construction Craft.

2. Construction craft, such as pile drivers, sandsuckers, dredges and similar vessels, should be restricted so that the majority of their movements are conducted in and out of the port during the night hours. This is put forth in consideration of the fact that the movements of such materials has been planned many hours in advance and the shippers have full control over the time involved.

3. The movements of lone tugs, proceeding without tow, should be closely restricted, except in cases of extreme emergency, and the bridges not open for them unless this emergency is apparent.

Ald. Guernsey said he believed that this platform would be fair both to the shipping interests and to the pedestrians, on foot and in conveyances, who cross the bridges daily and are delayed by needless openings.

Urges Preparation for Waterway.

Free passage for real cargo steamers is urged in view of the impending growth of important water transportation as a result of the completion of the lakes to the gulf waterway. Ald. Guernsey is of the belief, however, that the ultimate solution of this problem lies in fixed river bridges and the providing of another lane for the waterway shipping at some point opening upon the harbor and warehouse district.

Protests against the almost unrestricted movements of solitary tugs have been received by the bridge committee from many sources. The existing bridge ordinance provides that there shall be 16 feet of clearance beneath the bridges and when this ruling went into effect, tug owners remodeled their craft to comply with it.

COOLIDGE SAYS HOOVER BEATS HIM FISHING

New Orleans, La., Feb. 13.—(AP)—Former President Calvin Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge reached New Orleans tonight from Florida for a day's visit before going to the Pacific coast.

Hundreds swarmed the railroad station and shouted greetings as the Coolidges emerged.

Mr. Coolidge said he would concede taking honors to President Hoover.

"Mr. Hoover has had forty years more experience at fishing than I have," he said. "I have never been deep sea fishing. I prefer creek trout."

BURGLAR ROBS BAKER'S HOME.

When Mrs. Joseph Horvitz returned to her home above her husband's bakery at 1801 South Karlov avenue last evening after a shopping trip, she found that a burglar had taken a diamond stickpin and three coats, valued collectively at $550.

MRS. BRUCE STRONG.

FOG DELAYS AUTO MAN ON FLIGHT TO STRICKEN WIFE

The airplane flight of Bruce Willis Strong and Dr. Carl Y. Shipley, both of Chicago, to the bedside of Mrs. Strong, who is critically ill of pneumonia at Key West, Fla., was interrupted last night by fog at Titusville, Fla. They continued the journey by train to Miami, where they were to take another plane early this morning for the final hop to Key West.

At Mrs. Strong's bedside it was reported that there had been no change in her condition. She contracted bronchitis while attending the New York automobile show last month, and after her return to Chicago started for Cuba with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin M. Miller, 1500 Lake Shore drive. She became seriously ill on the way and was taken from the ship at Key West.

Mr. Strong, who is president of the Oak Park Buick Sales company and the son of E. T. Strong, vice president of the General Motors corporation, was notified of his wife's condition on Wednesday night. Because of poor visibility he could not obtain a plane here, he and Dr. Shipley going by rail to Nashville. From there they motored to Sky Harbor, Tenn., where they took off in a plane at 9:28 a. m. yesterday.

2 BANDITS SLAIN IN CRIME DRIVE; TRAP BURGLARS

Store Owner Kills One, Wounds Another.

Meanwhile neighbors, who were aware of the sisters' departure, saw lights and moving figures in the Blasi home. A posse gathered and firemen were summoned from a nearby station.

At the rear door stood John Wojcik, 5617 West 64th place, who had sounded the alarm. He was armed with a monkey wrench. Hearing the hum of conversation outside, the burglars took fright and leaped out a second story window to the back yard, where one of them was felled by Wojcik's wrench. He was identified as Kenneth Prevo, 25 years old, 6234 South Kenneth avenue.

His accomplice fled down an alley and into the arms of Policeman Patrick Ryan, who knocked him out with a blow on the chin. When revived he identified himself as Delbert C. Prevo, brother of Kenenth and a suspect in the mysterious murder of Mrs. Mabel Wood, who was found slain in a bathtub at the Middleton hotel, 1447 East 65th street, three years ago. After he and his brother had been treated at the Bridewell hospital they were locked up there.

Police Kill Taxi Bandit.

Police Sergt. Charles Reynolds, thrice winner of THE TRIBUNE award for heroic police work, and his squad, trapped the Negro bandit and killed him. Cruising south in Wabash avenue, the squadmen observed the Negro riding in the cab driven by George Goddard, 6243 Kenwood avenue, and decided he might be the same gunman, who had held up eight cab drivers around the midnight hour in the last week.

The squad car swung behind the cab and trailed it to 45th street. Sergt. Reynolds and two of his men, Detectives John McNamara and Orin Ross, alighted from the police car, quietly approached the cab, and found the driver cringing over his wheel with the muzzle of a pistol pressing the back of his neck.

He had just handed the robber $8 and won the return of $1.50 on his plea that he had just returned to his job after two weeks in a sickbed. Sergt. Reynolds opened the tonneau door. At his shout of "police officers," the Negro leaped out the opposite door, ran north and swerved when he had gained a few paces, to fire three shots, none of which found their mark. In the squad's answering fire he fell dead with bullets in his skull and back. He was taken, unidentified, to the county morgue.

Another bit of gun play during the day resulted in the arrest of John [Sklany] Flynn, 7800 South Peoria street, business agent of the teamsters' union, and a man giving the name of Arthur Strook, 1224 West North avenue. The pair participated in a shooting in a drug store at 7358 South Halsted street in which a wounded man escaped. The police asserted last night the prisoners were too intoxicated to be questioned.

Seize Slaying Suspect.

Flynn and Strook, who is believed to be Albert Strook, indicted in 1928 for the murder of Earl Webb, a Federal league baseball player, trailed the man who was wounded into the store and the three began to argue about a woman. Suddenly all drew revolvers and began to shoot. The unidentified man was hit in the head, but fled from the store. Sergt. Thomas Gorman and his squad arrived in time to arrest Flynn and Strook.

John Neville, 38 years old, a union business agent, who has been sought since the fatal shooting of William J. Healy on Feb. 5 at 38th street and Lowe avenue, was arrested by Lieut. Edward Birmingham while sitting in an automobile in the 3500 block on Jackson boulevard. George (Monk) Campion and Jerry Cotter, two of the three men whom Healy named as his companions before his death and who are being held on murder charges, told the police that Neville was the fourth member of the party and that he fled down on alley after the shooting.

Return 18 Indictments.

State's Attorney Swanson obtained quick action yesterday against the gunmen arrested since Police Commissioner Russell ordered a general round-up of the class commonly called suspects. Indictments charging 18 men with carrying concealed weapons were returned before Acting Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court, with bonds of $10,000 for each defendant, and they were ordered to an arraignment today.

Judge McGoorty said he would assign an equal number of cases to all the judges so speedy trials could be given. Lawyers and bondsmen appearing before him were informed that mortgaged property was not acceptable for a gunman's bail.

Indict Barker and O'Donnell.

Indictments were also voted by the grand jury against George Barker, ex-convict, accused murderer, and boss of the coal teamsters' union; "Three Fingered" Jack White, ex-convict, safeblower, and boss of a union subsidiary to Barker's, and Bernard O'Donnell, one of the O'Donnell brothers of the far fest side, whose exploits in beer and shootings are well known.

They were arrested in a "hideout" with five others Wednesday afternoon by Sergt. Thomas Hamilton of Deputy Commissioner Ira McDowell's office.

The demonstration by Police Commissioner Russell that the police can clear the streets of gangsters and gunmen, together with the study under way by the Association of Commerce "secret six" committee, appeared to be leading up to the question of whether Chicago's police force is to be used for prohibition purposes or for suppression of crime.

Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the business men's organization, brought up this question. He said:

"I know that New York's police department—which costs $60,000,000 a year, as compared with the $16,000,000 with which we have to run ours—is not charged with the duty of enforcing prohibition. I presume our committee will discuss the desirability of recommending that Commissioner Russell instruct his men to let prohibition enforcement alone and devote their entire time to fighting crime.

"Of course, I can't say what the committee will do. Its report will be made Feb. 21.

ALBION STUDENTS TEAR DOWN JAIL TO FREE 12 PALS

Albion, Mich., Feb. 13.—[Special.]—Three hundred rioting students at Albion college tonight tore down the city jail to release 12 of their number that had been placed in cells following a celebration of a basketball victory over Alma college.

Jackson and Hillsdale were asked to send state police to quell the disturbance. Tear gas bombs were used by police trying to drive back the students after they had raided the jail and were attempting to release 100 other students held by police in the Bohn theater.

When the state police arrived the students in the theater were released.

Aroma and Rich Flavor say "Quality"!

(More Cups to the Pound, too!)

"Quality" is a word that's often used—and misused. But nothing else quite describes the mellow goodness of SAVOY COFFEE.

It's a mighty cheering drink. The aroma promises real pleasure. And the rich, full-bodied flavor makes good.

The proud SAVOY Label stands for the finest coffees blended in a way that only the famed SAVOY experts know.

The quality is high. The price is low—especially low, when you consider the real enjoyment that's in every cupful.

LIMIT DAMAGES GIVEN TO DANCER WHO SUED EARLE

Jury Awards $17,000 in Heart Balm Case.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 13.—[Special.]—A jury of seven women and five men today awarded Dolores Salazar, Mexican dancing girl a judgment of $17,000 against Ferdinand Pinney Earle, much married painter, in a verdict terminating a ten day trial before Judge Harry Archibald. Had the law allowed, jurors said, they would have granted the girl $25,000.

An agreement between lawyers before the case went to the jury restricted the amount in litigation to $15,000, the sum which Miss Salazar and others testified Earle had promised to settle on her in a prenuptial contract, and $2,000 for the girl's expenses from the time she suddenly left Earle's Paris hotel, where the two had been living together after a trip as man and wife through Mexico and Cuba.

Attorneys tonight announced their intention to sue Earle for damages on two additional counts, betrayal and breach of promise, if legal service satisfactory to American courts can be obtained on him. Earle is in Paris, where he is living with his fifth wife, Denise Loncin Earle, a young Frenchwoman and their child.

Miss Salazar testified during the current trial that Earle went through a marriage ceremony with her in Mexico City. Earle later told her it was not a true marriage and the man in vestments who presided was "Nothing but a crazy Indian," Miss Salazar testified.

Women jurors crowded about the girl and her mother and shook their hands after the verdict today. Some of the jurors wept.

SEVERINGHAUS CONCERN NAMED IN BANKRUPTCY

The Severinghaus-Kuehl Printing company, which several years ago sued William Hale Thompson to collect a $178,457 bill for printing campaign literature, was named in involuntary bankruptcy proceedings filed in United States District court yesterday. Milton Severinghaus, a nephew of Albert H. Severinghaus, former vice president of the school board, is president of the company.

During Thompson's former régime the Severinghaus concern prospered. Last December, however, the company was placed in receivership on petition of the Central Trust company, and Fred Hummel was appointed receiver by the state court.

The petition filed yesterday alleges that the concern has liabilities of more than $80,000. The proceedings were filed by the Laramie State bank, which has a claim of $5,280 against the company.

MAN HIT BY STREET CAR DIES.

DANDRUFF

A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid Arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid Arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy never fails.

You can keep your skin lovely just as 511 Hollywood Actresses do

98% of the lovely complexions you see on the screen are cared for with Lux Toilet Soap

NO SINGLE BEAUTY touches hearts as a petal-smooth skin does. People are subtly drawn to the girl who has it . . . cluster about her admiringly.

Nobody knows this better than do the girls who have won the hearts of millions . . . on the screen. For Hollywood directors found out long ago that unless a girl has the smoothest of skin for the all important close-up, she can never hold her public.

As Raoul Walsh, famous Fox director, puts it: "Smooth, beautiful skin is the most potent charm a girl can have . . . and an absolute essential for stardom on the screen."

And you can keep your skin just as lovely as the screen stars do! Of the 521 important actresses in Hollywood, including all stars, 511 use Lux Toilet Soap.

First, five or six of them began to use it . . . found out how perfectly smooth and soft it keeps the skin . . . and it wasn't long before 9 out of 10 famous stars were using this delightfully fragrant white soap.

Not only in their own luxurious bathrooms do they use it, but on location. For at the actresses' request all the great film studios have made it the official soap in their dressing rooms.

The loveliest Broadway stage stars, too, are enthusiastic about the way Lux Toilet Soap cares for their skin . . . and oh, so grateful to it since so many of them have successfully passed the screen test for talking pictures

It has swept across the world from Hollywood to Europe

And the European stars are now using it! In France . . . in England . . . in Germany.

Are you one of the millions of women already devoted to this dainty soap? You'll be delighted with the way it cares for your skin. Order several cakes . . . today.

MAYOR APPOINTS LOAN SPOKESMEN TO MEET STRAWN

Two Weeks' Pay Found for City Employes.

terson action will make unpaid employés bitter against officials deemed responsible for holding up wages.

Roughly figured by the treasurer's office, the half month's pay will be distributed as follows:

Employés.	Number.	Compensation.
Policemen	6,715	$ 697,718
Firemen	2,689	299,108
Other workers	8,596	852,179
Totals	18,000	$1,849,005

That is a little more than a third of the public employés in Chicago at this season of the year, excluding state and federal government workers. There are 25,800 school and county employés who will not get any pay, and there are 8,600 other employés in public service who have been paid regularly during the financial crisis.

$11,900,000 Still Owing.

After the Peterson payments have been made the local governments will still owe $11,900,000 in unpaid salaries, which are distributed according to the following tabulation:

Employés.	Number.	Unpaid salaries.
City police	6,715	$ 1,305,126
City firemen	2,689	598,216
M. T. sanitarium	960	192,000
Other city workers	8,596	2,082,358
Regular teachers	13,220	3,465,605
Substitute teachers	1,600	160,000
Night school teachers	1,200	180,000
School secretaries	375	54,000
School engineers	2,782	820,000
Other school workers	1,037	234,608
County nurses	800	1,221,000
Other county workers	3,862	1,508,350
Totals	43,836	$11,911,563

The county has not paid for its nursing service since last March. Other county workers haven't seen a salary check since last Dec. 15. School teachers were last paid on Dec. 24 and the previous pay for city corporate employés was the last of December.

The 8,600 lucky public employés, who have been getting their compensation regularly every two weeks, are either working for other local governments, or are paid from funds with cash available.

Politicians predict that paying some employés and not others is certain to put more earnest effort in the negotiations to obtain cash for the unfortunates. It is common gossip that Mayor Thompson desires that four impressions shall be given the public.

What the Mayor Wants.

He wants to public to believe that he has not and will not surrender to the Strawn committee, will not permit dictation by outsiders, and that he is responsible for getting the employés their pay.

In addition, the mayor desires the public to believe that there has been no waste or extravagance in city expenditures. Just how to convince the public that these claims are true is the problem of his subordinates, which some of them have undertaken to solve.

Heller Declines to Buy.

Thus far the city administration has failed to sell any tax anticipation warrants. Herbert C. Heller, head of a New York investment house, came to Chicago from Kansas City yesterday. He conferred with City controller Schmidt, Corporation Counsel Ettelson, Mr. Strawn and several other persons. Then he said:

"You cannot expect one to buy of a corporation when the directors and stockholders are quarreling. It is of major importance that a local accord be reached. Chicago is a rich city and when every one is satisfied with the situation, there will be purchasers for your tax warrants."

H. Wallace Caldwell, president of the board of education, who has been in New York more than a week trying to sell $48,000,000 of educational fund warrants, reported "more progress" again yesterday, but the city administration is so doubtful of his success that he was wired to be home by tomorrow.

County Employés Ask Credit.

Charles F. Drake, secretary of the John R. Thompson company, said yesterday that a number of county employés have applied for credit at the company's lunch room. It will be granted if the county officials will cooperate, he said.

The Janitors' union sent a resolution to Gov. Emmerson yesterday asking for a special session of the legislature to grant relief to local governments.

The county board received a bid of $453,750 for $500,000 worth of forest preserve bonds. Last week the rejected bid on these same bonds was $452,500. The board's finance committee will decide what shall be done with the new bid. One of the county commissioners suggested that labor union members buy the county's tax warrants. Several more county employés accepted groceries from the bureau of public welfare.

WIFE FILES 4TH SUIT FOR SEPARATION FROM CONTRACTOR HUSBAND

George L. Arquette, building contractor living at 10415 South Hamilton avenue, yesterday was sued for separation for the fourth time by his wife, Mrs. Mildred Arquette, 35 years old. On two previous occasions the wife had brought suit for separate maintenance and once she had sued for divorce, and yesterday's action, filed in the Superior court, again asks for separate maintenance. The Arquettes were married on Aug. 29, 1918, at Valparaiso, Ind., and separated the last time in January. The bill charges cruelty. The other actions were brought on the same charge, but were dismissed after her husband promised to reform, Mrs. Arquette avers. She estimated her husband's income at $15,000 a year and asks for the custody of five children.

Berlin Police Seize 3 with Roll of Forged U. S. Bills

BERLIN, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Police today arrested three men whom they charge with being members of a counterfeiting group which has flooded Europe with spurious American money. The accused men are a Rumanian named Jermas, a Hungarian named Katz, and a Czecho-Slovakian named Weiss. When arrested at a railway station here they carried a large roll of counterfeit $1 bills.

WOMAN, ILL, ENDS LIFE WITH GUN.

Mrs. Amanda Schilski, 45 years old, 3032 South Canal street, committed suicide in her home yesterday by shooting herself in the head. Her husband, Henry, a laborer, who found the body, said his wife had been in ill health and despondent.

COMMONS AIRS PERSECUTION OF CHURCH IN RUSSIA

LONDON, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Questioned in the house of commons regarding possible action by Great Britain in connection with the religious situation in Russia, Arthur Henderson, foreign secretary, said the British government would do all possible compatible with the interests of those affected and in support of religious liberty and freedom of religious practices.

The question was asked by Godfrey Locker-Lampson, who asked whether Mr. Henderson would take immediate steps under article eleven of the league of nations covenant to bring before the league a question of conditions affecting religious liberty in Russia.

"I have grave doubts whether the course suggested by the right honorable gentleman would promote the object which he has in view, but the house may rest assured that his majesty's government will, when possible, or compatible with the interests of those affected, use its influence in support of the cause of religious liberty and the freedom of religious practices," Mr. Henderson said.

Mr. Henderson added that he was awaiting a report from the British representative in Russia on the situation.

Charges Beating Because of Income; Wins Divorce

Mrs. Audrey Korte, owner of a beauty shop at 3346 West Jackson boulevard, yesterday won a divorce before Superior Judge Sabath from her husband, George Korte. She charged cruelty, alleging that her husband resented the fact that she has an independent income and beat her. She waived alimony.

Help him build his bones strong his teeth sound —with Bottled Sunshine!

"IF your baby's bones are to grow strong and straight, if his teeth are to come in sound, even and uncrowded, he must have special protection. Even the breast-fed baby needs it." Authorities are today stressing this fact to mothers.

Scientists say that there are two plentiful sources of protection. Sunshine and good cod-liver oil!

Sunshine could keep your baby safe if he could get enough of it on his bare body. But clothing and bad weather prevent this. Even ordinary window glass filters out the rays that protect.

For this reason physicians have come to depend upon "Bottled Sunshine"—good cod-liver oil—as the sure method of protection.

Thousands of the leading specialists choose Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil. They prefer Squibb's because it tests so high in two essential vitamins. It is very rich in the "sunshine vitamin," Vitamin D, which helps to build good bones and teeth, and in Vitamin A which promotes normal growth and increases resistance to infections.

Your physician will tell you that Bottled Sunshine is necessary in building the kind of bones and teeth you want your child to have. For your protection insist on Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil, the vitamin-tested, vitamin-protected oil. You can get it at all good drug stores. Plain and Mint-flavored.

For every woman there is a sermon in the case of this lovely Philadelphia girl (name withheld). Outdoors others found her so charming, so gay. But in the drawing room they politely avoided her. Don't fool yourself

It's folly to assume that you never have halitosis, the unforgivable social fault. One out of every three is either an occasional or constant offender, surveys show.

Halitosis is caused by fermenting food particles in the mouth. Minor infections of the oral tract. Bad teeth, and Pyorrhea.

Kills germs—Destroys odors

Since you, yourself, cannot tell when you have halitosis, the wise precaution is to gargle with full strength Listerine. Every morning. Every night. And between times before meeting others.

Undiluted Listerine strikes at the cause of odors because it's an active—though safe—germicide. Even the stubborn Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) germ is killed by it in 15 seconds.

Furthermore, being a powerful deodorant it immediately destroys all odors arising in the mouth. Leaves your breath sweet and normal.

Be at your best

Keep Listerine handy in home and office and use it often. By the way, our free Book of Etiquette may interest you. Address Dept. H 8, Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

SENATOR GLENN ON THE VITAL ISSUE.

The speech of the junior senator from Illinois was one of the most timely and significant heard in the senate chamber in recent time. Senator Glenn and Illinois are to be congratulated upon it. We think the best intelligence of the country has been reaching the same conclusion as to the most important issues before the people today, which may be combined in the one issue, the preservation of the American system of civil liberty.

It is quite natural that Senators Borah, Brookhart, Norris, et al, should offer the valuation and regulation of public utilities as the great issue. All of these men are supporters of the system of centralized bureaucracy and official tyranny which has reversed the constitutional system of the United States and is degrading the guaranties established by our forefathers against oppression. Senator Glenn is right when he asserts that "the vital problems of the day are much as they were when this government was founded." It is a humiliating truth but one we must face. Senator Borah and his allied champions of the noble experiment in bludgeoning what they deem virtue into the American people invite us to turn our back on it and think of telephone rates while fanaticism tears the roof from over our heads.

The problem of utility regulation can and will be dealt with, we trust, with more regard for public welfare than the radicalism of self-styled progressivism represents. But the fight for the American system of civil liberty is reaching a crisis and it presents the overshadowing issue of our day. On that issue Mr. Borah and his associates are reactionaries whom the liberty loving founders of the nation would repudiate. Their progress leads not forward but back to the tyranny of government over men, of sectarianism and bigotry over free conscience.

As for the Supreme court, whose high function of constitutional defense Senator Glenn would protect from attack and from deterioration, we hope his reminder will not be lost upon it. It has not exercised that function in recent years with too much zeal or prevision. Members of that body have gone a long way for the effectuation of oppressive inroads upon liberty and the deterioration of civil guaranties. Complaisant majorities have overruled the protest of members more wisely jealous of constitutional principle, and proved unreliable keepers of the freeman's heritage. If Mr. Hughes is confirmed we hope he will not be added to them but rather to the members of the court who watch over our liberties and preserve them resolutely from the attacks of bigotry and reaction.

HARVARD GOES COLLEGIATE.

The names of two hundred young men of Harvard are on the Boston police blotter, each properly checked from their bursar's cards, and there is a trifle of broken glass and furnishings charged against them. They wrecked two coaches on an elevated train when they were on their way back to the Harvard yard from the hockey game with the University club. Harvard won the game.

Evidently the first requirement of an institution of higher learning is athletic adversity. If that is lifted or mitigated the tendency of such an institution is to progress by an explosive outbreaking of the shell to the higher status of an American college. The Harvard folkways may be different from those of Siwash in adversity. Then the young men of Cambridge rally round their tradition of indifference and their devotion to higher education puts all the inconsequential enthusiasms in their place. By a gratifying victory Harvard becomes collegiate. It is probable that if a divinity school won an intercollegiate boxing contest the future bishops would uproot the lamp posts and fill their rooms with the traffic signs and policemen's bonnets.

UNSCRUPULOUS PRACTICE.

A certain beer runner under arrest for carrying a gun failed to appear before Municipal Judge Immenhausen the other day. Instead a lawyer, name not given in the news report here quoted, appeared with a statement from a physician, name not given in news report, that the defendant was too ill to appear in court. Judge Immenhausen sent out an investigator, who reported that the defendant was not at home. The judge forfeited his bail.

This little story is not unique. It is important because it is not. We offer it as illustrating the need of something more than a sweepup of gunmen. There should be a sweepup of low grade lawyers. The bar association, we think, is neglecting its duty in this respect. The case we have cited deserves investigation, for it has the appearance of conspiracy to defeat the law, but our interest in it is as a reminder of the part played in the sensational drama of organized crime by counsel for criminals whose livelihood is from the defeat of justice. We are not denying the right of the criminal—any criminal, however heinous his crime or certain his guilt—to legal aid. But his right is to legal, not illegal, aid. We do not think it will be denied that there are many practitioners in the Criminal courts whose methods are improper if not criminal. We think there should be more effort to rebuke and when practicable to discipline this class.

STIMSON TO BORAH TO MAC DONALD.

The parley technique of Mr. Stimson and some of his associate negotiators in London has become perceivable. It is interesting. The American secretary of state is throwing feelers across the sea to discover, if he can, how far the American people will permit the delegation to go in scrapping the naval power of the United States without raising the devil. The apparent purpose is to come out of the conference with as little as possible. Thus a proposal that America build another great capital ship is kept out of an open document to Mr. MacDonald but is eased across the water to the American people. Senator Borah says that it will never do to build another great warship. Mr. MacDonald, apprised of that decision, approved it and passed it on to Mr. Stimson as a veto.

French, Italian and Japanese delegates at times seem to be greatly puzzled. They could hardly be expected to understand such technique and, being intellectually unable to comprehend that such procedure is at least innocent of guile except as to the United States, they are walking warily and looking for coal holes. They would be much more at ease in their minds if they could perceive that the designs of the American delegates are wholly against the United States, but they are congenitally incapable of understanding such a thing. Consequently the more the Americans open up, the more these suspicious realists cover up, fearing that the moment they look aside at the little bird in the tree something will hit them on the chin.

This is going to be a great conference. When it's over let's have another one.

MORTUARY PROGRESS.

The Second Massachusetts congressional district, supposedly Republican to bedrock, has been carried by a wet Democrat who ran over his Republican opposition, winning by 31,170 votes out of 57,088 and by a majority of 5,252 over three other candidates. It is the Springfield district and the voting was more of an uprising than an election. The state Republican management now has new cause to wonder whether it can elect a Republican United States senator.

All of New England has not surrendered all attachment to old American principles, and where they are held important the Republican party is held responsible for the violations of them, as it is. The Whig party, which was its father, and the Federalist party, which was its grandfather, both killed themselves by supporting oppressive laws which denied freedom. It may not be the coroner which the Republican party sees across the street, but then again it may be.

NEVER MIND THE WEATHER FORECAST.

At this writing the air is filled with the scent of new mown hay and the honeysuckle grows up the walls where lately the icicles hung. The dryad has wild roses in her hair and Pan is tooting on a reed he cut at the edge of a brook wherein the little fishes flash in and out of shadows. Song sparrows and white throats, cardinals and chickadees are aquiver with song, the clerical grackle walks the lawn and the tanager is in and out of the wild grape tangle. Winds are soft and from the south, the swains are starry-eyed against the gate posts in the moonlight, twanging the old guitar while Amaryllis comes down the lane, Chloe yoohoos from the casement to her Strephon and the gorillas and their hoods think tenderly of St. Valentine's and garages.

Who would be in Florida when spring comes to Chicago?

PERU'S STAKE IN THE WATERWAY.

The assignment to Chicago of a new Peruvian consul, Don Fernandez E. Rodriguez, will help to prepare us for the day when the lakes-gulf waterway will make Peru and the Mississippi valley even more profitable customers of one another than they are now. Don Fernandez was for fifteen years a resident of the United States and at one time studied and worked in Chicago. He is equipped to perform a valuable service to his country. Chicago and the central states have a real interest in his success.

With the opening of the waterway, the great industrial and agricultural markets of the valley will be even more accessible to Peruvian products than now, and to the exports of the other South American nations as well. The waterway, however, will be a greater and a more instantaneous success if the territories with which it communicates are prepared to use it upon completion. The mission of Don Fernandez is to assure that one important potential user of the waterway takes full advantage of the opportunity.

A WONDERFUL OLD MAN.

[Decatur (Ill.) Herald.]

Among the callers at the bedside of William Howard Taft Wednesday was Associate Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, the Nestor of the Supreme bench.

Reporters give the age of Justice Holmes variously at 88 or 89. Actually Justice Holmes will be 89 on March 1. Mr. Taft, who, from the viewpoint of youthful correspondents, is described as the "aged chief justice," is Mr. Holmes' junior by 16 years. When Mr. Taft was a lad of six in his father's home in Cincinnati his visitor of Wednesday was a seasoned civil war soldier, bearing the scars of combat. He was wounded in the breast at Ball's Bluff in the first year of the war, in the neck at Antietam the year following, and in the foot at Fredericksburg in 1863.

At the time that Mr. Taft was graduated from Yale in 1878, Mr. Holmes was a successful lawyer in Boston, the editor of the American Law Review, and was lecturing on law in Harvard before Mr. Taft had finished his legal training.

Young and old are relative terms. When Mr. Taft came into the presidency in 1908 at the age of 51 he was sometimes referred to as "this young executive." Mr. Holmes was then 67, with six years of experience on the Supreme bench behind him.

The man who brought his personal greetings to his stricken associate Wednesday was really in the position of a teacher addressing a pupil. All of which illustrates the great age of Mr. Holmes. The fact that he is still able to attend regularly to his work and write those scintillating opinions marks him as about the most wonderful old man in America. That he is one of the wisest men in the world is pretty generally conceded.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. By Bo.

THE TIME HAS COME, THE WALRUS SAID—to talk of many things—of barracudas and battleships and sailfishes, too, by jings. Barracudas and battleships seem to be first on our list. You know what a barracuda is, don't you? Neither do we; but Mr. Hoover caught two or three the other day down around Florida, so it's pretty safe to assume that the doggoned thing is a fish, because Mr. Hoover is on a fishing trip and doesn't have trade nor traffic with anything nowadays but fish. So, as the papers all say that Mr. Hoover caught several barracudas, then they're fish. But not knowing anything more about barracudas, except that Mr. Hoover is catching 'em, maybe we'd better hurry on over to battleships.

Now we're on firm ground again. We can talk about battleships 'til the cows come home. Not much use talking about them now, though, for the peace conference over in London has decided that we've got to sink all of ours and build a new one. A new battleship will be mighty expensive and we can't see why we should sink all the perfectly good battleships we've got and go to the expense and trouble to build another one just to match the kind of battleship the British have got. Maybe we'd better go back to barracudas again. Or sailfish. That's the fish that Mr. Hoover is after especially.

Anyhow, the story we read from Florida yesterday said that Mr. Hoover hadn't caught any sailfish the day before, but that Mrs. Stone, the wife of Mr. Justice Stone, had caught a great big whopping old sailfish. And Mr. Hoover didn't catch any. That looks bad from a political standpoint for Mr. Hoover. We, the great American people, are pretty strong for voting for the person that does bigger and showier things than anybody else. We're all liable to say that if Mrs. Stone can catch a bigger sailfish than the President can himself then Mrs. Stone ought to be President, and, by jinks, the electorate of these here United States are liable to do that very thing. We've elected Presidents for less than that. But, wait! The fishing trip is not yet over. Mr. Hoover is a pretty determined man and he may catch the biggest sailfish yet. The fish that Mrs. Stone got weighed 65 pounds and was 7 feet 10 inches long, and Mr. Hoover will have to go some. If he doesn't, then Mrs. Stone is liable to be elected on the sailfish platform in 1932.

VALENTINE.

I send my heart in violet:
May you prefer it so.
Embroidered with a triolet
I send my heart in violet.
Red's for those who sigh or fret:
My color scheme's more apropos—
Please keep my heart inviolate:
I much prefer it so!

COLORADO PETE.

EVERYBODY'S stepping out to be congressman at large; the number would fill a sea-going barge. So, then, dear people, if it's not too late, what about us as your candidate? For, sovereign voters of Illinoy, if you choose us, we'll bring you joy. We're no politician, crafty and sly; we'll be what you say, either wet or dry; for our biggest claim on the job we seek is that our suitcase doesn't leak. In congress we'll watch out for your needs, and keep you buried with garden seeds. To serve you truly we fairly pine; Oh Illinoy voters, be our Valentine.

A Valentine for Whomsoever Thinks It Meant for Him Alone.

Of what shall I make my song, dear,
Of your hair or your smile or your eyes?
But there have been other eyes and smiles—
Oh—more than you realize.

And so I shall mention of all the charms
That served just to make you mine,
Your sympathy dear, and I'll end this verse
Quite sweetly—Your Valentine.

DAVIDA.

WE GOT a valentine yesterday to send to the good lads at Tribune Forty and Eight Convalescent Camp at Orland, Ill. Miss E. McC., the sweet loyal friend of all the ex-service men, sent us the valentine yesterday. It's a beautiful valentine, no hearts or cupids or things like that on it, but any bank will exchange twenty-five perfectly good dollars for it on sight. And the twenty-five perfectly good dollars can be exchanged for a lot of perfectly good cigarettes and candy and pipes and things. Then Miss E. McC. sent us another valentine for any hospital group that we would suggest. And that valentine is good for twenty-five dollars, too. Talk about valentines! Those are valentines that are valentines.

TO MY VALENTINE.

Let this be my Valentine
While the mood is nigh:
Formals, cloaks and tiny pumps—
All you wish to buy—
A roadster done in ebon-black,
Wire wheels of white,
A Boston-bull of ugly mien
To guard you each night;
A terra cotta sunset, too,
Beauty has a place,
And let me see the joy between Freckles on your face.

Let this be my Valentine—
Finer than another's . . .
You're too damn expensive, child . . .
So are baby-brothers . . .!

"JURY FIXES Cash Values on Wives from $1,000 to $7,500."—London cable in W. G. N. That doesn't sound like a fair valuation on wives. A thousand bucks is too much for some of 'em—a dollar and sixty-three cents apiece being plenty enough. TWO TREATMENTS OF T. B.

THE trend of the times in the present day, so far as the treatment of consumption is concerned, is toward trial of two proceedures. One is specifics for vaccination and for cure. The other is what might be called specific dieting. It is the latter of these proposals that we are considering here and now.

The older dieting of consumptives was based on the theory that a well nourished man was in a condition to withstand consumption. The method pursued under this theory was to fatten consumptives by means of milk and eggs. This was pushed to the limits of digestion and appetite. This theory had much to support it. Under that method many consumptives were made resistant enough to throw off their disease. But we finally came to consider the means as an end and we rather overfattened consumptives and sometimes crowded their digestive organs, kidneys, and livers unduly.

The new proposal is that we use diets that are rich in needed vitamins and minerals and in doing so we keep proteins, carbohydrates, and salt as low as can be done with due regard to the body needs. This method originated in Germany. At Saranac they reported good results in treating advanced consumption with a diet of this kind. The diet they use is what they call a base or alkali-ash diet. It is low in salt, proteins, and carbohydrates and high in fats, milk, and vegetables.

7 a. m.—4 tablespoonsful oatmeal, one of sugar, and two of cream.

8 a. m.—1 tomato, 1 slice stale bread, 2 helpings butter, 1 inch cube cream cheese, 1 ounce honey, 8 ounces milk.

11 a. m.—One-half cup lemon juice, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 egg yolk, 1 helping butter, 2 crackers.

1 p. m.—One cup vegetable soup, 1 potato, 1 helping peas, one of carrots, and 1 of lettuce, 1 tablespoonful mayonnaise dressing, 1 slice bread, 2 helpings butter, 8 ounces milk.

4 p. m.—One cup cocoa, 1 slice bread, 1 helping butter.

6 p. m.—Two tablespoons rice, 1 helping lettuce, 1 inch cube cheese, 1 slice bread, 1 helping butter, 8 ounces milk.

8 p. m.—Four tablespoons oatmeal, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 tablespoons cream, 1-3 ounce almonds.

As little salt is used for seasoning as the taste will permit of.

This diet supplies 3,500 calories, and minerals, and vitamins in abundance. While a few of the foods, such as the bread, crackers and oatmeal, are acid-ash formers, there are enough alkali-ash formers included to much more than balance them and to easily maintain the body's alkali reserve.

MAY BE DUE TO POISON.

P. E. H. writes: My wife has had eczema on her hands and arms for the last two years. About a year ago it was at its worst. It ran water all the time and she could not sleep. We have had several doctors and they have all done good with ointments, lotions, etc., but none of them has cured it entirely. It will all cure up except two or three very small spots, which just won't cure up, and will then get worse even while we are doctoring it.

REPLY.

This has all the earmarks of a dermatitis due to some poison. Does she wear a dyed neck piece or some other dyed garment or fabric? Is she exposed to any occupational poison, or is her trouble due to exposure to animals or birds?

If these are out, then some food to which she is sensitized may be the cause.

If she will find the cause and avoid it cure will follow spontaneously.

DON'T MONKEY WITH THEM.

H. M. M. writes: A member of my family has a number of black spots on the back and in the front above the waist line. These vary in size from half of a good sized pea to the head of a black pin. They are similar to what are termed moles, but different, as they protrude above the skin but very little. Can you tell me the cause and what might be done to stop their spreading?

REPLY:

I presume these are pigmented moles. Such moles are sometimes malignant either at the beginning or later on. It would be well to have a physician determine whether these moles are safe or not. No effort should be made to prevent them from coming or to self treat those that are out. It is dangerous to monkey with a pigmented mole.

ENLARGEMENT OF TONGUE.

M. P. writes: I suffer from the ridiculous and awful sensation of finding my tongue too large for my mouth at times. Besides being annoying, it prevents proper articulation.

REPLY.

In macroglossia the tongue is enlarged. This condition may be serious or it may indicate some constitutional condition that needs attention. On the other hand, a moderate enlargement may be of no consequence. An examination should show which class your case belongs in.

REGISTRATION OF TRADE-MARK.

Aurora, Ill., Feb. 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I intend to prepare a veterinary remedy and advertise it in farm magazines. 1. What steps must I take to register the trade-mark of this preparation? 2. How will the pure food act affect such a preparation? D. W. D.

There are no necessary prerequisites if your remedy does not contain narcotics.

A trade-mark may be defined as an arbitrary word or symbol actually used on articles of merchandise to indicate where they come from—that is, who makes them. A trade-mark which has been so used in commerce among the several states, or with foreign nations, or with Indian tribes, may be registered in the patent office by any person, firm, corporation, or association owning such trade-mark.

No trade-mark is registrable, under the act of Feb. 20, 1905, which is merely a geographical name or term, or which consists merely in a surname, firm name, or corporation name not distinctively displayed, or merely in words or devices descriptive of the goods upon which it is used. If the owner of a trade-mark which is not registrable under the act of Feb. 20, 1905, has had bona fide trade-mark use thereof for one year such trade-mark may be registered under the provisions of the act of March 19, 1920. However, a registration under the act of March 19, 1920, does not constitute prima facie evidence of ownership.

The patent office does not make an examination in order to determine whether a particular word or symbol has been or may be registered as a trade-mark in advance of the filing of a complete application for such registration.

A complete application comprises a petition, statement, declaration, drawing, five specimens showing the trade-mark as actually used in trade, and a fee of $10.

Of the propriety of applying for registration the applicant must judge for himself.

In order to identify any particular trade-mark registered in the patent office the registry number or the date of registration and the name of registrant should be given.

A copy of the trade-mark rules, containing full forms and instructions relative thereto, may be obtained by writing to the commissioner of patents, Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The guerrilla chief, Mosby, on the last trip of the steamer Mary Allison, which brought down exchanged prisoners from Varina landing, came as a passenger with several ladies. He seemed to be quite friendly with some of our officers, but the majority of them did not notice him, of course.

INDIANAPOLIS.—The joint resolution ratifying the national constitutional amendment abolishing slavery was adopted in the senate by a vote of 26 to 24 and in the house by a vote of 57 to 29.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Former Gov. Thomas Hicks, United States senator from Maryland, died this morning.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Lincoln sent to the senate the nomination of Senator Morgan of New York to be secretary of the treasury to succeed Secretary Fessenden, but in the course of an hour thereafter withdrew it.

NEW YORK.—The Tribune's Savannah letter says: "The sick and wounded soldiers of Sherman's army, now in Savannah, are suffering from want of proper food. While shiploads of provisions are being distributed to the citizens, nothing but army rations are furnished our hospitals."

NEW YORK.—The Herald's dispatches from the Army of the James mention renewed rumors of preparations by the rebels for the evacuation of Richmond.

CHICAGO.—J. C. Clark was arrested for fast driving after he ran over and severely injured the 6 year old son of Thomas Young. This reckless driving on our streets has become an evil of such magnitude that it needs to be severely punished.

CHICAGO.—The lake tunnel has now reached a length of 1,786 feet, or nearly one-third of a mile. It is believed the work will be completed by Jan. 1.

LONDON.—Important war news is expected from Lord Roberts' army quite soon. This is indicated by the fact that war correspondents have been warned that nothing would be given out for the next few days. It is expected that Lord Roberts' movement will be in the direction of Bloemfontein.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—Henry Clay Frick fired his opening gun in the legal battle for millions against Andrew Carnegie when his attorneys filed suit against the Carnegie Steel company, Andrew Carnegie, Henry Phipps Jr., L. C. Phipps, George Lauder, C. M. Schwab and other partners in the Carnegie firm. The suit abounds in startling figures. It is stated that last year the company made a clear profit of $21,000,000, and that Mr. Carnegie has declared that he could sell the business in London for $500,000,000. Frick seeks to recover $10,000,000.

CHICAGO. — The new American Baseball association is an established fact. Its president is Adrian C. Anson of Chicago. It is called the New American association to avert possible trouble with the National league and American Association of Baseball Clubs. The western clubs are Chicago, Louisville, St. Louis, and Milwaukee, and the eastern are Boston, Baltimore, Philadelphia and one other city to be selected.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt was elected president of the National Woman Suffrage association to succeed Susan B. Anthony.

WASHINGTON.—In a series of three letters of unprecedented tone and following discord that has grown throughout the last year, President Wilson has forced the resignation of Secretary of State Robert Lansing from his cabinet. Ostensibly on the charge that Mr. Lansing had usurped presidential prerogative in calling cabinet meetings in defiance of the constitution during Mr. Wilson's long illness, but actually because of Mr. Lansing's disapproval of the executive's foreign policy and peace negotiations, the President virtually called for the resignation of the secretary. Frank L. Polk, undersecretary of state, will be made secretary ad interim until President Wilson appoints a successor to Mr. Lansing. Officials, still gasping over the occurrence, are wondering whether there will follow the resignations of any or all of the other members of the cabinet who advised Secretary Lansing to call the cabinet meetings to meet crises produced by the President's illness.

CHICAGO.—William J. Cooke, political leader, paving contractor, and bosom friend and adviser of Mayor Thompson, died at his home, 41 South Central Park avenue, after an illness of more than a year, at the age of 55. At the time he was stricken he was at the height of his political power, although not so much in the limelight as formerly. He is generally credited with having been responsible for the naming of Col. John J. Garrity chief of police, and the White Paving company, of which he was head, enjoyed lucrative city contracts.

THE ABOLITION OF BATTLESHIPS.

New York, Feb. 10.—The abolition of battleships by the five great naval powers, will bring about a curious condition. This abolition would leave the 10,000 ton cruiser with eight inch guns, as the capital ship for the five naval powers.

There are eleven other powers which have capital ships armed with guns in excess of eight inch. The result of this abolition would give Germany the most powerful capital ship squadron, which would consist of eight old battleships, armed with eleven inch guns, and the much talked of Ersatz Preussen. Russia would have the second capital fleet of five battleships, armed with twelve inch guns. Chile would have the most powerful single ship, which is the Latorre, a modern battleship, armed with fourteen inch guns.

The following eleven powers would have capital ships with guns greater than eight inch: Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Denmark, Germany, Greece, Netherlands, Norway, Russia, Spain, and Sweden.

Incidentally, the abolition of submarines by the five great powers would increase the importance of the naval forces of the eighteen other naval powers, which now have submarines. In this event, Holland would be the strongest submarine power. Her submarine force could steam down the English channel, much as did the Dutch fleet under Admiral Von Tromp, in 1670, with brooms lashed to the mastheads to signify that he had swept the seas of all enemies. Contenders for the other leading positions in submarine strength would be Chile, Greece, Norway, Russia, Spain, and Sweden.

Why do the five naval powers discuss the abolition of battleships and submarines, which action would cause such an unset in the relative naval forces of the world? Is it to avoid discussing cruisers, which is the real subject before the present London conference?

J. P. JONES.

WHAT IS LAW!

Farmington, Ill., Feb. 10.—Referring to your front page cartoon of today, entitled "The Hired Killers," I wish to ask: Why is it that in the eyes of THE TRIBUNE an officer who shoots a bank robber is a hero, while an officer who shoots a bootlegger is a murderer? The attitude of THE TRIBUNE on this question is doing much to increase lawlessness in the United States. I am aware that no decent citizen will approve the cartoon of today, but the low down, lawless element will take advantage of it and be the more lawless. The robbing of railway mail coaches has about ceased since the government has equipped railway mail clerks with guns and given orders to "shoot to kill." No paper yet has accused these mail clerks of being murderers. I have taken THE TRIBUNE for years, and will continue to take it, but I ask you, Why, in the name of common decency, cannot you be fair and just in treating the eighteenth amendment, which is part of our glorious constitution? J. A. ALFORD.

WHEN TEARS FLOW.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—THE TRIBUNE is truly a wonderful paper, bringing us news so quickly, accurately, interestingly and unstintingly from all parts of the world, a paper that is much appreciated by many thousands of subscribers; but I cannot understand its unfavorable attitude toward prohibition. Nearly all of your readers and all good men and women of our land irrespective of their religion, want its success.

What greater thing could we of this enlightened age hand down to our children and our children's children, than the gift of prohibition? When I read some of the articles in your paper taking sides against it, the tears spring to my eyes. Your wonderful paper would be such a power for good if you would help by your influence, to banish from the earth forever this terrible thing that wrecks the lives of so many worthy people.

SUBSCRIBER.

SAVING THE CITY'S MONEY.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—I have a suggestion to make in regard to saving public funds in the Chicago water bureau. The practice of reading water meters monthly is indefensible. Two readings a year would be plenty, or, at the very most, a reading every three months. To read the meters twice a year would save 83 per cent of the money expended for water meter readers' salaries, not to mention postage and stationery savings. Fewer clerks would be required, too. The present practice is annoying to the payer, too, as it wastes his time. CITIZEN.

THE DANGEROUS AMERICA[N] LANGUAGE.

Chicago, Feb. 11.—In turning [to] editorials one naturally expects [to] something worth while, something [to] ruminating and something which [one] can assimilate with profit. Certainly [one] doesn't expect to find such unmitigated drivel as is incorporated in "The [Dan]gerous American Language." To [begin] off with, there is no American language, [in] so far as the written word is concerned. That safely disposes of "The Doctrine of Equality," all of which I presume are drawn up in pure English.

As to the point, "It is impossible for the English generally to converse with each other or understand each other." Well, well, to find a journal of standing circulating such pernicious [stuff] simply amazes me. Still it clarifies the position in regard to the American who have complimented me, a poor ignorant Scotchman, on my knowledge of English, after only a brief year in the midst.

As to the ability of residents of the United Kingdom to commune and co-operate; well, I think, the "British Empire" adequately answers that.

VERA. [illegible]

ENGLAND AND AMERICA.

Chicago, Feb. 11.—Your campaign of insinuation, innuendo and villification of the British appears to have no end. Your editorials, and even what purports to be news by your foreign correspondents, reek with insults and contempt for England and things English. You appear to have fallen into the error that American prestige and merit are enhanced in proportion as you heap ignominy and ridicule on other nations. The pettiness of provincialism and chauvinism displayed in the sarcasm which you have manifested toward British intellect, British society, London town and, to cap the climax, the English language, is unpardonable in any newspaper desirous of the serious consideration of its public.

I would appreciate enlightenment as to why American plutocracy is to be preferred to British aristocracy. We have in America, more than in other countries, is the open sesame to social prestige and the sine qua non for entry into polite society. Snobbery among the plutocrats is as common in America as in England, and in the present [illegible] unemployment as much suffering and misery is to be found in Chicago or any other large American city as in London, and the American unfortunate is left to starve as best he can, unrestrained by any such paternalism as England extends to her unemployed in the form of the dole. Furthermore, aristocratic England manages to have a Labor government and Socialist premier, something impossible in the United States, where Socialist representatives were expelled from the New York legislature and [illegible] gene Debs sent to Atlanta.

HENRY MAR[illegible]

SUGGESTION FOR MR. KINSLEY.

Racine, Wis., Feb. 10.—Now [that] Philip Kinsley is nearly through with his articles on England perhaps he can favor the public a series on slum conditions in Chicago. Why go abroad when there is so much fault that can be found right here? Mr. Kinsley compared English tea with dishwater. He must have tasted dishwater before he visited England or he would not have known how it tasted. NATIVE AMERICAN.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—A contest that I think would be full of human interest, especially to readers in Chicago and vicinity, would be to offer prizes for the best plans submitted that would solve Chicago's financial problems.

Chicago's financial dilemma [illegible] occupies a place in the thoughts of nearly every resident, nearly every one. I am just a busy housewife, and I think that nearly every one has thought out a solution just as I have. With a million and more minds thinking in the right direction, some good might come. At least it would be interesting to know how many thousands of people arrive at the same solution.

MRS. EDNA SCHAT[illegible]

THE STATE'S ATTORNEY.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—Of late I have noticed you are continually picking on the state's attorney. Is he to blame for the epidemic of crime? Why not criticize and blame a little, and include those who are in no small measure, are as much to blame as any one? I mean lawyers and judges.

I think I would try giving the state's attorney a boost and await developments. It never pays to knock.

Almost Wrecks a School; Teachers Save 2,000.

New York, Feb. 13.—[Special.]—A Negro bootleg distillery, trying to save a dollar or two a month by tapping a gas line with a rubber tube, caused two explosions in the Redford section of Brooklyn today, which injured thirty or more pupils in a public school across the street.

Only good fortune and the calm efficiency of principal and teachers prevented a disastrous school panic among 2,000 pupils ranging in age from five to fifteen. In at least two cases class room doors were jammed, trapping the children, and had to be broken open.

Pupils Singing at Time.

Shortly after 9 a. m., while 500 pupils were singing in the assembly room of the school and 1,500 more were in the class rooms, a great blast tore out the front of the Negroes' building and smashed most of the windows in the neighborhood.

A moment later there was another and more terrific blast.

Maurice Garfinkel, principal of the school, was standing in the office of Miss Harriet Bane, school clerk, when the explosion occurred.

Calmness Saves Lives.

Garfinkel ran into the assembly room, where 500 pupils were singing. It was dark and the pupils were growing restive. A teacher was playing the piano. Garfinkel called some of the older children and teachers and sent them to all the rooms to spread a "silent alarm" of fire.

The 500 pupils in the auditorium then assembled in marching order and quietly left by the Bergen street exit. An organized "tug of war" opened two jammed doors and all the pupils marched to the street in order.

Of the injured pupils fifteen were still in hospitals tonight.

MAN ON HUNGER STRIKE 30 DAYS FOUND INSANE

Warren, O., Feb. 13.—(AP)—Richard Stewart, who has been on a hunger strike here for 30 days, was adjudged insane today and his strike probably will be terminated tomorrow in Massillon state hospital.

Stewart's hunger strike began when he was sent to county jail for refusal to pay a $200 fine that had been assessed against him on his conviction on a charge of molesting a woman. A strike was his protest of what he called the "unfairness" of the penalty. He alleged the woman was partly responsible for his actions.

PARSON ACCUSED OF ABDUCTING 2 SAXOPHONE GIRLS

Trio Captured After His Desertion of Family.

Alton, Ill., Feb. 13.—(AP)—The Rev. A. L. Shoemaker, former pastor of the Edwards Street Pentecostal church here, will be returned from Florida to face charge of abduction, state's attorney I. H. Streeper announced last night.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Spindler is on his way to Lakeland to get Shoemaker, who is charged with taking two 20 year old girls, members of a saxophone quartet in his church, with him when he deserted his wife and two daughters, Oct. 11.

Arrested After Services.

The abduction warrant followed a conference Tuesday night between Streeper, Shoemaker's wife, and the mother of one of the girls. Streeper said Shoemaker has agreed to return voluntarily.

The pastor was arrested for Alton authorities yesterday on a fugitive warrant as he was shaking hands with his congregation at the close of an evangelistic service at Lakeland.

Girls Confess Their Part.

The girls, Annette Harris and Edith Hankins, were detained by the Lakeland welfare department and are said to have confessed that they accompanied Shoemaker from Alton.

A widespread search was started for the two when the father of one of the girls complained to police.

Florida officials said the federal department of justice would be notified of the case.

BERLIN POLICE CLOSE UP HEADQUARTERS OF BOY AND GIRL REDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 13.—Chief of Police Zoergiebel today raided and closed the headquarters of "the Anti-Fascist Young Guard" and ordered the organization dissolved. The young militant communist body boasted of the enrollment of amazon battalions of armed girls.

The "Young Guards" include the recently banned "Red Young Front," which was held responsible by police for several recent murders of national Socialists.

The police raid was so thorough that the cops even carried off one of the Red's caps, hanging on the wall, and took $7 from pants pockets of members.

USE TEAR GAS TO ROUT RIOTERS IN TAXI STRIKE

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 13.—[Special.]—Rioting in the taxicab strike swept the East Liberty district today with the most violent disorders since the walkout of the 1,400 drivers nearly five weeks ago.

Two major outbreaks carried the rioting beyond the control of the police. Fifteen hundred men and women milled around the streets, while bricks, clubs, and other missiles filled the air. Six riot calls were turned in and police used tear gas to rout the mob.

Of the 86 persons injured since the strike began, the most seriously hurt was Charles Shinmann, 35, of Cleveland, blinded late last night when a brick was thrown through the window of a Yellow cab in front of the Aldine theater.

One cab was attacked, overturned and fired by the crowd today.

The police reported that at least nine persons have been taken to the hospital, some of them believed to be seriously injured. Several women were partially overcome by tear gas.

LINCOLN PK. ACTS TO SPEED WORK TO LINK DRIVES

The first contract for the construction of the Lincoln park board's share of the outer drive bridge project will be let late next month, the park commissioners decided yesterday. The substructure of the small bridge across Ogden slip will be the first work ordered by the north side board.

Contracts for the foundation of the main bridge on the north bank of the Chicago river will be let in April.

Hugh E. Young, engineer of the Chicago plan commission and consulting engineer of the park board, reported that plans and specifications for the bridge superstructure will be completed by May 1. Plans for the approach will be ready a month later.

The $10,000,000 bridge project is being financed by the Lincoln and south park boards out of bond issues already approved. The entire improvement, designed to reduce congestion on Michigan avenue, should be completed in the spring of 1932, said Mr. Young.

MOTHER OF 5 KILLED BY TRAIN.

Litchfield, Ill., Feb. 13.—(AP)—Mrs. Josephine Holden, 80, was instantly killed yesterday when she walked into the path of a Wabash limited at a street crossing here. Her small grandson, Donald Huleman, saved his life by jumping. Mrs. Holden is survived by five children.

For any BABY

We can never be sure just what makes an infant restless, but the remedy can always be the same. Good old Castoria! There's comfort in every drop of this pure vegetable preparation, and not the slightest harm in its frequent use. As often as Baby has a fretful spell, is feverish, or cries and can't sleep, let Castoria soothe and quiet him. Sometimes it's a touch of colic. Sometimes constipation. Or diarrhea—a condition that should always be checked without delay. Just keep Castoria handy, and give it promptly. Relief will follow very promptly; if it doesn't, you should call a physician.

All through babyhood, Castoria should be a mother's standby; and a wise mother does not change to stronger medicines as the child grows older. Castoria is readily obtained at any drugstore, and the genuine easily identified by the Chas. H. Fletcher signature that appears on every wrapper.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

another Companion peak issue

BREAKING the Companion's consecutive peak records established in February and March this year—the April Woman's Home Companion went to press with 14% gain in advertising lineage and 18% gain in revenue over April last year.

Thus April in turn becomes the largest issue in the Companion's history—topping the two preceding issues each of which carried more than a million dollars in advertising—and following the Companion's largest January.

The first four 1930 issues show a gain of $770,285 in advertising—exceeding by nearly $200,000 the Companion's gain during the entire year 1929.

Paralleling this outstanding advertising growth is an equally impressive record of public demand which has increased the Companion's paid circulation to more than 2,600,000—a gain of more than 300,000 in 12 months.

ARMY TO DEFEND U. S. COAST FROM AIR AND LAND

Planes Will Co-operate with Artillery.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 13.—[Special.]—Recent reorganization of the army coast artillery to give greater coast protection against bombing planes and attacks from the air was revealed today as partly due to new joint agreements between the army and navy under which the army is assigned the major burden of air coast defense from the land side.

Under the new agreements the army is assigned the task of handling both defensive and offensive land air operations against either enemy aircraft or vessels attacking from the sea. The naval air arm will operate in defense of the coast line and commerce from sea bases, such as aircraft carriers. In some cases, where naval shore bases are maintained for training and for the protection of shipping, navy units will coöperate with the army in coast defense work from land bases.

Joint Army-Navy Action.

According to army and navy officials, who said tonight that the long standing air controversy had been settled, the new agreements provide for harmonious joint army-navy action wherever necessary. In case the sea forces are driven back by superior enemy force, naval and army forces would operate together from the land. The new agreements outline the various situations which defending forces may have to face and when the senior army or naval officer should have command of all forces.

Under the coast artillery reorganization plan, first made known in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE ten days ago, the army air corps will work in close coöperation with the artillery in defending the nation's long coast lines. Anti-aircraft weapons, equipped, whenever possible, with the latest fire control apparatus, have been installed at all coast fortifications. All artillery personnel has been directed to become as proficient in the use of anti-aircraft guns, searchlights, sound locaters and other equipment used in combatting enemy aircraft as they are with the big guns.

Plan Efficient Training.

In order to train all personnel efficiently and to make certain that the nation is prepared to meet any air attack that may come in the future, a majority of the present coast artillery stations have been turned over to caretakers in recent years and the personnel concentrated at a few stations for training.

In explaining the coast artillery reorganization, Gen. Charles P. Summerall, army chief of staff, said today the ranks of the coast artillery had been sharply cut, while in addition to fixed guns, the personnel now has to operate anti-aircraft units, mobile and railroad guns. He also said the coast artillery has to train the national guard units.

Gen. Summerall said that national guard units would be employed to aid in bolstering up the depleted coast artillery. He said that as fast as possible new anti-aircraft equipment would be sent to national guard organizations.

FOUR BOYS ARRESTED FOR MAKING BOMB AS AN "EXPERIMENT"

Four boys, three of them high school students with a penchant for scientific research, were arrested by the Austin police last night at Iowa street and Homan avenue as they were on their way to "experiment" with a home-made bomb. The bomb was a 5 inch section of lead pipe, filled with black powder and plugged at both ends. The police said the missile could have caused considerable damage to a building. The boys said they intended to explode it in a vacant lot.

At the police station they said they were Clarence Van Kampen, 16 years old, 944 North Monticello avenue, a student at Lane Technical High school; Raymond Mecklenburg, 14 years old, 923 North Trumbull avenue, a student at Crane High school; Henry Jungbluth, 16 years old, 820 North Homan avenue, and Edward Blouby, 15 years old, 1006 North Central Park avenue, a student at Crane.

Van Kampen and Mecklenburg told the police they are interested in chemistry and had made one other bomb during the Christmas holidays, exploding it in a vacant lot at Homan avenue and Rice street.

NORTH SIDE BOXERS DEAL KNOCKOUT WALLOPS

JUST ANOTHER SANDLOT, THAT'S WHITE SOX CAMP

Author Finds Field Remote, Rugged.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 13.—Our White Sox, who have spent the winter successfully building up morale and everything, are due, we fear, for an awful shock when they see the premises designated for their 1930 spring training clidoes.

Understand; we aren't playing the role often suspected of a Yankee—coming down here with a krinkly nose and in a snippy state of mind. So far as our experience is concerned, we rate San Antonio in the first three of our favorite cities. But the Sox's 1930 training grounds are in no way typical of San Antonio, the great Republican state of Texas, the south or the southwest, except that the diamond is out in the wide open spaces.

The flat space which has been charted as the training ground is a quarter mile from any structure whatsoever, the infield is rough and the splotches of grass make it less desirable than an old fashioned skinned diamond. Unless the infield is corrected by some sudden miracle not known to ball ground landscaping at present, it would be folly for Manager Roth to attempt an infield practice. The casualties in the form of broken noses from wild hopping baseballs and wrenched leg and ankle muscles would be appalling.

It is said that the management of the San Antonio league ball club anticipated some such jam when the plot was laid out last September. They explained to the athletic representatives of St. Mary's college that the building and maintenance of a baseball field is a fine art which goes far beyond mere grading and laying off the foul and base lines.

Officials of the San Antonio club are said to have offered the service of their ground keepers weeks ago, but had to call until this week when progress reached a panicky state as the date of the White Sox invasion grew near. Tom Conner, secretary and business manager of the San Antonio club, was out to St. Mary's on the outskirts of San Antonio this afternoon. He offered some suggestions, but all necessarily were of a character which would require weeks for development.

Sox Haven't Seen It.

It is said that no representative of the White Sox has ever inspected the proposed training ground and that reliance has been placed by the Chicago officials in optimistic reports from the St. Mary's representatives. The faculty committee, it seems, has been placed in the hole by too great faith in what the seed catalogs had to say about the vigorous and expeditious traits of Bermuda grass. We aren't knocking the fellow that has the Bermuda grass rights in this country, but the vegetation as exhibited at the proposed Sox training grounds is a wicked rap on the authors who write said seed catalogs, which is not a new experience for seed catalog authors, at that, we suppose.

We remember once we were going to raise some radishes and it said in the catalog—but that's another story and has no place here.

So far we have been talking about the field under ideal weather conditions [it was 83 when we got here yesterday]. With a little rain—a week's layoff at least.

Giants Offer Solution.

The New York Giants, who have the Texas league park, seem to offer the only salvation. If Manager McGraw would consent to a split time schedule the situation could be saved. The San Antonio club will train at Fort Sam Houston. Heretofore the Sox have been able to adjust their working hours with the home club and it is presumed this could be done with the Giants, since the San Antonio club will be away. Incidentally, the Polo Grounds groundkeeper, Hank Fabian, has been here two weeks.

Before we left Chicago we read several accounts of how work was being rushed on the new gymnasium at St. Mary's. No work is being done on the structure. There is no floor in the building and will not be until the committee discovers ways and means, probably some weeks or months hence.

RING COMMISSION VETOES DATE OF MANDELL FIGHT

The Illinois state athletic commission refused the Chicago Stadium permission to hold its proposed 10 round bout between Sammy Mandell, world lightweight champion, and Jimmy McLarnin, Vancouver, B. C., welterweight, on Feb. 24. The commission decided the Stadium must adhere to the original date allotment for the month—Feb. 21 for Jack Dempsey's show at the Coliseum and Feb. 28 for the Stadium.

Stadium officials last night had not determined whether they would go through with the date.

The commission reproved Stadium officials for not having made formal application for the date before announcing the fight and placing tickets on sale. Leonard Sacks, business manager for Jack Dempsey, had protested to the commission that the two dates were so close together that neither club would do the amount of business the shows merited.

Princeton, N. J., Feb. 13.—[Special.]—Carter Goodpasture of Chicago, sharp shooting forward of the Princeton basketball team, is one of the big reasons why the Tigers are cutting a wide swath in eastern intercollegiate circles.

Memories of a disastrous Princeton football season are becoming obliterated by the unexpected success of the Nassau courtmen. The Tiger basketeers have hung up eleven victories this season after a slow start, as against four reverses. This, in spite of the fact that the season was started with only one veteran, Capt. Eddie Wittmer, available.

Much of the credit for the surprising strength shown by the Tigers in recent games must be given to an unusually fine crop of sophomores, among whom Carter Goodpasture is outstanding. Goodpasture appeared at Princeton in the nick of time for Coach Al Wittmer. The Chicago south side athlete arrived at Jungletown with a fine record behind him as a forward for two years on the Hyde Park High school five. He also starred at baseball, playing the outfield so capably that he was elected captain his last year there.

Played in Three Sports.

In his first year at college, he continued his athletic prowess, winning his numerals in football, and becoming a regular on the yearling basketball and baseball teams. This year he stepped right out and won himself a permanent berth on the Princeton varsity basketball five.

Although the lightest man on the team at 160 pounds, Goodpasture leads in scoring. In ten games, he has scored 74 points. He stands fifth in scoring in the Eastern Intercollegiate league, with 22 points in three games. All of the men ranked above him have played in more games, due to the vagrancies of the schedule.

Goodpasture got his chance early in the season, when Ernie Dikovich, formerly a fixture at forward, was injured and forced out of competition for three weeks. When Dikovich returned, he found his place usurped for Goodpasture had proved too valuable to bench.

Starred in Army Game.

An instance of Goodpasture's worth to the team was afforded last Saturday, when the Tigers trimmed the powerful Army quintet, rated one of the best in the East, by 33-30. Playing only a little over a half of the game, Goodpasture dropped in four field goals. Last Wednesday he made 10 points in Princeton's 33-26 win over Williams, to lead the Nassau scoring. In eastern league games, he scored 9 points against Columbia and 8 more against Dartmouth, although the Tigers lost both games.

He counted five points in the Tiger victory over Yale, but was kept on the sidelines by injuries while his mates were trimming Cornell.

In addition to becoming the surprise player of the season from a Princeton standpoint, Goodpasture has complied in excellent scholastic average. He is on the dean's list as an honor student, having attained an average so high that his attendance at lectures is not required but is voluntary.

Another Chicago boy is on the Princeton basketball squad. He is George E. Rose Jr., also a sophomore. Still another of the second year men is Lloyd Rosenbaum of Anderson, Ind., former Lake Forest star.

BADGERS SCORE 29-22 VICTORY OVER MARQUETTE

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 13.—[Special.]—The University of Wisconsin basketball team made it two straight this week over the small but scrappy Marquette university quintet, turning back the Blue and Gold, 29 to 22, before 6,000 people in the Milwaukee auditorium tonight. The Badgers had defeated the Hilltoppers, 29 to 15, at Madison, Tuesday night.

While Cord Lipe's Marquette netters showed improved form over Tuesday's play in penetrating the Wisconsin defense, they failed to capitalize on many of their breaks and, at the same time, couldn't stop the sharpshooting of Carl Matthusen, Meanwell's veteran right forward. Little Matty was good for seven field goals, most of them fairly long, and his work kept the Badgers well out in front most of the way.

Leader—Beckman.

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Tony Beckman and Gerard De Baets continued at midnight to lead the pack in the six day pinwheel of bicycles at the Stadium, but not because no one tried to take it away from them. In fact, they had to rewin their lap advantage by a great burst of riding late in the evening after two of the other teams had ridden their way into a triple tie.

With the tables moved out of the infield and the old time color of a bike fan crowd eating hot dogs, yelling at the riders, dancing and singing in the center of the track, the riders staged twenty jams that resulted in 48 stolen laps. It brought the total for the week up to 247, which is 25 miles and a lot of circuits of the wooden saucer.

McNamara, Belloni Close Up.

One lap behind the leaders were McNamara and Belloni and Horder and Horan, both of whom had caught up once, only to be lapped again by the Beckman and De Baets team. Horder and Horan had started the night's jams three laps in arrears, while McNamara and Belloni had been two behind. Brocardo and Zuchetti, who cut loose with some brilliant bursts of speed, were another lap behind, and then came Spencer and Winter, Walthour and Deulberg, and the youthful Chicago team of Eddie Merkner and Mike Rodak.

Changes came often through the night of hard riding, with teams lower in the standings pulling up rapidly. For more than an hour, jam followed jam, with hardly enough letup for a rider to stop at his bunk. By some brilliant racing, Horder and Horan and McNamara and Belloni drove their wheels so speedily they moved up to make the standing a three-way tie for the lead with DeBaets and Beckman.

Fall Prevents 5 Way Tie.

Walthour and Duelberg, who had been two laps back, made up a lap on the leaders, while Spencer and Winter held their pace, leaving these two teams tied for second, a lap in arrears. Both of them got away perfectly shortly before the sprints and had gained three-quarters of the lap that would have meant a five-way tie for the lead when Norman Hill blew a tire, temporarily halting the jamming.

Then, with three tied, McNamara and Belloni rode rings around the field to take a lap lead, but it didn't last more than a couple of minutes. DeBaets and Beckman started a jam in the eighth sprint and got a lap themselves to pull up into another tie. Then De Baets started another jam just after the riders had settled down and, along with Beckman, gained another lap to lead the field again. Horder and Horan had raced around with them.

Beloit Fairies Rally to Beat Joliet Five, 28 to 21

Beloit, Wis., Feb. 13.—[Special.]—Led by Bill Edwards and Bill Dowd the Beloit Fairies rallied to defeat the Joliet, Ill., Marmon-Roosevelts, 28 to 21, here tonight. The visitors led all the way until the fourth quarter. Krisenky played a brilliant game for the losers.

Bruins Lose to Paterson Five, 20 to 18

Paterson, N. J., Feb. 13.—(AP)—The Paterson Crescents broke their eight game losing streak here this evening by coming from behind to defeat the Chicago Bruins, 20 to 18, in an American league basketball game. Chicago led, 12 to 7, at half time and remained out in front until the last five minutes of play when Grody's field goal knotted the count at 16 all. Bollerman's shot put the Crescents ahead but Nat Holman evened matters again. One minute before the end of the game Roxbury sank a basket to decide the game. Lineup:

MARSHALL HANDS CRANE QUINTETS DOUBLE DEFEAT

Marshall heavies staged an upset in the west section of the City league yesterday by defeating Crane, 18 to 15, on the former's floor. It was the league champions' second defeat of the season and by virtue of it Harrison took the sectional lead. Marshall lightweights, leading the west division, made it a pair for the day, but were pressed to win, 24 to 20.

Rosen led the Marshall heavies attack with three baskets and three free throws, while Gruenig featured for the losers with nine points. Capt. Kleinberg's five baskets featured in the lights' victory, while Capt. Newman scored 12 points for Crane.

LOYOLA LOSES THIRD GAME ON ROAD TO DUKE

Durham, N. C., Feb. 13.—(AP)—Loyola university of Chicago tonight suffered its third defeat during its eastern basketball invasion, losing to Duke university, 30 to 27. Capt. Charlie Murphy of Loyola was high scorer, with eight field goals and two foul goals. Lineup:

FANS ACCLAIM GOLD COASTERS AS GAME LADS

Tribune Battlers Give and Take.

Fight Again Tonight

THIRTY-TWO boys who will qualify from the north side for the Golden Gloves finals at the Coliseum Feb. 25, 26, 27, and 28, will be picked tonight at the Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. Fights in all classes are scheduled, with the first starting at 8 o'clock.

BY FRENCH LANE.

There are not many drug store cowboys on the Gold Coast nor along the rich north shore territory.

The Golden Gloves north section preliminaries at the Fronton proved it last night. The Gold Coasters fought like the boys did on the west side. They knocked each other out. They slammed each other on the chin. And they painted black streaks around one another's eyes.

They fought so furiously 2,500 spectators were on their feet cheering most of the time during a three hour session. Boys from Highland Park, from Gray's Lake, a great team from the Belle Plaine Athletic club, and a few lads from Racine, Kenosha, Milwaukee, and Beloit were in the struggle fighting their way toward THE TRIBUNE'S Golden Gloves.

West Siders Scout Battles.

They fought so furiously they frequently dropped over in their tracks when they missed a punch. And they hit so hard there was no doubt about the result when a knockout punch went over. The lad who took it was on his back and he was counted out.

Many west siders were in the audience. They had watched the west side Golden Glove aspirants battle for two nights. Yet they journeyed across town to see how their boys might stack up against the north section leaders.

How do the west side boys compare with the Gold Coasters? Not much difference. West siders and Gold Coasters are game. Most of them know how to punch. The north side fighters were American born boys. On the west side it was a cosmopolitan crowd.

Harris Carries a Punch.

The Gray's Lake boys fought nobly. The first to appear was Howard Craft, and his opponent was Melvin Mullins. The latter was almost as tough as Moon Mullins. They stood toe to toe and punched away at each other. Craft had the better of it for two rounds. Then, in an exciting exchange of blows, Craft hit Mullins below the belt, and the decision went to the latter on a foul.

A few minutes later along came Paul Harris, from Gray's Lake, who squared away against Edmund Sochacki of the Laramie Braves. The Gray's Lake boy looked something like the late Senator Bob La Follette of Wisconsin, and what a chin sharpshooter he turned out to be! He scored in the second round. There was no fluke about this knockout. It landed right on Sochacki's chin. Sochacki went up in the air and alighted squarely on his back. He didn't know what had happened until he was counted out.

On the fringe of the crowd James Mullen, the promoter, was encountered. There was a wistful look in his eye. Maybe he had counted the house. Maybe he had been looking at the boys as they whaled away at each other.

"Did you ever see such fighting?" asked the promoter who once threatened to rival the late Tex Rickard.

"Well, if you have, I never did," continued Mullen. That's about the whole story of the north section Golden Gloves preliminaries.

Show Thrills Fans.

The Gold Coasters didn't seem to know all the fine points about boxing that the boys on the west side do. But how the Gold Coasters can hit! And how they can take it! They had to be knocked flat before they conceded defeat.

The opening night fans went home talking to themselves. They had witnessed everything there was to see in a boxing way. They watched a husky red haired kid who, if he had

Did Goldblatt Win? O, Goodie, Says Girl Friend

South Bend may boast its James Lamberson, who entered the Golden Gloves contest and won for his lady love, but the west side sectional tournament also had its Romeo.

Several nights ago a feminine voice greeted a young man in THE TRIBUNE sports department as he answered the telephone.

"Can you tell me the result of the Benny Goldblatt fight?" was the query.

"He won, Mrs. Goldblatt," said the young man.

"He's not my son," replied the happy girl. "He's my boy friend, and it's a good thing he won. If he lost I'd be looking for a new sweetie."

been wearing a Windsor tie, might have been mistaken for a famous artist.

The lad with bushy red locks untossed a series of uppercuts that eventually cut down his opponent. He won the first bout on the program. His name was Willie Capitano. So it went all night long. Boys who hardly seemed able to defend themselves brought knockout blows into action and had their hands lifted in victory.

BENTON HARBOR BOUTS

Benton Harbor, Mich., Feb. 13.—[Special.]—Before a packed house of more than 500 fans, the semi-finals of the News Palladium—CHICAGO TRIBUNE Golden Gloves amateur boxing tournament was run off here tonight.

The lightweight bout between Gordon Jeffrey and Don Miller, both of Benton Harbor, was the most hotly contested. Jeffrey built up a big lead in the first two rounds, but Miller came back strong in the final round and all but floored Jeffrey. The judges awarded the decision to Jeffrey amid a chorus of boos. Summaries:

Lightweight—Gordon Jeffrey, Benton Harbor, beat Don Miller, Benton Harbor [3]; Joe O'Signae, Benton Harbor, beat Clyde Carnegie, Benton Harbor [2].

Bantamweight—Lawrence Krieger, Benton Harbor, beat Wilford Harmon Benton Harbor [4].

Light heavyweight—Claude Pangborn, St. Joseph stopped Bobby Brady, St. Joseph [3]; Hans Jeschke, St. Joseph, beat Bob Whitney, Benton Harbor [3].

Middleweight—Bill Pike, Benton Harbor, beat Ray Parker, Benton Harbor [3].

Welterweight—Frank Priebe, Benton Harbor, forfeited to Ralph Carnegie, Benton Harbor.

OSHKOSH TOURNEY

Oshkosh, Wis., Feb. 13.—[Special.]—An amateur boxing show was staged by the Eagles here tonight to pick a team for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S Golden Gloves tournament. Though the state boxing commission refused to sanction sectional tryouts, a special commission is to name the best man for the Chicago bouts.

Knocking down his opponent for a two count just before the bell ended the extra round, Charles Michello, Milwaukee 147 pounder, won from Hans Ahl in the best bout of the evening. Ahl had the round won until Michello connected.

Joe Bibel, Oshkosh, 121 pounds, beat Tony Bruno, Milwaukee [3].

Harvey Westphal, Oshkosh, 132 pounds, stopped Red Pensenstadler, Oshkosh [2].

Ed Kubsta, Oshkosh [3].

Bill Schutten, Oshkosh, 164 pounds, stopped Ed Peppler, Oshkosh [3].

Gordon Lea, Oshkosh, 148 pounds, stopped Russell Spoll, Oshkosh [1].

Hawks Play Exhibition at Minneapolis

Hockey Scores

Montreal Maroons, 6; Detroit, 3 [overtime].
New York Rangers, 4; Pittsburgh, 1.
Ottawa, 4; Les Canadiens, 4.

Though the Chicago Blackhawks haven't another hockey league game until Sunday night, they'll get in a bit of practice tonight by playing an exhibition against the Minneapolis Millers of the American association at Minneapolis. Advent of the six day bicycle race forced the Hawks to postpone two games this week, and Manager Bill Tobin took the team to Minneapolis, where ice isn't so scarce, to keep in condition.

After their ten day rest the Hawks play four games in eight days, starting Sunday night, all on their home ice at the Stadium. Sunday night Les Canadiens invade Chicago for the fourth and last game of the season's series between the two teams. The Hawks have lost two games and tied one with the Flying Frenchmen, but every one of the three games went into overtime. Tuesday the New York Americans play at the Stadium. Thursday the Ottawa Senators are the Hawks' opponents, and the next Sunday finds the Detroit Cougars here.

Practically certain of a place in the playoffs, the Hawks' chances of finishing in second place are growing brighter. While the Rangers broke their tie with the Hawks for second place and dropped them to third by last night's game, the Rangers have only ten more games in which to score points, while the Hawks have 13 games yet to play.

Another pleasant angle from the Hawks' standpoint is the return of Earl Miller, big wing, who was forced out early in January with a broken collar bone.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

THAT IOWA CASE.

NOW comes a charge that poor, abused Iowa, self-styled victim of Big Ten hypocrisy and double dealing, really outsmarted in the final stages the learned and dignified professors of the faculty committee which restored the Hawkeyes to good standing—minus nearly all their outstanding athletes. We have tried to be neutral in the affair, with a confessed sympathy for the Iowa case. We still think that if Iowa be taken back into the fold, as it has been, that these suspended athletes also should be restored, if their only offense was borrowing piffling amounts from the so-called unofficial loan fund.

Therefore what follows should be regarded, not as our view, but what was told us. Here is the yarn from an "inside" conference source:

"Iowa was guilty of improper practices in its athletic policy. This has no reference to whether or not other colleges were guilty. Pass over the original conference action and rejection of the first plea for reinstatement.

"Then we come down to the visit of a committee of investigation. Iowa diplomacy scored such a victory as the British are scoring over the trusting American delegates to the naval parley. Asserting they know nothing of the sins of former administrations, athletic officials based their case on the so-called Belting loan fund and made that the paramount issue. The professors were maneuvered into that position. Of course that fund is no more, hence Iowa's restoration to good standing.

"I do not say Iowa should not come back, but the Big Ten is made to look bad. There were just reasons for the original action against Iowa. Those reasons should have been explained to the public. Instead this relatively unimportant loan fund gets all the fireworks. And the professors make their position unpopular and estrange public sympathy by telling Iowa not to ask reinstatement of athletes who are, at worst, under the facts as stated, only technical offenders.

"It was Iowa, not the conference, which declared these athletes ineligible, sacrificing them for the 'general good.' That hardly seems fair to the boys, since Iowa athletic authorities of that period authorized those loans. The professors, if willing to accept Iowa, should have reinstated the boys for the 'general good.' I hope they yet will do so. If they have other damaging evidence, it should be made public. As matters now stand, the conference 'looks bad,' unjustly, in my opinion."

Grace to Miss Catalina Trip; Sent to Minors

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Just as Earl Grace was packing up in anticipation of several weeks of good feed and short working hours on Catalina island he was given some bad news. Notice went to him yesterday that he should abandon the idea of winning a catching job with the Cubs and instead report back to the Reading International league team. That's where he was last season. This release was under option, so Grace can be brought back if his 1930 labors warrant.

EARL GRACE.

According to President Veeck, Grace's name will be the last to be erased from the Cub roster until spring training activities are almost over. Several players—notably Charley Tolson and Bob Osborn—already are slated for shipment, but they will be retained until the Cubs find suitable spots in which to plant them. A number of minor league clubs have been seeking Tolson, but he will go only to a team that can give the Cubs a promising player for future delivery.

Grace's shipment to the Reading farm leaves the Cubs somewhat pressed for men to assist in the daily training job of warming up 15 hurlers. Three backstops, Hartnett, Taylor, and Schuite, survive, so Coach Schalk will be drafted for an active rôle at Catalina.

Albert Shealy, once with the Yanks, who is listed among the Cubs' 1930 pitching crop, will go back to the St. Paul club if the Cubs are unable to use him. He was drafted from the Saints, and the latter club has put in a bid for his return. Under baseball law he cannot be sent to any other minor league team.

Get-away of the first White Sox squad tomorrow noon on the Alton limited will be mainly a matter of newspaper men, club officials, and camp followers. Athletes will be scarce. Only eight have been discovered with a wish to start from Chicago instead of going direct from their homes. The eight will be made up of Manager Bush, Coach Kelly, Pitchers Welland, Ed Walsh Jr., Byrne, and McCarthy, Catcher Crouse, and Shortstop Cissell.

Cissell was added to the advance squad for two reasons. He wants to get started as soon as possible, and Manager Bush figured it might not be a bad idea to have the young man around for an extra ten days. Bush knows a few things about infielding and may be able to give Cissell some private tutoring before the training field becomes cluttered up with the main squad.

Faber and the two McKain boys originally were ticketed to leave tomorrow, but suddenly decided they'd drive down to San Antonio. They will be there before their fellow athletes arrive Sunday night.

Others leaving tomorrow are Mr. and Mrs. Lou Comiskey and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grabiner, Mr. and Mrs. Menz Rosenbaum, Mrs. Edward Evans, Max Alexander, the big meat man; Secretary Lou Barbour, Trainer Buckner, and Eph Cooledge, the clubhouse boy.

Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, returned yesterday from three weeks' vacation in Miami, Fla.

In New York SPIT is a horrid word, but it is worse on the end of your cigar

... the war against Spitting is a crusade of decency ... join it. Smoke CERTIFIED CREMO!

Do you remember the old, filthy cigar shop where the man in the window rolled the leaves with dirty fingers ... and spit on the ends? More than half of all cigars made in this country are still made by hand, and therefore subject to the risk of spit! The modern CREMO METHOD of manufacture protects you against this abomination—gives you the finest cigar quality plus the cleanliness of Certified food!

CKER GOES ON TO JAUNT IN ORIDA SWAMPS

ds Robins Training for Worm Digging.

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ts Gorda, Fla., Feb. 13.—A small automobile with a long handled and an ax tied to the running eased off the Tamiami trail twelve miles from this town. The car skidded down the shoulder of the road, struggled the ditch, and then was steered an open swale or dry slough d a long cabbage palm hummock of the paved road.

s was our start for a sightseeing through one of the most interesting parts of southwest Florida that ave ever seen. It was a bumpy slow ride right through a country practically roadless and it took raight into birdland.

An Endless Chain.

h the little car growling along ond gear, we cruised through a ngly endless chain of sloughs meadows surrounded by hummocks and patches of pine woods. metimes we had to crash through ttos, and in some places it was ard work dodging logs and fallen But these obstacles were sided and only once did we have to the hurricane deck of our vehicle to help push it through a muddy For hours we rolled along as ent as an army tank, even h we rarely traveled more than rds in a straight line. And nary se or sign of habitation could be back there in the hinterland.

Robins Keep in Training.

thing that this trip definitely d is how the robins keep in ng for their annual worm digcontests in the north. The exwork which the redbreasts do on wns up north during the month rth has its foundation here. Yes- we surprised hundreds of these going through their setting up ses in the game of worm hunt-

ADVANCE OF N. Y. STOCKS BOOSTS BROKERS' LOANS

Amount of Gain Is 48 Millions.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Continuation of the upward movement in stock market prices in the last week resulted in another sizeable increase in brokers' loans according to the weekly report issued by the federal reserve board yesterday. The increase was $48,000,000 and brought the total up to $2,450,000,000, which, however, is still $2,118,000,000 below a year ago.

The fact that it was the third successive week to show expansion in speculative credit caused some misgivings. In this period brokers' loans have expanded $109,000,000, while they have risen $122,000,000 since the low point was reached on Dec. 24, following the collapse of the stock market in November. These factors inspired some comment that recent buying of stocks appears to have been largely by small speculators rather than investors and strong interests.

Funds Pour In.

On the other hand, there was the argument that speculative credit previously had been so thoroughly deflated that the recent expansion is almost negligible. The total of brokers' loans still is only a little more than half of the peak total of $6,804,000,000, which was reached on Oct. 2, 1929, just before the stock market started its decline.

Funds poured into the call money market by the interior banks, in spite of the relatively low 4 and 4½ per cent rates, were entirely responsible for the increase in brokers' loans. These banks furnished an additional $42,000,000, although they still are lending $870,000,000 less than a year ago. The New York banks reduced their own loans by $4,000,000 and are furnishing $175,000,000 less than a year ago. Corporations and other lenders withdrew $11,000,000 and their lendings are $1,076,000,000 under a year ago.

With the general reduction in rediscount rates last week, it appears that the federal reserve banks are satisfied that credit conditions are easy enough for the present. The weekly report for the reserve system, issued last night, shows no further effort to make credit cheaper. In fact, the reserve banks reduced their holdings of bankers' acceptances by $19,707,000 and made little change in their holdings of government securities.

Member Bank Borrowings.

Borrowings by the member banks also showed little change, with the total now standing at $381,914,000. Deposits also held about steady and note circulation receded $1,037,000. Gold and total reserves declined $1,585,000 and $2,978,000, respectively, and the ratio of reserves to liabilities eased to 77.9 per cent, compared with 78 per cent last week.

The New York reserve bank made no change in its 4 per cent rediscount rate. Its report showed an increase of $24,578,000 in member bank borrowings, which now total $79,298,000. Bankers' acceptances declined $19,872,000. Deposits receded $14,501,000. Reserves declined $21,662,000 and the reserve ratio sagged to 76.1 per cent, compared with 76.5 per cent a week ago.

At Chicago, member bank borrowings declined $8,859,000, bringing the total down to $65,939,000. Bankers' acceptances receded $1,246,000. Deposits fell $7,986,000. Reserves increased $4,116,000 and the reserve ratio rose to 79.8 per cent, compared with 78.5 per cent a week ago.

The international gold movement for the week ended Wednesday reflected stabilization. Imports were only $92,000, while there were no exports and no net change in gold earmarked for foreign account. However, a shipment of $5,110,000 was received yesterday from Brazil.

Scrutator Cites Changing Trend of World Commerce

BY SCRUTATOR.

Foreign trade statistics for 1929, as issued by the department of commerce, show a continued trend toward increase of finished manufactures exported and a decline of crude materials and crude foodstuffs sent to other countries.

This serves to emphasize the often noted phenomenon that competition in the present economic setup of the world is easier for Americans in lines that are based on industrial management and highly proficient labor. It is most difficult in raw materials and in the cruder foodstuffs and fibers.

It may not be going too far to theorize that money is easier to make the world over by giving highly specialized services than by producing the basic stuffs to which these services are applied.

Increase 12 Per Cent.

The figures given for exports last year total little less than five and a quarter billion dollars, an increase of 2.2 per cent over 1928, and larger than any previous year except the period of war and post-war demand for our goods, from 1916 to 1920. Sales of finished manufactures were approximately half the exports. They increased by 272 million dollars over the previous year, or by 12 per cent.

Imports reached the impressive total of $4,400,000,000, greater by 309 millions than the 1928 intake of foreign goods. Actually we brought in a much larger amount by pounds or tons. The figures are in dollars. Because there was an important fall in the prices of nearly all the important imports, the United States really imported 15 per cent more last year than in 1928, although the dollar figures gained only 7½ per cent.

Among the commodities in which the price slumps occurred were sugar, coffee, cocoa, rubber, hides and skins and tin. As the general price level of our exports remained about the same over the last three years, it would seem that Americans are getting better bargains in their foreign trade than they did in past times.

There is evidence in the statistics that other countries, particularly in Europe, are recovering from the after war depression. Their purchases of machinery exceeded those of 1928 by 115 millions, while the automobile demand was greater by thirty-nine millions. On the other hand, cotton exports fell off 150 million dollars, or 13 per cent in quantity, and grains 24 per cent from the 1928 figure.

Europe Changes Policy.

Europe made its drive for manufacturing supremacy years ago. It took crude stuffs from all parts of the world, changed them into goods that had a direct want filling appeal and prospered in doing so. Tariff policies and the gospel of efficiency brought American industry to a point where it surpassed the workshops abroad. It is striking that Europe, having found this out, has gone back to competing in the production of raw materials.

Herein lies one of the big facts behind the farm situation in America. There are indications that Europe as a whole—the British Isles can't do it very well after centuries as a trading and manufacturing region—will import less of its food. There are indications that it will continue to take more of manufactures. The tendency is to have raw materials, where possible, produced at home and consumed there, and for the progressive nations to sell their highly fabricated goods abroad.

WILL MEET TO FORM LIVE STOCK MARKET AGENCY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 13.—(AP)—C. B. Denman, representative of the live stock industry on the federal farm board, announced today that leaders of cooperative live stock associations would meet in Chicago on Feb. 25 and 26 to complete the organization of a central marketing agency.

Twenty-nine cooperative sales agencies representing 700,000 members plan to pool a $300,000,000 business and bargaining power into a national marketing organization, he said. The organization would have subsidiary corporations owned by its member agencies.

Canadian Pacific Plans to Spend $50,000,000

New York, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The Canadian Pacific railway plans to spend more than $50,000,000 during the current year on new equipment, branch line construction and on improvements to its present equipment and road bed. New equipment ordered, or to be ordered, will cost nearly $15,000,000, while $3,500,000 is to be spent on the company's hotels, and $3,000,000 on improving and extending its telegraph system.

Chrysler Corp. Reports Net Income of $21,902,168

New York, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Chrysler corporation today reported net earnings of $21,902,168 for the year ended Dec. 31, 1929, as compared with $30,991,795 for the previous year.

Of last year's earnings, cash dividends paid on common stocks aggregated $13,335,764, as compared with $10,705,312 for 1928. Net sales for 1929 were $375,033,455, while the 1928 sales totaled $315,304,817.

Current Assets.

Total current assets on Dec. 31, 1929, were $90,312,898, of which $38,707,547 represented cash and marketable securities. The ratio of total current assets to total current liabilities, of $18,927,720, was $4.77 to 1. These figures compare with total current assets of $110,516,603 on Dec. 31, 1928, with $53,269,993 in cash and marketable securities. Current liabilities for 1928 were $32,673,445.

At a meeting of the board of directors today Chrysler corporation declared the regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents per share payable March 31 to stockholders of record March 3. Byron Foy, vice president of the corporation, was elected a director to succeed W. F. Kenny, who resigned.

Continental Can Net.

The annual report of Continental Can, Inc., showed net earnings for the year ending last Dec. 31 of $8,967,703, after depreciation, taxes, and all other charges. The earnings were equivalent after preferred dividends to $5.02 a share on 1,725,045 no par common shares outstanding at the end of the year. This compared with $6,630,796, or $4.35 a share on 1,459,391 common shares outstanding at the end of 1928.

Difficulties in the oil industry last year resulted in a loss of $1,136,627 for the Producers and Refiners corporation, according to the annual report. The net loss was after charging off $3,451,294 for depreciation, deflation, and intangible development costs. The balance sheet as of Dec. 31, 1929, shows a deficit of $23,553,903. Current assets are $3,696,869 and current liabilities $12,889,944. The book value of the $50 par value common stock figures slightly less than $19 a share.

GAS APPLIANCES MUST ATTRACT, INSULL JR. SAYS

Samuel Insull Jr., son of Chicago's electric power magnate, told delegates to the regional gas sales conference in the Hotel Sherman yesterday how to meet competition from electric utilities. The junior Insull is head of the Midland United company, a gas utility.

In former years, he pointed out, the gas industry enjoyed a monopoly, since it was the best available utility for cooking and house lighting. Salesmen needed only to demonstrate the practicability of gas appliances to create a market.

Under present competitive conditions, with electricity making heavy inroads on the former gas monopoly, gas appliances must be sold not only on the basis of practicability but for attractiveness as well. Gas appliances must be made so attractive that the housewife would rather stay home and cook than go to a restaurant.

New York, Feb. 13.—They took the shorts over the bumps on the stock exchange once more today. Except for a few weak spots, the bull forces were in complete control of the situation and boomed many of their favorites, including United States Steel, American Can and Consolidated Gas, to new peaks for the year. Gains on the session amounted to around two points on the average for active shares with the inevitable baker's dozen or so of sensational movers shooting ahead for three or four times as much.

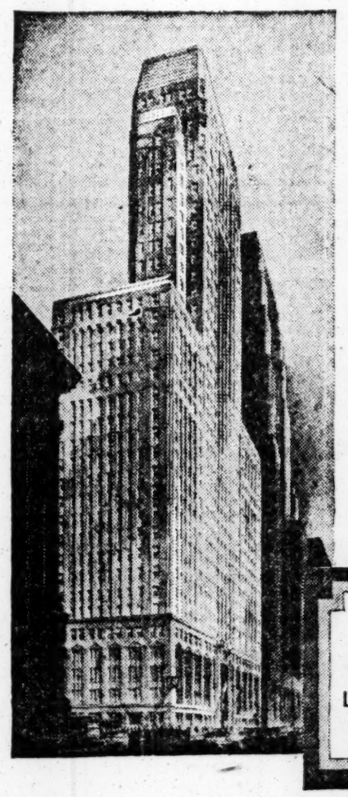
...a PRINCIPLE of ours for 68 years



SINCE 1862 . . . we've built on the principle that real friendship has a place in business and finance.

And upon this principle we have been privileged to grow and prosper.

We have sought always to merit the confidence of our friends. For in no business is confidence more to be desired and valued . . . than in this one.

Today . . . we welcome you to an even greater banking institution. Outwardly, a new appearance greets you—yet inwardly, the same spirit prevails.

To sacrifice the genuine pleasure we find in making steadfast, lifelong friends, merely for the achievement of great physical size, would be to forsake the principles upon which we have built these last 68 years.

U. S. GYPSUM SHARES EASE ON DROP IN INCOME

Chicago List as a Whole Shows Firmness.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The common stock of the United States Gypsum company dropped to 47½ yesterday on the Chicago exchange, closing with a net loss of slightly more than a point following the release of the annual report of the company showing a decline in net profits during 1929 of $929,331 from the previous year. The list as a whole was firm, with few important price changes recorded.

In his report to the stockholders of the Gypsum company, President Sewell L. Avery said: "For many years the company showing a decline in net fringement of its wallboard patents and has incurred the expense of litigation in their defense. During the year these conditions have been corrected by arrangements for the payment to us of damages suffered and through the granting of licenses under royalty.

Decline in Building.

"The benefits expected from an improvement in market conditions occurring in the middle of the year were offset by the drastic decline in building, which was first felt in August. While improvement is confidently expected, it is obvious that in the cities, in divisions important to our business, building has exceeded the present demand.

"Disclaiming ability to foretell the next year's developments at this time, it may be fairly stated that the general feeling of the organization is that we shall have in 1930 a satisfactory and better year."

Net income for the fiscal year ended Dec. 31 amounted to $5,102,304, compared to $6,046,260 in 1928. The 1929 is equal, after preferred dividends, to $3.98 a share on the common stock outstanding at the end of the year and $5.33 a share on the average number of shares outstanding during the year. In 1928 earnings were equal to $7.22 a share on the common stock then outstanding.

Current assets as of Dec. 31 are carried on the balance sheet as $14,284,956, as against current liabilities of $1,734,446. Total assets are listed at $64,384,682. Surplus at the end of the year was $30,684,764, compared to $27,193,273 at the end of 1928, an increase of $3,491,114.

Utilities Advance.

The utilities were given a whirl in yesterday's market. Midland United and Central and Southwest finished up 1⅞ and 1, respectively. Both issues were heavily traded in. Middle West, on sales of about 50,000 shares, gained a fraction. Among the specialties, Addressograph was up 2 points and Parker Pen 1½. Yates American Machine improved an even point. Kalamazoo Stove declined about a point.

Net profit of the Zenith Radio corporation for January was $57,502, against a net loss of $27,273 in the previous year. The number of sets shipped in January was almost three times as many as a year ago, the company reports.

Ludlow Typograph Co. Profits Best in History

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Ludlow Typograph company, President William A. Reade announced that both total sales and total profits for the year 1929 were the highest in the history of the company and that net profits after taxes amounted to $503,808.56.

After preferred dividends, this amounted to $19.21 per share of no par common stock outstanding on Dec. 31, 1929, and compares with profits for 1928 amounting to $451,768.84, or $16.76 per share for the same number of shares of no par common stock outstanding on Dec. 31, 1928. Directors have declared the following dividends: Upon the preferred stock, the regular 1¾ per cent; upon the no par common stock, the regular quarterly 50 cents per share and an extra of 25 cents per share.

STOCKHOLDERS OF FOX FILM TO VOTE ON PLAN OF RECAPITALIZATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 13.—(AP)—In an effort to avoid placing the Fox Film corporation in receivership, Federal Judge Frank J. Coleman decided today to submit a recapitalization plan which has the approval of William Fox, the president, to the stockholders for a decision.

Pending the action, Judge Coleman adjourned the receivership hearing, which was resumed this afternoon in a heated session marked by protests of the two principal creditors and some minority stockholders.

The stockholders will vote on whether they will accept a plan to issue $65,000,000 worth of securities through a banking syndicate to solve the financial crisis precipitated by the stock market crash. The stock debacle thwarted Mr. Fox' plan of new financing to meet short term obligations.

Judge Coleman said that it is up to the stockholders to decide whether they will accept the plan. If it is rejected he will be glad to consider any other proposition that will obviate a receivership, but he said he was dubious of such a prospect. The plan is submitted without recommendation from him and the receivership hearing will be resumed ten days after the stockholders' meeting, the date of which has not yet been set.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Unfinished cotton goods were more active with print cloths and sheetings from ⅛@¼c a yard higher on sales in excess of production for the week. Fine goods buying increased. Raw silk was unchanged. Finished lines in silk, rayon and cotton affected by the garment strike, showed strength on news of a settlement.

EARLY WHEAT BUYERS TURN TO SELLING SIDE

Closing Quotations Show 1-8@1-2 Cent Loss.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

The wheat market continues to fluctuate in an erratic manner, advancing 1¼c early yesterday to $1.24½ for May on buying induced by a statement made at Minneapolis on Wednesday by a member of the Farmers' National Grain corporation to the effect that the farm board's loan figure of $1.25 for No. 1 northern at that market should be regarded as the minimum price based on known conditions.

Commission houses and locals bought, but the demand flattened out, and early buyers turned to the selling sides, causing a break of 1¼@1¾c from the top, with the finish ⅛@½c lower, March bein $1.18⅞ and May $1.22⅞@1.23.

Winnipeg more than lost Wednesday's advance, that market being open when Chicago was closed, and finished ⅜c lower than on Tuesday, while Liverpool was easy due to exports of 1,096,000 bu from Russia for the week and on fears of March liquidation, but rallied with the early strength in North America and closed ⅝@1d higher than Tuesday. Buenos Aires was ⅝@1⅝c lower than on Tuesday.

Wheat Sentiment Mixed.

While the forecast was for generally fair and colder weather over the winter wheat belt and the trade were rather apprehensive of damage, there was nothing in the day's news to indicate that any damage of consequence had occurred so far.

The main drawback to the bull side at the present time is the almost utter lack of foreign demand for either American or Canadian grain, with sales of 300,000 bu estimated in all positions. Elevator interests bought May wheat at Minneapolis, but were inclined to back away from cash grain with some grades quoted 1@2c lower as compared with the futures. Buenos Aires March wheat was 8¾c under Chicago at the last, while May wheat at Liverpool was within only 5⅝c over the same month in Chicago. Foreign crop comments were generally favorable, with better weather conditions in France.

Corn Eases Quickly.

There was scattered selling of corn throughout the day due to favorable weather for the movement and reports of increased country offerings. Commission house and local buying was less aggressive than of late, despite rumors that a leading statistician was coming out with a bullish report, and the close was ½@1⅛c lower, with March 88c and May 91⅝@91¾c.

Omaha reported Nebraska selling cash corn rather freely, and purchases of 42,000 bu were made by local handlers. The spot basis, however, was unchanged to 2c higher, with the poorer kinds showing the most strength. Argentine exportable surplus is estimated at 265,000,000 to 315,000,000 bu from the new crop. The new import duty as approved by both the house and senate on corn is 25c per bu, or 10c above the present basis.

PROVISION TRADE LIGHT

Selling of lard yesterday was mainly by packers hedging, while the buying was moderate and the trade in all not heavy. Prices had a narrow range and futures closed 2½c lower. Hogs were firm to 10c higher, and at a new top, $11.35. Liverpool was 6d higher on spot and unchanged to 3d higher on futures as compared with Tuesday. There were no export clearances of lard, and of bacon there were 336,380 lbs. Cash trade was fair. Bellies were handled sparingly at 5c advance. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Wheat traders are in a waiting mood, with a few inclined to extend operations on either side of the market. Trade has fallen off materially, it is said, but the market runs into support on breaks, there being a liberal accumulation, while bulges bring out increased offerings. A point was made by a close observer that the report on exports of wheat and flour for the week, due today, will show no clearances of American wheat, unless the grain cleared Thursday, there being no clearances up to that time.

With cash wheat prices in most markets above the government basis it is understood that the latter bought practically no wheat yesterday. Mills picked up the offerings in the northwest and southwest, as well as at Chicago.

Corn traders who have been active on the long side were credited with selling early yesterday, which attracted the attention of others, who unloaded. The market lacks general buying from the outside. Locally, sentiment was more mixed.

EGG MARKET EASIER

Liberal receipts for the last two days brought February egg futures down ⅝c or $45 a car on the Chicago mercantile exchange. Sales were 99 cars and receipts, 18,676 cases. Butter trading was light in view of an unsettled situation, with prices unchanged to ½c lower. Sales were 21 cars and receipts, 14,867 tubs. Prices follow:

—2500 people will pass these windows every hour——

When chain stores lease Main Street frontage, they stake thousands of dollars upon the ability of "location experts" to gauge future shopping habits. They know how many people will pass each hour . . . how many will enter . . . how many will actually buy.

Every day business men in all fields accurately forecast the distant tides of their own enterprises. Yet these business men often risk their personal fortunes by buying securities with only a hazy idea of future security trends.

Guess-work isn't necessary in the investment field today. Security price-trends, over a period, can be predicted with surprising accuracy.

Moody's Investors Service is doing this for its 18,000 clients, and for leading banks and investment bankers of the nation. This Service makes definite recommendations for the purchase and sale of specific issues . . . and year after year its advice has proved thoroughly sound and profitable in an overwhelming number of instances.

Simple or complex, your investment problems can be solved by one of the several different Moody's Services. A letter briefly outlining your present position will bring full information—without obligating you in any way.

And a new feeling of robust health beckon you to a winter vacation in this region of thermal waters and wholesome recreation in the sunshine.

NATURE'S SUPREME CURATIVE FOR RHEUMATISM, ETC.

Hot Springs' mineral waters are shown by U. S. Government reports to possess the highest percentage of medical properties of any thermal springs on this continent. Here, each year, comes a host of health seekers to find relief or outright cure from rheumatism, high blood pressure, neuritis, nicotine poisoning, la grippe, and kindred ailments. Here, too, Uncle Sam maintains his own Army and Navy Hospital where the record of rehabilitation is a striking testimonial to the effectiveness of these curative waters.

U. S. GOVERNMENT SUPERVISES THESE SPLENDID BATH HOUSES

Bath House Row at Hot Springs comprises a group of health building institutions which are admittedly the most complete and efficient of any in the world. Each bath house draws its waters from Hot Springs Mountain under special lease with the U. S. Govt. which owns the waters and supervises the operation of all bath houses.

The Ace of Spades

By WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Jim Rutledge, accompanied by Sim Hart, is sent out with a herd of cattle to fulfill contracts made by his father, Chandler Rutledge. On the trail they are overtaken by men from the Moss outfit, enemies of Rutledge. The Moss men start a stampede and drive off scores of the Rutledge cattle. Jim recovers them, but in doing so shoots and kills one of the Moss raiders. The men of the Moss outfit swear to be revenged on Jim Rutledge and pursue him. Jim takes refuge in a ranch house, where he finds Ellen Lawson alone in the house. She hides him when the Moss gang comes to the house looking for him and sends them off on another trail, even though she learns that he has killed her brother. Jim rides on into the town after saving Ellen from the unwelcome attentions of Sam Moss. Shear, the town marshal, threatens to arrest him for the killing of Steve Lawson, but Harrison Pendleton, an old trail driver, arrives on the scene just in time to save him from arrest. Shortly afterwards Shear kills Doc Brown, whom he had previously had threatened his life. This causes a great deal of excitement in the little cattle town. Jim goes into the local gambling den and is astonished to find Ellen Lawson there. He is sure she has come to speak to her brother Steve. Jim guides her to the door at the end of the room, where Steve is sitting in a game of poker with Shear and Buck Thorne and others. As they reach the table the lights go out and when the room is again lighted Shear is found crumpled in his chair dead with Jim's knife sticking in him. Jim's right hand is covered with blood and there are three finger marks on Jim's neck where Ellen had grabbed him in the dark. She had become separated from him and thinking he had killed her. She had put her hand out for support and it had touched the dead man's face. They are both questioned by the sheriff, Manders.

INSTALLMENT XVII

DETAINED.

The sentence was never ended. The sheriff had Roe covered before the latter could fire.

"I'll take that pistol, Buck," he said quietly.

"Can't any man say what he did to me," Roe snarled. "I wouldn't take it from Grover Cleveland."

Yet, reluctantly, he gave up the revolver. Manders was no man to run against.

"I hope this bird gets off," Roe added, furiously. "I want him for my own meal."

"You may get your wish, Roe. Any one could have done this. There were a hundred men in the Longhorn when it took place. Joe Shear had more enemies than any man in the state. He had killed twenty-four men. And you reckon any of 'em left friends or relatives?"

"Oh"

The exclamation fell from the lips of Ellen. She had just remembered that within three days Shear had killed a man and served notice on his two partners to sell out inside of a week and leave town.

"How many of those friends an' relatives were in the Longhorn tonight, Buck?" Roe asked.

"I don't know, Buck. For the present we'll confine our inquiries to the present. You were sitting in the game all evening. Did you notice anything unusual before the cowboys shot out the lights?"

"Not a thing."

"Playing a big game, were you?"

"Pretty big. Draw. Table stakes."

The protruding eyes of Black had as much expression as two glass marbles

"How was the game going?"

"Shear was a big winner."

"How heavy a winner?"

"Over a thousand, I'd say."

"Who were the big losers?"

Roe nodded toward young Lawson. "The kid here."

"How much were you in?" Manders asked the redheaded lad.

"I reckon fourteen hundred—maybe more."

"Any other loser?" the sheriff asked Roe.

"Pete Moss was in two-three hundred."

"Any unpleasantness develop during the game?"

"No-o. There was a li'l argument about a pot. Pete thought Shear raised it too late."

"A big pot?"

"It ended up a big one."

"Who won it?"

"Shear. His ace full beat Pete's jack full."

"You were sitting on the right of the marshal. Did you notice anything unusual while the lights were out."

"Folks were crowdin' back of us. I heard Joe groan. Then the girl screamed. Nothing else."

"Never had a quarrel with Shear, did you?"

The answer drew a little laugh. "No, sir. I always figured Joe was a good man not to quarrel with."

Questioned by the sheriff, Pete Moss had very little to tell that threw light on the murder.

"What about the argument over the pot?" Manders asked.

"Nothing to that. I kicked on Joe backin' in after he had passed, but Shear talked it through. By rights it was my pot."

"Had a little trouble with Joe the other day in a restaurant, didn't you?"

"No trouble. Joe got a little annoyed at Sam an' me. We all laughed about it later."

The sheriff turned to another of the poker players. The man was dressed in a loud check suit. He had the cold, immobile face and the long, tapering fingers of a professional gambler.

"Anything interesting to tell us, Mr. Black?"

The man shook his head. "Nothing more than the others have told."

"You've been acquainted with Shear some time. Knew him at Newton, didn't you?"

The gambler's face was a blank. "Yes."

"Saw nothing suspicious tonight—that is, before the lights went out?"

"No."

"Ever hear anybody make threats against Shear?"

Black laughed. His laughter was metallic. "Folks didn't threaten him. He acted."

"I'll get a list of 'em later. Did you see any of his enemies in the hall tonight?"

The protruding eyes of Black had as much expression as two large glass marbles. "I never see anything that's liable to make trouble for me, Mr. Manders," he answered.

"Don't happen to be an enemy of his yourself, do you?" the sheriff asked incisively.

"I do not. I'm like Roe. I wouldn't be so careless in choosing an enemy."

Manders questioned each of the others present, but he elicited nothing that was of importance.

"You may go for tonight, all of your but Rutledge."

"Just a moment, sheriff," Jim said. "One thing isn't clear to me. Maybe some of these others here can help me out. The lights in the main hall were put out by the cowboys, but not the one in the alcove room. They weren't there when they could get at it. I'd turned to see what the disturbance was, so I didn't notice who fired the shot at the lamp in the little room."

"That's important," Manders agreed, looking around at the others. "Who put it out?"

"I didn't notice," Ellen said. "I was looking toward the front of the room, too."

Jim started to say something, but he changed his mind.

"Some of you must have noticed," Manders urged.

"Must have been the cowboys," said the brown faced cattle buyer. "I should have noticed if anybody in the room had fired."

Roe spoke. "Mr. Rutledge is right for once. It wasn't the cowboys."

"Who was it?" Manders asked.

"It was Mr. Rutledge himself. He didn't attend to that by deputy."

Jim's smile was a picture of ironic insolence. "Too bad you didn't think of that before I prompted you," he said, and at once handed his revolver to the sheriff. "Hasn't been fired, you'll notice."

"I've heard of two gun men," Roe jeered.

"And my other gun?"

"Passed it to one of yore pals probably."

"That's all now, gentlemen," the sheriff said. "I'll say good-night. Rutledge, you're going with me."

In a low voice the Texan made a request of the officer.

Manders hesitated. "What do you want to say to her?" he asked suspiciously.

"I'll say it before you."

"All right. Hop to it."

The sheriff beside him, Jim moved over to the spot where Ellen and her father were standing.

"Will you get a message to Harrison Pendleton for me right off?"

"Yes," she said.

"He's stayin' at the Trail's End hotel. Tell him what's happened tonight and ask him to go to the Green Parrot or send some responsible person there. I want him to check up on a man wearin' a pirate's costume—red turban, scarlet sash, blue pants, and black beard. Say I want to find out everything I can about him. I'll be much obliged."

Good morning!

Will the producers please give us more of William Collier Sr.

His presence in "Harmony at Home" which is "The Family Upstairs" as the screen prefers it, makes the picture rate high, despite the fact that the stage play has not grown in grace through the process of adaptation. Item: The family upstairs is no longer that; it is the family next door, for the Hallers of "Harmony at Home" live in a house instead of a flat.

Mr. Collier, head of the family, has just been made superintendent of the organization by which he has been employed for many years when the story opens. The news, which he had hoped to break, has been broadcast by a neighbor's boy, and when pop arrives to surprise his family, he discovers them ready to jump down his throat with congratulations. You feel very sorry for the chagrined pop at this juncture.

LACK of harmony in a home, where the members all genuinely love each other but work at cross purposes, furnishes the story's impetus. Chief sufferer is the gentle elder daughter, Louise, whose romance is all but shattered on the rocks of her mother's misguided devotion.

Mr. Collier, a joy every minute he's in evidence!, has splended support. Marguerite Churchill is extremely appealing as Louis, and Elizabeth Patterson handles the mother rôle as only she could. The picture has been ably directed in the main. There are a number of humorous situations and some to wring a tear from you.

In my opinion the film would have been better minus some additions that have been made to the original play. The dance hall scenes I thought banal and a bit tiresome. But, taken all in all, "Harmony at Home" is good entertainment, wearing a sheen cast by the work of that magnificent veteran of the stage, William Collier Sr.

BURTON HOLMES

All adults, and children aged eight years or more, will be fascinated by the travelogues being presented by Mr. Burton Holmes at Orchestra hall. The famous lecturer is just back from a tour of England, France and Germany, and has also a Mediterranean cruise and a journey through Venice and north Italy to tell you about. He illustrates his interesting descriptions with colored slides. Tonight and Saturday afternoon he will present London as he and the camera saw it. Next week he will gladly take you with him on a motor tour through France.

See you tomorrow.

British Methodists Hold Service in Wesley's Chapel

BRISTOL, England, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Methodists from all parts of England participated today in the reopening services of John Wesley's chapel at Broadmead, the first of the Wesleyan Methodist faith erected. The services celebrated the restoration of the chapel, and impressive evangelistic revival scenes were witnessed. It stands on the first plot of land that John Wesley bought and contains the pulpit from which the famous evangelist preached.

Private Funds Help City to Protect the Eyes of Children

Health department officials have accepted the aid of the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness to protect the sight of new born babies and school children. That was announced yesterday by Miss Audrey M. Hayden, executive secretary of the society. A nurse and a part time ophthalmologist have been retained to continue the work which the city council did not appropriate for in the 1930 budget.

"New born babies with sore eyes must be properly treated and a competent nurse with sufficient authority must check these cases thoroughly," Miss Hayden said. "In the schools examinations must be continued so youngsters with impaired vision may be given special instruction in the sight saving classes. There are nineteen of these classes in operation now."

"With the city in such a precarious financial condition that the services of these experts are no longer available, the society will carry on the work. The fight to reduce preventable blindness in Chicago has been successful, but if the bars were let let down now all of our work in the past will be undone."

Evanston Foes of Sunday Movies Unite to Keep That Ban

Opposition to the movement for Sunday movies in Evanston was organized last night at a meeting at the Evanston public library. There an executive committee of opponents met to have the question placed on the ballot at the municipal election on April 1. Edgar A. Rossiter, a civil engineer, was elected chairman of the committee, with Prof. A. J. Todd of Northwestern university and Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCullough, an attorney, vice chairmen.

The organization will attack the validity of signatures on the petition for a referendum in an effort to prevent a vote on the question. If that fails an educational campaign against Sunday movies will be conducted before the election.

Leaders of the organization claim every Protestant church and practically every civic organization in the city is represented on the committee.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

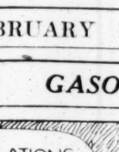
The Question.

How much should people have to pay for good liquor?

The Answers.

J. J. Didesch, 7209 Merrill avenue, accountant—I remember the time when I paid forty-five cents a pint for whisky. That was years ago. That was before I learned to appreciate good liquor. More recently I had a prescription filled for a pint and paid $7 for it, and it might have been good moonshine for all I know.

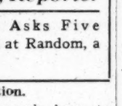
Mrs. Jesseca Patton, 110 East Oak street, housewife—My husband used to think a cocktail was very nice before dinner. If I remember correctly we paid around $1.50 a bottle for it. But I am satisfied with prohibition. There is more happiness. Many better things than liquor can be bought for the home—a radio, or something like that.



Murray MacLean, 746 Ridge avenue, Evanston, Ill., transport pilot—The price is too dear at any price. For instance, in aviation we cannot tolerate any one who is associated in any manner with liquor or the liquor traffic. However, since a bone dry condition is impossible, liquor sales should be under government control; then the prohibition situation would take care of itself.

Miss Rose Lish, 4826 Winthrop avenue, real estate saleswoman—I don't believe in liquor at all. We don't need it in any form, and we can get along very nicely, in fact, much better, without it. If any one wants it that's his or her business, but it only brings misery and crime, with much else that is not good for the individual or for society.

Bernard Ohrnstein, 730 Bankers building, collection correspondent—The government should provide places to obtain good liquor at a reasonable price, whatever that might be. It would appear to me that the government should use the drug stores for the distribution of a reasonable supply. The bootlegging business would then disappear.



"Golf Teaches Many Lessons," RockefellerSays

He Plays Well, and So Spreads Bright Dimes.

Ormond Beach, Fla., Feb. 13.—(AP)—Golf, one great leveler of American sport, brings recreation, enjoyment, and a real competitive thrill to John D. Rockefeller Sr.

"I get great lessons out of golf. Taking the conceit out of one is a good thing, and it does that," observed Mr. Rockefeller today. He spoke while playing his customary eight hole round on the links of the Ormond Beach Golf club. He had just played a good brassie shot from the edge of the rough on the third hole.

His carry-through was vigorous. The ball, well hit, sailed fully 150 yards, "straight as a gun," he remarked. He was delighted.

"It's all very enjoyable," he remarked a moment later, "when you get a good shot—and, you know, there is always a chance of doing so. That is what makes the game."

Playing the same ball alternately with Mrs. Walter Buvard of Linville, N. C., in the Scotch foursome manner, although the others of the group of five each played an individual ball, Mr. Rockefeller took his turn at the next tee, facing the rolling fairway of the 465 yard fourth hole. With an unusually slow and carefully timed backswing, he again hit straight and true.

Turning with a gleeful look, he said: "That was a good ball and I am proud of it. No false modesty there."

With a tournament in progress, his party was slightly delayed in getting off the first tee. Accepting this circumstance philosophically, he chatted with friends, shook hands with strangers, yielded to the pleas of amateur photographers, and distributed bright new dimes.

During the play the reward to his companions for a well played shot or a long putt was a shiny nickel.

Mr. Rockefeller, though he will be 91 years old on his next birthday, July 8, plays with vigor and enthusiasm. His hands are steady, he swings easily, and the results generally are good.

Gives Benefit Dance.

The Young Ladies' Philo-Musical Hellenic society will give a benefit dance this evening at the Medinah Athletic club.

THE STAGE

A NEW play bearing the title of "Elizabeth and Essex," will come to the Princess theater March 17, as a kind of highbrow postscript to the subscription season of the Dramatic league, which will end after four weeks of "Dear Old England." Subscribers' rights will not extend to this production, but the play is of a character which carries on the Dramatic league's policy.

Harry Wagstaffe Gribble is the author of this dramatic study of Queen Elizabeth's strange and tragic love affair with the brilliant, unfortunate Essex. That bit of history has been given an airing during the last year by the brilliant success of Strachey"s book on the subject, whose title parallels Gribble's. The play, however, goes back to three old English dramas for its material. Gribble dug them up out of the library of Restoration and Georgian dramatists, borrowed from their plots and situations, and clothed the melange with dialogue with a modern edge.

Thais Lawton will have the rôle of Elizabeth. Others in the cast are Verree Teasdale, Vivienne Osborn, Hugh Buckler, Murray Kinnell and Wilford Seagram. The play will have its trial performance in Wilmington, Del., early next week, then will head westward.

A play dealing with the Arnold Rothstein murder case, called "Room 349," was announced for production in New York yesterday. Inez Norton, who brought suit last month to collect a life insurance policy of $20,000 from Rothstein's estate, claiming that she had been engaged to marry the gambler, will have the leading rôle. She is a former "show girl." The play will give her the rôle of "the sweetheart of the king of the underworld." It was written by Mark Linder, and will be produced by Philip T. Rossiter.

The new personalities in the Stratford-upon-Avon company, which comes to the Garrick theater next week with a repertory of nine of Shakespeare's plays, are chiefly on the distaff side. The organization was not strong in its women last year, and reënforcements were needed.

One of these new actresses, now on her first American tour, has the attractive name of Fabia Drake. She will be the Beatrice in "Much Ado About Nothing," on the opening night. Her other major rôles are Lady Macbeth, Viola in "Twelfth Night," Mistress Page in "The Merry Wives of Windsor," the Queen in "Hamlet," and Hippolyta in "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Miss Drake joined the Stratford company after a series of successes on the London stage. She had leading rôles in "The Silver Cord," "Loyalties," "The Wrecker," "Escape," "The Lovelorn Lady," and "Young Love." She is said to be especially effective as Viola.

"To reduce theatrical gambling to a minimum" is the policy to which a new corporation, bearing the name of the Theatrical Industries, is pledged. Announcement of its formation was made in New York yesterday. The firm will act as a central financial organization for stage ventures, investing its funds in such productions as its technical staff considers promising.

G. S. Brooks is president, and Clarke Painter secretary. Its board of management is said to include these theatrical men: Earle Boothe, A. L. Jones, Johnn Tuerk, E. A. Blatt, Howard Schnabbe and Louis F. Werba. C. C.

Boy Scout Sponsors Add $69,000 for Four Year Campaign

A hard week's work on the part of business and professional men interested in the welfare of Chicago's boyhood brought $69,000 to the four year expansion fund of the Chicago Boy Scouts during the first week of the drive. That was announced yesterday at the first workers' report luncheon at the Union League club.

Those pledges added to $360,000 in preliminary gifts announced a week ago make a total of $429,000. The four year program calls for $1,250,000.

Silas H. Strawn, chairman of the campaign, reminded representatives from ten business and trade groups that "there is not a single movement in the city or in the country more deserving of your support or one that does more to create better citizens." George W. Rossetter presided.

Chicago Feels Spring Touch: Marbles Played

Colder Maybe Today, but Probably Bright.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Chicago has caught a whiff o spring these last two weeks—a prema ture breath of spring, so the weathe bureau says. No matter what ic blasts lie in wait for the city, the feel ing of spring is in the air.

Proof of it was found yesterday in th sight of boys with muddy knees play ing marbles on soggy schoolground of nursemaids sunning themselves an their young charges in the mornin sunshine in the parks, and girls rolle skating on newly dried sidewalks, hav ing abandoned their ice skates.

For the sober-minded folk wh haven't smelled spring when the stepped out of their doors these mor nings in February, here are some fac produced by the weather bureau: The has been 98 degrees' worth of accum lated excess warmth during the first days of this month as compared wit normal February weather. That mean that each day has averaged 8 degree higher in temperature than usual.

As for sunshine, five days durin this 12-day period have been abundan fairly reckless with it. On other da such as yesterday, the sun blazed for in the morning and hid itself in t afternoon.

A sharp drop in temperature w predicted, however, for Chicago t morning by Forecaster J. R. Lloyd his weather bulletin last night. T thermometer, which maintained mean of 34 degrees yesterday, wou be down between 18 and 20 degre this morning and would attain a pr able maximum of only 25 all day, predicted. A brisk northwest wi would keep the skies clear, Mr. Llo said. Tomorrow will be fair and c tinued cold, according to the foreca

In the loop during Chicago's a vance guard of spring have been se many new spring suits of tweed, na blue and lighter shades worn by t trepid women and girls anxious greet the spring. Many men w seen in topcoats instead of ulste and instead of clamping about galoshes the crowds were light foot once more.

A seed store clerk confided that was getting serious, the matter these men and women who insisted buying seed so early. "I tell 'em t it's too early to plant seed, but t won't listen. 'Why, it's so warm I j know they'll come up fine,' they s What can I do?" he sighed. "I just hoping for a snowstorm in or that these early planters will be c couraged. Otherwise their garde won't be anything at all."

Searching for a sight of somethi vernal, I boarded a bus and dro through Lincoln park. Despite t fact that the Oak street beach w piled with ice which resembled t stern and rockbound coast, the wal along the lake shore were filled wi strolling couples, nurses with childr women with scampering little dogs, a an occasional solitary man.

And yes, there was a blur of gre A conscientious investigation revea patches of green grass. Moreov tight brown buds on shrubbery wh broken open showed a pale green.

A conversation heard in an adjace phone booth in a loop drug store la night: "O, hasn't it been a lovely da I simply just can't go home. Le do something romantic!" A pau "All right," sadly, "I'll be hon since you must hear the radio p gram."

HOW TO KEEP FROM GROWING OLD

Sanitation Is Big Factor in Public Health

Science Safeguards Our Food Supply.

BY PAUL POTTER.

The growing interrelationship of of animal sanitation and public health is being realized on the threshold of a depleted corps of capable veterinarians, and the fields of human medicine and veterinary medicine have passed the point of being little concerned with each other.

This is the gist of a meteing held at the University of Illinois this week, at the call of Dr. Robert Graham, chief of animal pathology and hygiene, and recognized leader in the movement to secure better appreciation of the necessity of retaining the knowledge and experience of able veterinarians for safeguarding the nation's food supply.

St. Louis Follows Chicago.

Chicagoland having recently led out, through the enforcement of an ordinance excluding the sale of milk from dairy cows not immune from the tuberculin test, is being followed by other cities in rapid succession. The latest of these is St. Louis, which starts the enforcement of its new ordinance on tuberculin tested milk March 1.

Yet, according to national figures in the field of veterinary science who spoke at Urbana, many other problems of animal disease prevention are just as close to scientific progress in public health. In the dairy field, measures of controlling contagious abortion, closely allied with undulant fever in humans, presents just as great an issue. Nutritional studies in the feeding of live stock for ultimate table consumption; proper sanitation for the rearing or young stock such as cattle, hogs, poultry or sheep; means of controlling such economic risks as hog cholera or foot-and-mouth disease —these are a few of the many veterinary doctor's fights that deeply concern every one.

A Major Problem.

"Suppression of those animal diseases which endanger human life is among the major problems which must be properly met by the graduate veterinarians of the country," said Dr. Graham. "Three different diseases which constitute a threat to human health have been given a prominent place in our Illinois work. They are rabies (in dogs); undulant fever (in cattle), and sittacosis or parrot fever."

Other diseases which the veterinarian must cope with include cattle grubs, contagious abortion, sterility, paratuberculosis or Johne's disease, brucellosis, poisonous plants, tuberculosis, anemia, hog cholera, canine distemper, chicken pox, bacillary white diarrhea, and coccidiosis, he says.

Healthy poultry and live stock is not only an economically profitable practice for farmers of America but is agriculture's responsibility to the millions whose food supply this industry supplies, he maintains.

VERDICT AGAINST PHYSICIAN IS SET ASIDE BY JUDGE

Superior Judge Louis P. Harriss yesterday set aside the $5,000 verdict awarded Mrs. Marguerite Quinn, 3708 Highland avenue, Berwyn, by a jury in his court last Tuesday in her suit against Dr. Florian Ostrowski of Cicero, charging malpractice. Mrs. Quinn charged the doctor with offensive attentions during an examination in June, 1928, the day before the birth of her child. The child died soon after birth.

"The verdict is set aside," Judge Harriss ruled. "If it were allowed to stand no professional man would be safe in performing his duties. The evidence showed that Dr. Ostrowski is of unquestioned reputation in his community. The story of the girl is uncorroborated and unbelievable. It would not be just have the character of a reputable citizen destroyed by such testimony."

AUTO KILLS BOY.

Granite City, Ill., Feb. 13.—(AP)—Orville Katzmann, 7 year old son of John V. Katzmann of this city, was killed yesterday when he darted in front of an automobile.

ETTELSON VETOES G. A. MASON AS SUBWAY LAWYER

Corporation Counsel Ettelson notified the council local transportation yesterday that he will not consent to the appointment of Attorney George A. Mason to aid in the drafting of a subway ordinance. The lawyer had been selected by the committee to work out the special assessment features of the ordinance.

Ettelson pointed out that Mason had been a party to an arrangement whereby the city would pay 50 per cent of the cost of constructing Wacker drive, which was reduced to 35 per cent, a saving of $3,000,000 to the city, after Ettelson had insisted that the matter go to court. Mason afterward, Ettelson said, issued a printed pamphlet in which he accused the corporation counsel of ulterior motives in appearing in the case.

"Moreover," read the Ettelson communication, "Mr. Mason is not a resident of Chicago and, other things being equal, I prefer a Chicago lawyer."

Setting for a Dinner Party Repays Care

Clever Hostess Plans Each Detail Beforehand.

BY SALLY LUNN.

Is a good general, the would-be successful hostess should plan the setting of her table for any given occasion with campaign like care. The comfort of the prospective guests should be considered, and, besides, the whole arrangement should be such as to provide a psychological stimulus to the lively gayety that every hostess hopes to see.

To insure this effect, visualize beforehand the presence of your guests, and do a little experimenting, if necessary, to aid your imagination. The setting of the table is of paramount importance. Do not sacrifice adequate lighting for artistry as one woman I know was giving a breakfast party. She used too few candles and the meals went into gales of laughter because they couldn't see their food properly, and her husband finally insisted on arising and turning on the electric lights.

Count the Candles.

Candlelight is undeniably attractive and gives a warmer and more intimate illumination than the ceiling lights, but it is a great mistake to have a so-called "the religious light." If there is any question in your mind as to the number of candles necessary to light the table properly, light them beforehand to determine. Mrs. Shreve Badger, who gave a radio talk recently on "The Formal Dinner," said that a lighted candlee was, in her mind, the correct light for a fairly large table. The spacing of the places is another important factor to be considered. As Mrs. Badger pointed out, it is impossible to carry on a gay and flippant conversation with a dinner partner who is seated several feet away, and it is equally unconducive to sociability to be crowded so close to your neighbor that you can't raise an elbow without poking a set of ribs, not meant for edible purposes. Calculate the size of your table according to the number of your guests, and also I would suggest that you consider the weight of your guests if any of them are overburdened with undue avoirdupois.

Comfortable Seating.

The legs of the dining table provide another problem that should really be solved when the table is purchased. Overstuffing table legs is decidedly unbecoming and should, of course, be avoided as much as possible.

The placing on the table of relishes, butter plates, salt cellars, cigaret boxes and trays or having them passed by the servant is a matter to be decided by individual taste. Some hostesses believe that the presence of such items on the table detracts from the general decorative scheme, while others think that the advantages of convenience are more important. Naturally, such things should harmonize with the decoration and should be arranged as inconspicuously as possible. All this should be attended to before the meal is served, or confusion will result from the reminder.

Evanston Players Win Contest in Church Drama

The Pilgrim Players of the First Congregational church of Evanston took the first place in the Chicago district religious drama competition, which was announced last night, following the play held on Monday evening at the Lyceum theater. The players presented "The Valiant," and were directed by Mrs. A. Starr Best. The contest, offered by the Chicago Council of Religious Education, was a $50 selection of books. The cast of "The Valiant" consisted of William Wilson, Dorothy Gibson, Stuart Abbey, Dorothy Wheeler, and Georgie Gibson.

Pewter Combines with Glass and China

This charming and informal lunch or breakfast table illustrates the possibility of affiliating the smaller pieces of tableware with the more important items. The butter plates and salt and cellar sets of pewter are well allied with the Spode plates edged in purple luster, and the crystal compotes with pewter bases harmonize with the square based, heavy crystal glasses. The cloth is lavender damask, and the center piece is of artificial fruit.

HOUSEHOLD DISCOVERIES

In my medicine cabinet I keep an empty 12 ounce baking powder can, which I have given two coats of white enamel. This is a handy receptacle for storing opened rolls of gauze bandages of different sizes, and keeps them clean and free from dust.

MRS. A. V. S., Chicago, Ill.

When my canceled vouchers are returned from the bank each month, I paste them on coresponding stubs in the checkbook for future reference.

MRS. H. C. L., Naperville, Ill.

During cold months I put a small box filled with clean hay for the milkman to put the cream in. Now we have no worries about its freezing if it should be forgotten for a few minutes after delivery.

K. A. K., Chicago, Ill.

When you wish to do really fine and regular hand hemming or sewing on thin material, first go over the hem with the machine [without threading the needle]. This will make a perfectly even row of holes over which you can go by hand to make a beautifully neat stitch.

MRS. R. J. I., Francesville, Ind.

Before new ticking is made into pillows, iron it on the wrong side with a hot iron that has been rubbed over with beeswax. The wax acts as a varnish and prevents feathers and down from working through the ticking.

MRS. E. F., Berwyn, Ill.

When your brass bed gets tarnished, 10 cents' worth of gum shellac dissolved in alcohol and applied with a paint brush will make it look like new.

MRS. W. C. C. Jr., Whiting, Ind.

I have found that one leg of an otherwise worn white suit of pajamas makes a perfect cover with my "in the wall" ironing board.

MRS. E. W., Chicago, Ill.

To prevent canned goods from freezing, slip each jar into a paper bag, then slip another bag over each jar. The contents will never freeze, nor will the jars burst no matter how cold it is.

MRS. J. McC., Chicago, Ill.

I have found a new use for men's old shirts. Cut out the sleeves, sew up the armholes, and use for covers for dresses and coats hanging in the closet.

MISS A. K., La Grange, Ill.

After washing a sweater, squeeze as dry as possible, then slip a clean clothes line through the sleeves, and stretch the line tight between two hooks where the wind can blow it dry and fluffy. Clothes pins leave marks and tear holes.

Onion's Assets Outweigh Its Few Defects

Cooks Find It a Great Culinary Aid.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Just about the time of year when the onion in the bin begins to feel the impulse of spring at its very heart, that heart turning green and poking its head right out of its enfolding cerements, the market enters the breach—not the cerements exactly—and presents us with the greatest variety of the year in onion offers of sorts.

We had and have a wholesale Onionville in autumn. Now, in late winter, the products are rarer and, perhaps fitter, fitter aesthetically anyway. The great Spanish globe like any fine French "primeur"—the "fine" here is superlative or superfluous since all primeurs have to be fine—arrives from semi-tropical regions. The Bermudas and those from Texas have their day. The sparsely appearing leek, of patriotic interest to Welshmen, is offered more generally, and soon, too, we have the little leeks as well as those of the big braids.

Virtues and Defects.

Perhaps it is because the onion puts up a stubborn defensive that we do not recognize how its great qualities may be set against its minor defects to our great dietetic gain. An onion can do its part in making a good natured man. On the other hand, we know an onion can give a pseudo-temperamental man his acutest agonies, and he will make so much show of his agony as to occupy too much of the foreground of onion interest and worth.

An onion a day keeps the doctor away, is the motto of the good natured man who, because he has humor, will add "and everybody else." The other man is not likely to be possessed with a comic spirit and, besides, onions may exasperate him to speechlessness.

Some one has said that as a food an onion is good, and as a healthy food it is better. Historic facts indicate that the onion a day puts germs away and so insures against infection. In fact, we can make a rather glowing summary of its hygienic services to humanity by describing its fame as a disinfectant, as an antiseptic and prophylactic, a somnerific and a laxative.

Gastronomic Art.

A gastronomist with an aesthetic knowledge of food has said that without the onion there could be no gastronomic art. It harmonizes, if used correctly, with fish, flesh and fowl. It blends and gives body to the ingredients in a sauce, but then, you must not have all sauces onion sauces—as some cooks will—use but a little to prevent this—because there is a great and famous onion sauce whose prestige has been all but obscured by having all sauces of its nature but not of its excellence.

If Mrs. Stevenson had not been a woman famously versed in foods and a creator of them from the ground up, probably Robert Louis Stevenson would not have put into his little verses "To a Gardener" the lines:

"Let first the onion flourish there,
Rose among roots, the maiden fair,
Wine-scented and poetic soul
Of the capacious salad bowl."

Avoiding Odious Effects.

We are skeptical about the remedies offered for onion breaths, though we might expound the why of them, perhaps. Some people believe that if you eat cucumber with raw onion the breath is left innocent of any objectionable odor. I know that in cutting up onions if you do not spatter the juices and if, when you are slicing an onion, you hold the pieces together with a paper napkin you will not cry and you will not have the trial of oniony hands, and I can subdue onion cooking odors with gentle cooking and a dried celery leaf or leaves.

The Indispensable Onion.

Onions we must have, and the better the cooks we are, the more we must. Relishes, seasonings, sauces, soups, meat accompaniments need onions and it is a highly essential constituent of stews. And the cook who can makes, by various methods, a wonderful vegetable dish of the onion.

The first man I can remember to have known, when I was quite young, who had food traits, as it were, a man of power and privileges which he enjoyed vigorously, would drive ten miles into the country to get a superlative dish of boiled and buttered onions—not creamed.

A few years ago a woman wrote a brilliant essay on men as "The Sheltered Sex." This begins: "Arnold Hutchins does not like onions. They are so offensive that he has issued a proclamation forbidding his wife to purchase or bring to the house or cause to be brought to the house, anything nearer the appearance of an onion than a narcissus bulb. Ann finds this very hard, for despite her gentle breeding she believes ardently in the onion as a factor in culinary success."

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

The Cisco.

Quite soon, if not now, is the time for cisco parties. One definition of a cisco seen last year was that it was a lake herring caught through the ice of Lake Geneva, Wisconsin. And some one, in summing up the life of a rich man that was one of the pioneers in the Lake Geneva community, said that he brought the cisco from Lake Geneva, Switzerland, and put them into Lake Geneva, Wisconsin.

Again you will find that some one discovered cisco in Lake Geneva in 1875 and at the same date found it in Lake Tippecanoe, Indiana. And then an old timer, who was reported in the article which mentioned this discovery, said that he caught ciscoes in 1869 in Wisconsin. Eastern fishermen will claim that Lake Erie is the great source of the cisco and that the time to catch them is June. A man last year, in writing about cisco, said that those of Lake Erie took the prize as far as numbers caught were concerned, while Lake Michigan stood second.

In spite of everything said about the origin of the cisco it is a lake herring, a tiny little silvery fish that is really handsomer and, most people say, more delicious than the other herring, which in a considerable part of the United States are the main pan fish.

Because it is a pan fish we can treat it just as we treat any herring. To clean it, cut off the ventral fins first and vent. Scrape off the scales and cut off the head and tail, hold each little fish under water for a minute only and scrape off any dark lining on either side of the backbone, but you do not have to do this. If a slice about half an inch wide is made the whole length of the back, it takes the dorsal fins with it, and then when the fish is cooked it will easily split into dainty fillets.

It is some years since I have cooked cisco and I feel as though I may possibly be a little rusty on the plan, but in cooking any pan fish I prefer to cook it in the fat tried out from salt pork and to roll the little fish in corn meal. Of course, if it is to be cooked in deep fat we must again crumb it. In cooking pan fish it is not easy to have the temperature of the pan just right so as to get it crisp on the outside and still well done. It must not be dry nor wooden on the outside, nor soggy in the middle.

12 STANDARD OIL SHIPS SEIZED BY CHINESE PIRATES

CANTON, China, Feb. 14.—(AP)—A gang of pirates operating in the West river delta, south of here, today seized a fleet of twelve vessels chartered by the Standard Oil Company of New York and are holding the ships for ransom. The vessels are Chinese junks and were carrying oil worth $50,000 gold. The American consul here sent a protest to the Canton military.

Rebels Raid U. S. Ships.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Widespread depredations by bandit armies and renewed rebellion in Honan province today harassed the nationalist government of China. American shipping, fired upon by bandits, was given United States warship convoy.

In Hunan, Kwiangsi, Hupeh, Szechwan, Anhwei and Kiangsu provinces bandit armies, largely composed of former soldiers, are pillaging towns, hampering shipping and making travel in interior China unsafe. Bands of armed women bandits are perpetrating highway robberies south of Peiping, the former capital.

EDMUND STINNES GETS LICENSE TO WED IN INDIANA

Issuance of a marriage license at Crown Point, Ind., yesterday to a well dressed young couple, who spoke with a strong German accent, provoked speculation in Chicago and New York last night.

The applicants identified themselves as Edmund Hugo Stinnes, 32 years old, doctor of engineering, and Miss Margiana von Schulze Gaevernitz, 26 years old, opera singer. Both said they were from Berlin, Germany.

On Nov. 18, Edmund Hugo Stinnes, eldest son of the late Hugo Stinnes, German industrial magnate, was married in the Baptist church of West New York to Miss Margiana von Schulze Gaevernitz, daughter of a former member of the reichstag.

Whether the same couple procured the license here in order, perhaps, to be remarried with the religious ceremony of another denomination, was not learned. The Crown Point records show they were not married by any justice of the peace there.

Steamer Sinks at Sea with All Aboard, Report

ALGARVE, Portugal, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The captain of a Spanish fishing smack reported to Portuguese authorities today that the Portuguese steamer Tigre had gone down at sea with all hands, presumably from an explosion in the boiler room. Warships were sent out to search for wreckage and survivors.

Available maritime registers do not list the Tigre.

WARSAW, Poland, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The Polish diet today adopted the 1930-'31 budget by a considerable majority. The budget anticipates revenues of $336,500,000, and expenditures of $324,300,000.

YARROW MAKES APOLOGY; DROP CONTEMPT CASE

The Rev. Philip Yarrow, superintendent of the Illinois Vigilance association, apologized yesterday to Municipal Judge Herbert G. Immenhausen and was discharged on a citation for contempt of court.

Mr. Yarrow, during a campaign to suppress obscene literature a month ago, remarked that "the Illinois Vigilance association has as much chance of getting a square deal in the Municipal courts as a snowball in the mouth of Mount Pelee."

Judge Immenhausen, before whom the obscene literature cases were pending, ordered Mr. Yarrow to show cause why he shouldn't be cited for contempt of court. The defendant yesterday said he hadn't intended to offend the judge and he was dismissed.

Mrs. Gertrude S. Byrne Is Granted a Divorce

Mrs. Gertrude S. Byrne, 5130 Kimbark avenue, daughter of Edward Spiegel, former mayor of Cincinnati, yesterday won a divorce in Judge Joseph Sabath's court from her husband, Thomas A. Byrne of the Wacker hotel. The Byrnes were married on Sept. 6, 1922, in Newport, Ky., and separated on Jan. 5, 1928. Mrs. Byrne charged desertion.

Woman Asks Kin Be Kept from Selling $181,620 Stock

Mrs. May Ostrander McMahon, 3333 Washington boulevard, yesterday filed a bill for an injunction in the Superior court to restrain her nephew, William E. Ostrander, 2504 Belmoral avenue, from disposing of 1,069 shares of United States Steel company stock, valued at $181,620, which she accuses him of embezzling. Ostrander was held to the grand jury on complaint of his aunt last Jan. 29 by Municipal Judge William E. Helander.

Anita Stewart Delays Train So She Can Reach Theater

Anita Stewart, who used to be a blonde heroine of the motion picture world, but who lately has gone in for vaudeville, passed through Chicago yesterday, bound for Akron, O. So eager was she to reach Akron for her opening song and dance number that she delayed train No. 10 of the Baltimore and Ohio while officials transferred her and her third husband, George Peabody Converse, from the North Western station. Anita said she never had made a talkie, but expects to when she gets back to Hollywood after a couple of months on the stage.

Fine Printing Exhibit to Open Saturday at the Newberry Library

The Chicago exhibit of fine printing, sponsored by the Typographic Arts society, will open at the Newberry library on Feb. 24. A one man show of paintings by Karl Ouren opens this Saturday at the Palette and Chisel club. The National Academy of Art is running an exhibit of posters through the month. Proctor M. Fiske, director, feels that this is an entirely new field (commercial department posters) for the poster artist and he wants the students of the academy to become familiar with it. Each poster advertises a month long sale and is distinctive and attractive; many of them come from Paris and are modernistic in treatment.

A book on "Lithography for Artists" is now in press and will shortly be issued by the Art institute. The book is by Bolton Brown, the widely known authority on lithography. Seven years were spent in the preparation and writing and the book records his experiments with various kinds of crayons (many of which he invented) and lithographic stones. The volume contains ten full page illustrations made by the phototone process direct from lithographic drawings by Mr. Brown. At present the author is giving instruction to the class in lithography in the Art institute school.

Four new American mammal habitat groups have been placed on view in the Field museum. One group is of polar bear, the gift of Frederick H. Rawson. The second group is of Alaska brown bear, largest of all existant carnivorous animals. The specimens were obtained in 1927 by the John Bordon-Field museum Alaska-Arctic expedition and the Alexander H. Revell-Field museum Alaska expedition.

The third group is of American bison, specimens presented by the late Arthur B. Jones; the fourth group shows musk-ox of the Hudson bay variety. The painted backgrounds are the work of Charles A. Corwin; the taxidermy is by Julius Friesser and Arthur G. Rueckert. E. J.

Problems of Trained Nurses Subject for Discussions Feb. 17

The cost of nursing care will be discussed on Monday, and so will the education of the professional nurse, cooperation of the universities and colleges, and the question of the same educational background for nurses as for physicians. The talks will be at the Palmer house during sessions sponsored by the Central Council of Nursing Education.

Dr. Haven Emerson, professor of public health administration at Columbia university, and Miss Edna L. Foley, superintendent of the Visiting Nurse association, Chicago, will speak in the morning. In the afternoon speakers will be Edwin R. Embree, president of the Julius Rosenwald fund; Laura R. Logan, dean of Cook county hospital school of nursing; Paul H. Fesler, superintendent of university hospitals, Minneapolis.

Mrs. James A. Patten will preside at a special luncheon at which Dr. Willard C. Rappleye, director of study for commission on medical education, New Haven, Conn., will speak. President Robert Maynard Hutchins of the University of Chicago will address the dinner group. At that dinner the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals of the American Medical association and the Central Council for Nursing Education will be hosts.

Virginia Owes Debt to Hoover 'Possum for Its New School

Richmond, Va., Feb. 13.—(AP)—Miss Christine Vest, mountaineer school teacher, this week-end will move into her new home and work—the President's Community school, near Crigersville, high in the mountains of Madison county.

The new schoolhouse was decided on by President Hoover last August, when Ray Buracher, 12 year old barefoot mountain lad, slid through the President's summer camp guards and presented Mr. Hoover with a 'possum on his fifty-sixth birthday.

Since the school was planned, however, Mrs. Hoover several times had added plans as to its building and furnishings. In consequence the completed structure contains many features not originally proposed. There are electric lights, running water, wall sockets for domestically heated irons of various sorts, enormous fireplaces, and storm doors. The kitchen sports an electric refrigerator.

LITTLE FOLKS—NO EXPERT—BY "TACK" KNIGHT

TO BE A TOE DANCER IS A LOT OF WORK!
THAT'S WHAT I'D LIKE TO BE AND DANCE ON THE STAGE!
SO WOULD I! BUT IT TAKES TOO LONG TO LEARN! YOU HAVE TO START WHEN YOU'RE VERY VERY YOUNG!
WELL I GUESS I'M TOO OLD TO LEARN!
MY BRUDDER HORACE IS A "TOE DANCER"!
I NEVER HEARD OF A BOY TOE DANCER, JOSIE! YOU'RE FOOLING!
WELL HORACE IS! HE DANCES ON OTHER PEOPLE'S TOES!

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S AND MISSES' DRESS.

Navy blue silk crêpe is used for this dress that shows a bolero at the front of the bodice that is belted at a normal waistline. The skirt creates an effect of slenderness in the intricate new flared fullness. It only appears intricate, for the right side of the skirt simply merges into a hipyoke at the front, with an inset circular section below. The lower part of the skirt in the back is circular and attached to a hipyoke that keeps the fullness well below the hips.

The pattern, No. 3251, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 4¼ yards of 39 inch material.

Plenty of Measures Handy for Keeping the Skin Smooth

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Superfluous hair keeps on reducing women to a state of mental grief comparable only to that which acne provokes. Sometimes I wonder if women have not grown supersensitive on the subject. All this talk of smooth and blemish free skin may contribute to such a critical attitude that perfectly normal, natural downy growths are worried into "terrible" disfigurements.

However, it does seem that some modern influence is giving cause for superfluous hair worry. Whether it is the more active pursuits of sports, with increased sun courting, or whether our times provoke glandular disturbance and it is the cause, we don't know.

Anyway, for simple, quick and easy relief there is the razor or depilatory. One hears a lot about hairs growing in thicker and stubbier after razor applications, but this is disputed by many skin specialists. Anyway, you don't have to let the hairs remain long enough to worry about them.

Depilatories and wax preparations are put up in agreeable form for use and they are satisfactorily hair clearing. Manufacturers of what used to be called "the vile smelling stuff" have accomplished a surprising deadening of the odor in barium sulphide preparations. And the wax preparations, too, when instructions are followed carefully, leave a delightful smoothness to the treated surface.

The lighter form of affliction may be relieved with simple bleaching processes. Peroxide is the favorite bleach, or peroxide mixed with ammonia. A flat pumice stone moistened and rubbed over afflicted surfaces is found by some women to be an agreeable treatment.

And, of course, there is always the permanent remedy available in the form of electrolysis, which, when given expertly, does put women out of the complaining class completely.

Unwanted hair does not need to be the trial that it appears to be, with such a divergence of remedies, temporary and permanent, within reach.

Woman, 69, Writes Sad Letter of Sacrifice for Her Daughter

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I do not sit crying at home, but I am so lonesome and heartsick. I am 69 and alone, though I have a daughter. I shall try to be brief. Daddy and I sent our only daughter to a university. She had four years there, beside four years' voice training, two years of which cost ten dollars a lesson. She had encouragement from one of the big opera stars about her voice.

"She just could not give up her studying when, as I look back now, perhaps her help at home might have spared her daddy all of his extra work. Three years ago, he was taken away in death. My daughter could see no other course than her singing. I borrowed money after emptying my purse and let her go away for further study.

"I said good-by with a smile and drove home to an empty house. Not a cent for a stamp for weeks. I recall what a four dollar check meant to me when I collected it.

"My girl finished the course in June. I got some girls to board with me and managed to pay my way with a small pension I get. My girl married the following October.

"My husband said to me one day when he was ill: 'Mamma, some day you will need this money we are spending for her.' But he, as well as I, wanted to give her her chance. I thought if she did not succeed with her voice, she would marry and I might have a home with her.

"She is working now, though married, and making a home for her husband's grandmother, who raised him. That is what is hard for me. The grandmother has a home and comforts and I have a rather mean boarding house to run. And I am not so well.

"The only wish I have now is to be laid by daddy. It is a beautiful cemetery. My daughter is a dear girl, I must say. And her husband is as sweet as can be. Perhaps I am wrong in expecting a return from her for the many lean years daddy and I went through. I don't know.

Not wrong in expecting a return, but wrong in the manner of training to get a return. The mother who toils and gives her best years with unstinting love has a great devotion coming to her—but the tragedy of life is that a great unselfish devotion rarely molds unselfish character in the one upon whom it is showered.

To Lecture on Crime.

John Landesco, research director of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology, will address social, civic, religious, and educational organizations of the near north side at noon today at the Y. W. C. A., 1001 North Dearborn street, at a meeting of the Lower North Community council.

Expert Predicts Use of Work and Play as Mental Treatment

All leading medical schools soon will have a chair of occupational therapy. That branch of psychiatry will become a big factor in reducing the number of criminals in the future. Such were the predictions yesterday of Dr. James Whitney Hall, speaking yesterday before the Chicago Woman's Aid luncheon in the Medical and Dental Arts building.

"Occupational therapy already is in use in our big institutions, such as insane asylums," Dr. Hall said. "We are beginning to realize that it is not only good for the feeble minded and weak minded, but that it should be applied to normal children and adolescents.

"This new science simply strives to give the young people an occupation in which the elements of work and play are properly balanced to keep their minds busy and happy.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each child's saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

Ully, daughter, 5, was pushing a neighbor's child on an indoor swing. When the motion became too rapid the youngster protested. Assisting her hastily to the floor, my child said, with a rueful shake of her head: "That child just doesn't understand swings." E. D.

Jimmie, 5, leaving with his dad to visit relatives in another city, said to his grandmother who was remaining at home, "Now, gramma, take good care of yourself while us men are away." E. W.

Skinny Girls Not Wanted Gain with Ironized Yeast

SKINNY FOLK LIABLE TO GRAVE DISEASE

Gain Pounds in Few Weeks With New IRONIZED YEAST

The startling statement is made by a famous physician that 10 times as many underweight young people as overweight people contract grave diseases. He says the body weight is the best single guide to whether you are perfectly well or not. Whether you are already weak and run-down, or whether you are just threatened, the treatment is the same—saving energy and building up the body.

The quickest way to build up your body is by simply taking the new IRONIZED YEAST. Thousands of thin, run-down, tired, nervous people say gained 5 to 15 pounds in 3 weeks. Don't take any more chances with your life. Start gaining weight today with IRONIZED YEAST.

Steno Gains 5 lbs. New Energy and Pep

Miss Louise Martinez

Miss Louise Martinez of Beaumont, Tex., says: "I feel like a new person since taking half a bottle of IRONIZED YEAST. I could hardly get up enough energy to use my typewriter before. But have gained 5 pounds."

Best Complexion Beautifier

New Yeast Ends Pimples, Boils, Blemishes Quick.

Don't let an ugly skin ruin your charm. Hundreds of men and women write IRONIZED YEAST banished every pimple and blemish like magic, ended sallow muddiness. The Malt Yeast quickly drives out the poisons that cause skin blemishes, while the Iron speedily builds up run-down blood and brings roses to cheeks.

Skin Clear. Gained 13 lbs.

"My complexion was bad but now since taking IRONIZED YEAST it is very clear. Never tired. Was very skinny but gained 13 lbs."—Mabel Claiborne, Farmerville, La.

TEST OFFER

Money-Back If Not Pleased with Quick Results

Go to any druggist today and get a full size treatment of IRONIZED YEAST. Take it regularly as directed on bottle. If after this generous trial you are not delighted with quick weight and health benefits gained, your money promptly refunded by manufacturer.

Men Employers Like Attractive Curves

5 to 15 lbs. Added Quick with New Yeast and Iron in Small Tablets

Banishes Nervousness. Ends Constipation, Indigestion, Tired Feeling. Clears Complexion. Quick Results—or Pay Nothing

Don't let "skinny" body, bony limbs and ugly hollows ruin your attractiveness and spoil your chances of success. Thousands say gained 5 to 15 lbs. in 3 weeks with new IRONIZED YEAST. Unsightly hollows fill in quick. "Broomstick" limbs round out. Blemished skin clears like magic, new beauty. New pep and popularity.

Gas, Nervousness Gone. Gains 10 lbs.

S. R. Kempton

Mr. S. R. Kempton of Benham, Ky., writes: "Was very thin, had gas on my stomach, and awfully nervous but since taking IRONIZED YEAST have gained 10 lbs., not nervous, never bothered with gas."

Constipation Ended. Skin Clear. Gaining Weight

Mrs. M. Walker

Mrs. Marie Walker of Glengary, West Va., writes: "Suffered with constipation, skin eruptions. With IRONIZED YEAST constipation vanished, complexion became clear in a few days. Gaining weight."

Why Pounds Come Quick

Because this new, more powerful IRONIZED YEAST is two tonics in one—weight-building Malt Yeast and blood-enriching Iron. Highly concentrated by a new process which makes it many times more effective than unmedicated yeast. Gives results in half the time. Marvelous for nerves and stomach. Ends constipation, indigestion overnight.

So stop being "skinny," tired, weak, with a muddy, blemished skin. Get IRONIZED YEAST from druggist today and begin at once to be a new person. Pleasant little tablets. Never upset stomach or cause gas or bloating. Guaranteed. Money back if not delighted with quick results.

French Makers Appeal Against "Style Pirates"

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1930 By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Feb. 13.—The French dressmaking industry is facing ruin as the result of wholesale pilfering of its models by concerns in the United States, Great Britain, and Germany.

At least that was the statement of Parisian houses that today appealed to the government to do something.

The ire of the Rue de La Paix houses was especially aroused as the result of the exposure of enterprising German houses that guarantee to furnish their Berlin customers with the latest Paris models five days after they are shown here.

The same thing goes on in London, New York, and Chicago, say the French dressmakers.

With American business here seriously curtailed this year, due to the stock market troubles and the increased vigilance of New York customs officers, who frighten Americans from bringing Parisians clothes home with them, and the whole world stealing their stuff, the Paris fashion artists claim really to be in a bad way.

THOUGHT PRODUCES SLIGHT ELECTRICAL WAVES, PROF. SAYS

When a human being exercises the power of thought or imagination, the entire body is involved, rather than the brain alone. This conclusion is set forth by Dr. Edmund Jacobson of the University of Chicago in an article just published by the American Journal of Physiology.

Although there is no visible muscular movement, Dr. Jacobson, in a series of experiments covering two years, has found a neuromuscular reaction attending the generation of an idea. With a delicate instrument called the string galvanometer, the scientist has measured this reaction in electrical quantities.

The measuring instrument is so sensitive that it was necessary to alter the lighting system in Dr. Jacobson's laboratory and insulate the walls against street noises, radio waves and the whirring of automobile generators before the experiments could be conducted. So extremely slight was the electrical potential generated by the process of thought that Dr. Jacobson estimated that two million people, hooked together and thinking "in phase," would be required to produce enough current for an ordinary electric light.

Survey Shows That Lutherans, Catholics Have Least Pacifism

Catholics and Lutherans are the least pacifistic of the members of Christian churches. At least this conclusion is drawn by Prof. L. L. Thurstone of the University of Chicago psychological laboratory from a survey in which 1,400 students representing ten denominations were questioned on their attitudes towards peace and war.

Taken as a group the Protestant denominations have greater pacifist leanings than do Catholics, while Jews are more pacifistic than Protestants. In the political categories Socialists are less favorable to war than are either Democrats or Republicans, between whom there is no preceptible difference over questions of peace and war.

A tendency was found for students of mixed or foreign parentage to favor peaceful methods of settling international questions than do students of pure American parentage. Students with war service records were more militaristic than those who had never seen war.

Valentine Day Stirs the Society Editor to Verse

BY THALIA ——.

Sing a song of romance,
A pocket full of hearts,
Cupid's bagged another pair,
With his fatal darts!

The latest romance to be divulged is made known appropriately on Valentine's day. Mr. and Mrs. George Milton Seaman of 999 Lake Shore drive announce this morning the engagement of their daughter, Marguerite, to George R. Newcomb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Newcomb of Geneva, Ill. The young people revealed their interesting news to a small group of their friends at a surprise dinner party given last night at the Seaman apartment.

Miss Seaman went to Rosemary hall, and had a year of study in Europe. She made her debut a couple of seasons ago. Mr. Newcomb attended Andover, and was graduated from Norwich university at Northfield, Vt., 2 years ago. The wedding is to take place in the early part of June, but no definite date has as yet been set. Mrs. Seaman and Miss Marguerite leave next week for a 3 weeks' trip through the west.

Mrs. Miriam Ormsby Annan was married at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon to Cyrus Mark. Her bridal frock was of Alice blue lace, and her hat, gloves, and shoes all matched. She carried a demure little old fashioned bouquet for the service, which was read at 3 o'clock at the Disciples church. The ceremony and tea at the Bakestone afterward were attended only by members of the immediate families, including the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Oliver Ormsby and Mr. Mark's father, Clayton Mark.

Members of the Junior auxiliary of the Children's Memorial hospital are to assist officers of the Central Council for Nursing Education at the luncheon and dinner the council is to give as part of their all day institute for lay boards of hospital and public health nursing organizations next Monday at the Palmer house. Mrs. Frederic W. Upham is chairman of the committee in charge. Assisting her will be Mrs. William Drake, Mrs. Waldo Emerson, Miss Georgianna Whitcomb, and Miss Margaret Sinclair.

Mrs. George A. Thorne is to entertain one of the largest groups of guests at the English-Speaking union dinner this evening for Dr. Griffith Taylor, D. Sc., B. E., B. A. Others who have made reservations are Mrs. Chauncey Borland and Ira Nelson Morris. Dr. Taylor is to give an illustrated talk on "With Capt. Scott in Antarctica" after dinner. Frederick T. West is to preside.

Mrs. James Herbert Mitchell [Marion Strobel] and Miss Fritzi Scheff are to be co-guests at a tea this afternoon at the Cordon.

Mrs. Bertram W. Sippy is to open her residence at 5615 Woodlawn avenue for a benefit sale of the Vocational Society for Shut-ins next Tuesday. The hours will be from 10 to 5 o'clock, and the women who are to assist include Mrs. Donald P. Abbott, Mrs. Joseph A. Capps, Mrs. Thomas J. Hair, Mrs. Henry Hoyt Hilton, Mrs. Charles Porter Johnson, Mrs. Andrew C. McLaughlin, Mrs. Herbert I. Markham, Mrs. Walter A. Payne, Mrs. Wilber E. Post, and Mrs. George E. Shambaugh.

The Woman's Athletic club has sent its members cards for "a morning of Negro exaltations and Kentucky mountain songs," by Marion Kerby and John J. Niles, next Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. Each member may be accompanied by one guest.

The John T. McCutcheons, who are at their winter paradise, Treasure Island in the Bahamas, are to have as their guests next week Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. James Lawrence Houghteling.

Mrs. Clyde M. Carr of 1130 Lake Shore drive, Mrs. Victor C. Sanborn of Lake Forest and Miss Caroline Kirkland of 25 East Walton place leave next Tuesday for a month's stay at La Jolla, Cal.

Mrs. David Adler of Lake Forest, her book, "The Crystal Icicle," all out and selling merrily, set off this week to motor all by herself to Sarasota, Fla., to join her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Keith. Later, Mr. Adler is to join her, and they plan to go to Sweden and Denmark.

Mrs. George Meeker of 1411 North State street is motoring through the south with Miss Caroline Means.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Insull and their son-in-law and daughter, Maj. and Mrs. W. A. Rafferty of Highland Park, having been all through Florida, are now at the Edgewater Gulf hotel on the gulf coast, to remain for a month.

Dr. S. Mark White Heads Am. College of Physicians

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 13.—(AP)—Dr. S. Mark White of Minneapolis, former chief of the department of medicine at the University of Minnesota, was chosen president of the American College of Physicians, meeting here today. He has served as vice president and will be advanced to the presidency at the expiration of the term of Dr. Sydney Miller of Baltimore, who was advanced to the presidency today.

Members elected to the board of regents include James B. Herrick, Chicago; Logan Clendenning, Kansas City; James R. Arneill, Denver; Walter L. Bierring, Des Moines, Ia.; John H. Musser, New Orleans, retiring president, and O. H. Perry Pepper of Philadelphia.

AT PALM BEACH

Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 13.—[Special.]—In honor of the birthday of Mr. Sidney Smith of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Gail Grant gave a dinner party at the Everglades club tonight.

Miss Letitia Channon, who has been in Havana for several days, has returned to Palm Beach.

Although her mother, Mrs. Jacob Baur, has returned to Chicago, Miss Rosemary Baur will spend another fortnight at Whitehall with Mrs. Charles Harrington Chadwick.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 13.—The British ambassador and Lady Isabella Howard gave a luncheon today at the embassy. It was to be in honor of Alastair MacDonald, son of the prime minister of Great Britain. He was detained however, and did not arrive in Washington until tonight. He will remain for several days.

Speaker and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth had a few intimate friends at dinner last evening in celebration of Mrs. Longworth's birthday. Tomorrow they will celebrate the fifth birthday anniversary of their only child, Paulina, and on Monday they will celebrate the twenty-fourth anniversary of their wedding.

Invitations have been issued by the Congressional club for their third evening reception this season, one in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Longworth, Friday evening, Feb. 28.

Mrs. Bayard Cutting of New York, mother of Senator Bronson Cutting of New Mexico, gave a dinner this evening in their Georgetown home in honor of Lord and Lady Howard.

ASSASSINS KILL MAN AND GIRL IN GOTHAM STREET

Pursue Screaming Woman Till She Dies.

New York, Feb. 13.—[Special.]—Gang killers shot down and killed Carmine Borrelli, gambler, and "his girl" in 170th street, the Bronx, early today.

Borrelli had been five times convicted of felonies and had a sentence of ten years in prison hanging over him since 1927.

The girl, May Smith, a dance instructor in Broadway night resorts, was as deliberately a target of the murderers as was the ex-convict.

Borrelli and the girl had just come out of the Sherman garage, where Borrelli had put his car. They were walking north when an automobile drove up and four armed men got out.

May Smith glanced at them, screamed, and started running.

Two of them chased the woman and the other two stepped up to Borrelli. All four began shooting.

Borrelli dropped to the sidewalk, dead, and Miss Smith, shot from the back, continued running and screaming until she was half way across the street. Then she fell. Then all four gunmen returned to their car and sped away.

Police blame the shooting on an underworld feud.

KILLING OF HORST CHILD IN LIQUOR FEUD REVEALED

Wooster, O., Feb. 13.—(AP)—Special Prosecutor Walter J. Mougey announced tonight that he had obtained a signed statement from Charles Hanna, alleging that Earl Conald, 42, killed Melvin Horst, 4, in a garage in Orrville the night of Dec. 27, 1928. Conald has been arrested.

Mougey announced the statement from Hanna said Conald choked the boy, then struck him on the head. Hanna signed the statement only after Junior Hanna, 10, had implicated his father and Conald, the prosecutor said.

Melvin vanished on the night that Hanna's statement said he was killed.

Mougey said Hanna told him the motive for the killing of Melvin was that Conald wanted revenge on Roy Horst, uncle of Melvin, then marshal of Orrville, for hampering Conald in his activities as a bootlegger.

GEORGE H. WAITE, EARLY SETTLER IN HYDE PARK, DEAD

George H. Waite, one of the original settlers of the village of Hyde Park and a public official there for 20 years until the village was annexed to Chicago, died yesterday at 4347 Hazel avenue, his home in recent years. He was 80 years of age.

Born in St. Charles, Ill., Mr. Waite came to Hyde Park in 1859, living at the corner of 53d street and Hyde Park boulevard. In 1869 he was appointed assistant chief engineer of the south park board and made the survey for Grand boulevard, Drexel boulevard, the Midway, and Jackson park.

From 1871 until the annexation of Hyde Park he held various offices in the village. He also spent 20 years in Chicago's municipal service. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the chapel at 929 Belmont avenue. Burial will be at Oakwoods.

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Roses Are Red

Mr. Jefferson and His Fancy Tickle Elmer

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

It is difficult to say whether it was the character of the evening's programs or the originality of the lines and radio demeanor of "Mr. Jefferson," the imaginative story teller on the W-G-N 8:30 to 9 popular musical program, that made this feature stand out prominently last night.

Jefferson's line is not strictly comedy; rather it is modernized Jules Verne imagination, and is just as diverting as comedy could be.

Lovers of pipe organ music, even such as is practically always heard in radio, are legion. Pipe organs programs are not such as I would press were I an organist, but that's immaterial. Anyhow, Larry Larsen's numbers, along with the selections by Jean Goldkette's dance orchestra, from W-G-N, 8 to 8:30, should meet with wide approval. In fact, patrons of dance music had everything their own way from W-G-N between the hours of 8 and 10 o'clock.

Admirers of fluent melody and orthodox harmony of the classical type had everything to their liking in an all Mozart program from New York, through WBBM, 9 to 9:30.

Those who enjoy unaccompanied choral music, ancient and modern, secular and sacred, probably tried to gather in the concert by the University of Chicago choir, through WLS, 9:30 to 10, but I fear failed to hear it in anything like its original purity due to mechanical failure somewhere along the line.

A. E. COLEMAN, BUILDING CIRCLE LEADER, IS DEAD

Adelbert E. Coleman, 71 years old, ornamental iron manufacturer, died yesterday at his home at 10628 Longwood drive. Mr. Coleman was president of the Building Construction Employers' association during the turbulent Landis award days.

He had been a resident of Chicago for nearly fifty years and founded the Chicago Ornamental Iron company in 1893. For the last fifteen years the company had operated under Mr. Coleman's name, installing the ornamental iron and bronze work on a number of large loop buildings, including the Civic Opera house.

Mr. Coleman was for many years president of the Iron League of Chicago. He was also president of the Chicago Builders' Building corporation and a director of the Builders and Manufacturers' Mutual Casualty company.

PIONEER WOMAN OF EARLY TRAIL DAYS DIES AT 93

Mrs. Rebecca Mayer, 93 years old, of 6427 Drexel boulevard, who as a bride of 15 crossed the old Santa Fé trail, died yesterday afternoon in her home. Mrs. Mayer accompanied her husband, Henry Mayer, a trader, on horseback and by covered wagon to Chihuahua, Mexico, from the start of the trail at Independence, Mo.

On that trip she was surrounded by a buffalo herd as she rode horseback, and was rescued by her husband and other members of the party through what they considered a miracle. Subsequently she took half a dozen other trips with him from Independence to Chihuahua, a distance which took them four months to travel. Mr. and Mrs. Mayer came to Chicago in 1874, where she had lived since.

Funeral services will be from the chapel at 936 East 47th street at 10:30 o'clock Monday. Burial will be at Mount Mayriv. Surviving are four children, the Misses Bertha and Jennie Mayer, of the home address; George Mayer of Waukegan, and Bernard Mayer of Chicago.

J. E. VEDRENNE, NOTED BRITISH PRODUCER, DIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 13.—An important figure of English stage history passed from the scene today when J. E. Vedrenne, who produced plays for George Bernard Shaw, John Galsworthy and other eminent English authors, died at the age of 65.

He collapsed in a theater box where he was watching the performance of the new A. A. Milne play, "Michael and Mary," and never regained consciousness.

Among the notable plays sponsored by Mr. Vedrenne, who retired from active service of the theater three years ago, were Shaw's "Candida," which was quickly followed by his second play "John Bull's Other Islands," and Galsworthy's "Silver Box."

Deaf-Mute, 19, Confesses Robbing Woman in Store

John Tisevick, 19 years old, 7010 South Campbell avenue, a deaf-mute, last night confessed to the $30 robbery of Mrs. Jean Albin, manager of a tea store at 7044 South Western avenue, on Tuesday after the police had arrested him at his home. He named as his accomplice in the robbery Bruno Pelech, 18 years old, 5265 South Bishop street. The police were seeking Pelech.

Boy Skater Falls Through Thin Ice and Is Drowned

Orville Gibson, 12 years old, a pupil at the Glenwood Manual Training school at Glenwood, was drowned yesterday evening when he fell through thin ice while skating on a pond in the school grounds. His playmates tried to save him by thrusting sticks into the water, but the boy was trapped beneath the ice. The body was recovered by the Chicago Heights police.

BLAST WRECKS $350,000 YACHT; 1 DEAD, 4 HURT

Miami, Fla., Feb. 13.—(AP)—Five persons were injured, one fatally, by an explosion that wrecked the yacht Poule d'Eau, owned by Frank H. Goodyear, Buffalo, N. Y., while it was tied to its pier in Biscayne bay here today. The yacht was valued at $350,000.

W. N. Corbin, South Braintree, Mass., assistant engineer, died from burns and injuries suffered in the blast and the subsequent fire. The injured are Oscar Wern, sailor, City Island, N. Y., burns; E. L. Gaffre, messboy, Brooklyn, N. Y., burns; Richard Ranke, chef, Jamaico, L. I., head injuries, and Henry Healy, captain, minor cuts and burns.

Capt. Healy said he believed fumes from fuel oil, concentrated under the deck, had caused the explosion.

The Poule d'Eau arrived yesterday from Bahaman waters.

RADIO STATION SEIZED AS UNIT OF BOOZE RING

Inwood, L. I., Feb. 13.—[Special.]—An elaborate wireless station, alleged by state authorities to have been the nerve center of a large rum running ring, was seized by Nassau county police here this evening. A six page code system and a complete set of maps of the eastern seaboard, carefully blocked out in numbered squares, was found at the station.

The raiders arrested Frank Grebs, who lived with his wife at the place. Grebs admitted he had been a navy radio operator. He was held for federal authorities.

New Kind of Salts Taking Country By Storm

They Revitalize the System — Induce Youthful Activity —Keep Body in Splendid Condition— Free From Fat.

It doesn't take long for Americans to wake up to a good thing—only a few months ago Kruschen Salts were introduced into this country and the welcome news of their superior goodness and swift rejuvenating power traveled so fast that at one time the supply was many carloads behind the demand.

All of which goes to prove that Americans know good salts when they take them and want their friends to benefit also.

Kruschen Salts are taken for their health building value all over the world—they are the largest selling medicinal salts in Great Britain today.

Kruschen Salts are different from other salts—Kruschen is six salts in one—the very same six salts that nature put into the human body at the beginning of creation and demands you keep them there or your health won't be as good as it should be.

Unlike most Salts, Kruschen isn't simply a laxative—if that's all you want any old kind of salts with any kind of a label will do—but is that all you want?

When you take Kruschen Salts you not only stimulate your bowels, liver and kidneys to function naturally and perfectly, but you supply every internal organ, gland, nerve and fibre in the body with nature's own revitalizing and rejuvenating minerals.

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85c—at any drug store in America—take one-half a teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—in just a few days indolence changes to activity and life grows brighter.

Before the bottle is empty you'll feel years younger—eyes will brighten—step grow sprightlier — nerves steadier — you'll sleep sound, enjoy your meals, and after a hard day's work you'll be ready for wholesome recreation — one million Americans know all this—ask your druggist.

DR. J. M. HIRSH, CHEMIST, WILL BE BURIED TODAY

Funeral services for Dr. Joseph M. Hirsh, noted chemist, will be conducted this morning at 10:30 o'clock at Rosehill cemetery chapel. Dr. Hirsh died on Wednesday at the Jackson Park hospital of pneumonia. He was 87 years old.

Dr. Hirsh was graduated from Prague university in Austria and from the university at Munich. Upon coming to America he taught chemistry at the Cooper Union institute, New York. At the time of the civil war he discovered the process of producing sugar and sirrup from corn for which he was recognized with a medal given by the American institute at the 1876 centennial at Philadelphia.

Upon coming to Chicago in the late '60's, Dr. Hirsh entered Stein, Hirsh & Co., a starch and dextrine firm, and later manufactured albumen from blood. Among other discoveries attributed to him was that of a fluid which applied to documents scorched in the Chicago fire, made writings legible in white. He was credited with the discovery that bicarbonate of soda could be used as an antidote for poison by bichloride of mercury. According to his son, Henry, of 5532 Everett avenue, Dr. Hirsh interested himself in his laboratory experiments almost until his death.

The chemist is survived by four other children: Mrs. Clara Landau, with whom he lived at 1311 East 53d street, Mrs. Minnie Falsenthal, Mrs. Zerlina Binder, and Mrs. Daisy Rothschild.

Parents Can Adapt Home and School to Child's Needs

By Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

The child who is forced to adapt himself to unfavorable surroundings, [not that I don't mean unfavorable to everybody, but unfavorable to him] is apt to be cramped, frustrated, discouraged—to withdraw into himself, to become shy, or to have his spirit broken. We don't expect such adaptation of the simpler forms of life—of the plant life. Why should we expect it of children? Mostly, because we don't think.

Now I must say that even if we should realize this truth we also realize that it isn't humanly possible for us to make the influences that bear upon our children perfect for their individual needs. But we can do a great deal. In fact, we can do so much more than that they can adapt themselves to the minor imperfections that are inevitable, and thrive. But if nearly everything is wrong, they cannot adapt themselves without injury. It is said that an environment must be 60 per cent right to permit a normal way of life.

This sort of fitting of a child's environment to him applies in many ways—in regard to his tastes, his disposition and temperament, and his mental needs. The student type or creative type, the adventurous type need certain opportunities. The trouble child, the emotional, responsive child, the self-centered child all need different handling—this handling being a phase of their environment. The happy go lucky child, the too intense child, the "thick skinned" sort and the "thin skinned" sort each requires something different from the life that is close to him to develop fully.

Sometimes there is such force in even a young human being that it does after what it needs and gets it, regardless of obstacles. But this is not often so. When it is, we are not sure that such achievement has not been at too great a cost.

So far as lies within our power, we should try to adapt the home, school and social environment to our children's needs.

Laymen of Greek Church Striving to Lift Debt

Laymen of the 42 churches in the Chicago diocese of the Greek Orthodox church will open a campaign on Sunday to end the indebtedness of St. Nicholas church, the Orthodox cathedral, at 1016 South Ashland avenue. According to George A. Cokins, in charge of the campaign, it is also planned to raise sufficient funds to improve the church.

The campaign will close on April 1 with an all day benefit mardi gras at the Hotel Sherman. Then notables of the Greek church, as guests of Bishop Philaretos, together with Hon. Simopulous, ambassador from Greece to America, will be in attendance. It is stated that there are 400 members of the Greek Orthodox church in Chicago.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

Correct housing conditions and the feeding of cod liver oil will forestall the common winter ailments of hens, although diseases such as colds, roup and laying weakness, which are much more easily prevented than cured.

Correct housing conditions right is the most important means of control. Common colds or roup, advises Dr. Cora Cooke, extension poultry specialist, University farm, St. Paul. It is especially necessary to avoid overcrowding. A house 16 by 30 feet is large enough for 160 Leghorns or 120 Reds. More than one Leghorn to each three square feet, or one Red to each four square feet, is also too much. Curtain to lead to colds or roup. Light and ventilation, without drafts, is the most important condition. The scratch, straw loft house, or a well insulated shed roof house with front [illegible] ventilation should be satisfactory. However, the conditions within the house should be the test. Unless the air in the poultry house is fresh and free from the odor of ammonia, the ventilation needs correcting. Damp litter is another indication of improper ventilation. Although the litter should be changed as often as it becomes damp, the ventilation should be such that frequent changes will not be necessary.

The production of soft shelled eggs is often the presence of laying paralysis, or when the flock has a well balanced ration with plenty of oyster shell as an ailment that is purely nutritional in its cause. The use of cod liver oil, at the rate of one pint to two hundred pounds of mash, is the most sure remedy of prevention for this trouble. First stir the oil thoroughly into a pailful of mash, after which the mixture can then be blended with the remainder of the 100 pound batch.

"THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL"

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membrane and inhibits germ growth.

In all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for relief of colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchial irritations and other forms of throat troubles. It is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not satisfied after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

Raise Hue and Cry for More Lustrous Satins

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.] —It has been a long and dark winter, with nothing but black and everything in chic scenery overlaid with crêpe. However, the evenings are brightening up considerably in Paris, chic has a lot more shine to it, for satin is having a big vogue that is getting bigger all the time. French fabric makers tell me that they can't turn out enough satin to satisfy the hungry couturiers who are crying "More" all the time. This statement is verified by the smart women about town.

Ladies who take their sheen with discretion are wearing crêpe satin. Heaps and heaps of them are going in for wedding ring and Gainsborough satin, which is heavier and more lustrous. There is a small group of ultra chic who are wearing chiffon satin and lunasol. The last is a rayon satin from Blanchini, and has a surface so bright you can fairly see your face in it.

Mme. Schiaparelli, who is extremely chic, wears a bright red ciré satin frock that touches the floor all around, and other women are coming out in colored satins. During the winter a good deal of white and ivory satin has been worn by the most distinctive Parisiennes, and now these women are turning to the same material in pastel tones. A favorite pastel shade for the satin evening ensemble is light blue, and both frocks and coats are made of it, for as springtime approaches ensembles are being united in material as well as color. Where separate evening coats are worn they are often made of satin, as is the coat shown in the accompanying sketch.

This coat is not only satin. It is also pastel blue. The heavier Gainsborough satin is used, it being preferred for the evening wrap, and Martial et Armand have made the most of this beautiful fabric by shirring the coat down the center of the back and at the sides below the hipline. Pale gray fox is used in an original way to trim this smart coat, there being a band across the hem in front which ends in two fox tails at each side. The sleeves widen and are shirred below the elbows.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Clothing for Man.

"I am 50 years old, out of work, and not well. I have been out of the hospital only a short time and am almost destitute. I need clothing badly and wonder if you can help me get some. I wear size 38 or 40; shoes, size 10; hat, 7¼. I need a suit and underwear, especially. G. D."

Finding employment these days is difficult enough for the young man equipped to do many things. Think what a discouraging thing it must be for this man whose years and ill health are against him. If you have the clothing he needs, won't you send it to him immediately?

Boss Took a Tumble.

Several years ago I was employed in an interior decorating shop. I was planning to display strips of carpeting and rug samples, so pulled a long, narrow box out and placed the strips neatly over the open top.

That morning one of our wealthy lady customers came to look at materials. My boss, a dignified, middle aged man, insisted on showing her some of our new samples in a book, but having difficulty in handling the same, he sat down on the "box," and fell headlong into it. I don't know which of us three was most embarrassed, but the lady sprang forward with a helping hand and said, "Can I help you?"

In the Office.

One of the men in our office does not speak plainly. He mouths his words. The other day he came out and asked if any of us had a whisk broom—at least, that's what I thought he said. I opened my desk, pulled out a whisk broom and said, "Here's one."

Imagine, if you can, how I felt when he said, "O, no, thanks, I want a 'Who's Who.'"

New Way To Improve Skin

"A wonderful discovery is the new French process which gives MELLO-GLO Face Powder its unparalleled smoothness and makes it stay on longer." Margarett De Coursey, gifted Ziegfeld beauty, loves MELLO-GLO because it is the purest powder made—its color is tested. Never gives a pasty or flaky look! Banishes shiny noses. Will not irritate or clog the pores! Its youthful bloom stays on longer.

It's remarkable how quickly Grove's BROMO QUININE ends colds

There's nothing more annoying than a cold. It is dangerous to you and dangerous to others. That's why millions of people stop their colds with Grove's Bromo Quinine Tablets.

The tonic and laxative effect of these tablets throws off the cold and fortifies your system against colds and other serious ills which often develop from a slight cold.

Don't take any chances. Take Grove's Bromo Quinine the minute you feel a cold coming on. Price 30c.

NORTH SIDE MEN

Waiting lists will soon be established for applicants seeking positions with large international organization. These lists already exist in many of the 46 countries in which we operate over 600 branch offices. We are just commencing operations in the United States and our expansion program calls for about forty men in the Illinois territory.

These men will be assured of a splendid income and a remarkable future with a financially strong old company. Interested men will be notified by letter as to particular field; we cannot get experienced men, and the qualifications are loyalty, intelligence, and aggressiveness.

If you are selected you will be expected to start at once with a short preliminary schooling at factory branch at our expense.

STUDEBAKER REDUCES

THE PRICE OF EVERY USED CAR HUNDREDS OF DOLLARS!

Here is an opportunity to make a substantial saving and receive the benefit of the famous Studebaker Used-Car Pledge that guarantees five days' free driving trial, no matter what you buy. Your car accepted in trade and may serve as down payment. Over 200 good used cars from which to choose.

MOON CABRIOLET, 1928, that's one of the smartest looking sport cars we ever offered; has an attractive two-tone paint job, rumble seat, wire wheels, side mounts, and many valuable extras; it's excellent mechanically and will be sold at once at our price of $685.

FORD COACH, 1929. Model "A" that's in exceptionally good all around condition to-day, and the former owner was a very careful driver; he traded in the Ford only because he needed a larger car; it is very fully equipped and will give new car satisfaction. $395.

STUDEBAKER COMMANDER. Late model 4 pass. Victoria that looks as though it were direct from the factory; the finish sparkles like a new dollar and the tires have little more than motor miles; carefully checked over and adjusted wherever necessary; equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $550.

MARMON SEDAN. This str. 8 is finished a beautiful cadaver yellow and black; the appearance is unusually smart and will satisfy the most exacting buyer; has very spirited performance and the equipment includes 4 whl. brakes and many valuable extras; this Marmon was actually driven only 13 mos. and it was in storage for the balance of the time. $650.

ESSEX SEDAN. 1929 de luxe 2 dr. model that we recommend as one of our very best buys; equipped with 4 whl. brakes, bumpers, shutter front, spare tire, etc.; the motor is A1, and every detail of this car is in new condition. $450.

STUDEBAKER PRESIDENT SEDAN, 1928 str. 8, lacquered a handsome maroon; actually driven only a few thousand miles; the motor is in such good condition that it carries a 30 day free service guarantee; equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, driving light, etc.; the upholstery has not a worn spot and the tires appear unused. Special for $1,050.

HUPMOBILE SEDAN. We sincerely believe this str. 8 Hupp cannot be duplicated any place at anywhere near the price; it has hundreds of dollars worth of extra equipment and it's in splendid running condition; the upholstery is like new and the tires are in dandy shape. Special for $350.

AUBURN SEDAN, 1929, that's the last word for sparkling performance and attractive appearance; shock absorbers, trunk, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $750.

Tokio to Fight
One More Shi

BY ARTHUR SEARS HEN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]
LONDON, Feb. 14.—An agre on naval limitation by the pr maritime powers is virtually night, according to opinion pre among the American delegati night at the close of the fir of bedrock negotiations between Minister MacDonald of Great B
Andre Tardieu, French premie
American Secretary of State St Supporting Mr. Stimson in ing wits with the prime minis
Great Britain and the prem
France were Ambassador Dwig
Morrow and Senator Joseph T inson.

Fate Hangs on Battleship

While no important commi were made in behalf of any three nations participating in th ference, the impression curre
American headquarters tonight
Great Britain and France are v toward an agreement. On the a tion that Mr. MacDonald and P
Tardieu will eventually compos differences on the relative str of the British and French na prediction is hazarded that the the London conference will ha the one cruiser in dispute b
Japan on one side and Ameri
Great Britain on the other.

Whether the United States will be likely to ratify a treaty ing Japan an additional eight gun cruiser, capable of crossi Pacific, may be the determining in the final showdown around th ference table.

If America, backed by Great ain, should turn thumbs down other big cruiser for Japan it be up to Tokio to decide whet wreck the conference or recede fully in consideration of othe casions.

Comparative Tonnage Figur

Under the Stimson proposal tonnage of auxiliary categories American and Japanese navies be fixed as follows:

Big cruisers—United States, tons; Japan, 108,000 tons.

Small cruisers—United States
000 tons; Japan, 88,000 tons.

Destroyers—United States,
tons; Japan, 90,000 tons.

Submarines—United States,
tons; Japan, 40,000 tons.

The Stimson proposals theref low Japan 60 per cent of the Am tonnage in cruisers and dest the same as the capital ship r the Washington treaty, but 66 2 cent of the submarines.

Japan has now made a counte posal to the American delegati alternative form, varying accord whether America is to have its ven big cruisers, as stipulated Anglo-American agreement, or cises its option to come down level of the fifteen Great Britai be allowed.

Japan's Counter Proposal.

What has happened in effect
Mr. Stimson proposed a slide cruiser arrangement between Britain and America. Japan right back with a proposal for rule cruiser arrangement be America and Japan. The Ja now have 108,400 tons of eight gun cruisers.

According to terms of their c proposal, they are content to higher than that, if we agree t ourselves to 150,000 tons, an e lent to fifteen 10,000 tonners. I event they would want 105,000 t small cruisers, compared to ou
900 tons. The Japanese now
84,000 tons of small cruisers.

If, however, America is to eighteen big cruisers aggre 180,000 tons, the Japanese say must have 126,000 tons of this of ships, which is about 18,000 more than they have today in big cruisers built, with four bein structed.

After 70 Per Cent Cruiser Ra

The additional tonnage of big ers Japan wants on the basis of ica having eighteen is equival two more cruisers. That woul
Japan fourteen, compared to ica's eighteen and Great Britai teen. Compared to 60 per cent capital ship tonnage Japan ac at the Washington conferen would have 70 per cent of Am big cruiser tonnage and 84 per c Great Britain's. The present Ja big cruiser tonnage is 72 per c the British.

In destroyers Japan is 180,000 tons, or 70 per cent
American quota, and in subma wants a parity instead of th thirds ratio which Mr. Stimso poses to allow it.
